MANDELBAUM FAMILY DINING PAVILION

Thanks to the generosity of Karen and David Mandelbaum '57 P87 P89 P98 G23, the Mandelbaum Family Dining Pavilion at the Center for Jewish Life opened to much fanfare in March 2025.

The redesigned dining facility includes new meat and dairy kitchens and expanded serving areas to enhance the kosher dining experience for all Princeton students. It serves as a gathering place for the entire student body while providing kosher dining options that nourish Princeton's Jewish community. The new dining pavilion also facilitates cultural programs, such as Shabbat dinners, Passover Seders and other events.

On March 31st, alumni, friends and members of the University community gathered to celebrate the dedication of the Mandelbaum Family Dining Pavilion and this transformational gift from David and Karen Mandelbaum to Jewish life at Princeton.

CJL Vision & Mission Defining Our Path to Success Together

In the service of the Jewish community and of humanity.

OUR VISION

We envision a generation of Princetonians who carry Jewish purpose, resilience, and responsibility into the world.

OUR MISSION

At the CJL, we guide students to grow through meaningful connection, inspirational experiences, Jewish learning, and a commitment to service.

A MESSAGE FROM OUR LEADERSHIP

As we reflect on this extraordinary year at the Center for Jewish Life (CJL), we are filled with deep gratitude and pride. Despite the challenges brought on by the war in Israel and its ripple effects on campus, our students showed remarkable resilience, courage, and Jewish joy. Their strength and purpose continue to inspire us every day.

A major highlight was the completion and dedication of the Mandelbaum Dining Pavilion, a beautiful new addition to our building that has transformed kosher dining at Princeton into a truly elevated experience. This space now serves as a daily gathering place for students to share meals, conversation, and community. We are deeply grateful to the Mandelbaum Family for their generosity in making this dream a reality.

In the same spirit of warmth and welcome, we opened the CJL Café, offering free espresso drinks, baked goods, and healthy snacks. It quickly became a beloved campus hub—a space that radiates warmth and belonging and deepens the sense of home our students feel at CJL.

Throughout the year, CJL remained a community of vibrancy and joy. Weekly Shabbat dinners and holiday celebrations filled our building with singing, laughter, and connection. Affinity groups, learning circles, and social events attracted students from every corner of Jewish life, creating a rich and inclusive tapestry of belonging.

We were proud to resume international travel and immersive learning experiences, a cornerstone of CJL's mission. Nineteen students attended the Shalom Hartman Institute in Israel, the largest delegation from any U.S. campus, engaging deeply with the moral and spiritual questions facing Israel and world Jewry. Our Spring Leadership Trip to Peru offered students a chance to explore Jewish life in a different cultural context, inspiring them to reflect on what it means to lead and to serve in diverse global contexts.

Our students embraced their Jewish lives and identities with pride, compassion, and creativity. Among the most exciting developments was the formation of the Princeton Israel Community (PIC), a new student group for Israeli undergraduate and graduate students to celebrate their heritage and contributions to campus life. PIC joins three existing Israel-focused groups, each representing diverse political perspectives—reflecting CJL's commitment to pluralism and respectful dialogue.

We engaged more than 90% of Princeton's Jewish undergraduate students, and our Bayit program served over 50 graduate students through monthly Shabbat dinners and educational gatherings, further strengthening our community.

We were also proud to continue our support of the Association of Jewish Princeton Alumni (AJPA), which is engaging Jewish Princetonians at events held on campus and across the country.

In a year marked by global complexity, CJL remained a source of safety and belonging. We worked closely with Princeton's administration through the Jewish Experience Working Group, ensuring that Jewish students' voices are heard and their needs addressed. Most students report feeling safe and supported on campus.

A key achievement of the year was the completion and adoption of CJL's Strategic Plan, a bold vision for the next chapter of Jewish life at Princeton. Built around four pillars—Belonging, Learning, Inspiration, and Service, this plan challenges us to measure success not just in numbers, but in the depth of impact on our students' growth as Jewish leaders. It also asks us to consider this essential question: how do we prepare our students to go out into the world to lead, to take the present and future of the Jewish people into their hands, and to serve humanity with courage and wisdom?

As we look ahead, we do so with deep gratitude, for our students, whose courage and passion inspire us daily; for our University partners, whose care and collaboration sustain us; and for our alumni, parents, and friends, whose generosity makes all of this possible. Together, we are shaping a Jewish future defined by resilience, purpose, and hope.

Identity thr

CJL creates an inclusive, vibrant, and pluralistic Jewish community where every student feels at home.

"Shabbat at CJL has become my weekly anchor. It's a chance to unwind, connect with friends, and find community in the midst of a busy college life.

It's more than just a meal - it's a supportive network that helps me feel at home at Princeton."

Kian '28

Shabbat and Holidays: Festive Shabbat dinners attracted 150+ students weekly. Joyous and meaningful holiday celebrations - highlighted by our High Holiday and Passover observances - filled the CJL with song, prayer, meals, and creative programming.

Peer Engagement: Twenty-three Engagement Interns built relationships one-on-one with students over boba, coffee and conversations, reaching students beyond formal programs.

Hospitality: The opening of the CJL Café and addition of new furnishings throughout the lobby area created new warm, functional, and inviting spaces.

Affinity Groups: Our vibrant affinity spaces including JSAC (Jewish Student-Athlete Collective), MEJA (Middle Eastern and Mediterranean Jewish Alliance), J-Lats and J-Asians held culture-aligned Shabbat dinners, educational and social programs open to all students.

Social Bonding: Weekly, student-planned study breaks, fun welcome back programs, and creative events helped new students connect and returning students stay engaged with CJL.

SERVICE

עשייה Asiyah

Working for a Better World

We empower students to embody Jewish values through action—transforming ideals into impactful service and leadership on campus and beyond.

As one of the Shabbat Chairs for the CJL Student Board, I love working with students and staff to help plan each Shabbat.

The CJL is my home away from home because of the people! The staff and students are loving, tight-knit, and welcoming. The CJL has become my chosen family at Princeton.

Gabriella '27

Student Leadership: More than 75 students held leadership positions at the CJL last year and planned over 25 programs that engaged 90% of all Jewish students on campus. An immersive leadership trip to Peru enabled students to build new bonds, explore their leadership roles at CJL and connect with Peruvian culture and history.

Support for Israel: CJL's Israel Fellow partnered with our three Israel-focused student groups – Tigers for Israel, B'Artzeinu, and JStreet U to connect students with Israel through robust, respectful engagement with diverse perspectives. Highlights included an October 7th memorial and CJL's annual Yom Hazikaron (Israel Memorial Day) and Yom Ha'atzmaut (Israel Independence Day) observances.

Hands On Impact Projects: CJL students served meals at Cornerstone Kitchen to local residents in need, baked and sold Challah through our Challah for Hunger program to support a regional food bank, and led programs focused on sustainability and the environment.

Combatting Antisemitism: Students participated in various on-campus rallies and Rabbi Gil led antisemitism awareness training sessions for university faculty and administrators.

INSPIRATION

יצירה Yetzirah

Jewish Life Guided through the Heart

We lift up Jewish experiences that emotionally transform students, envelop them with something bigger than themselves, and deepen their engagement with life's meaning.

Thanks to CJL's support and openness to students stepping up, as an Israeli freshman, I was able to start an affinity group, Princeton Israel Community (PIC).

PIC is a place at the CJL where we can celebrate being Israeli together as part of the broader Jewish community.

Uriel '28

Co-Create Project Incubator: This initiative is designed to encourage students to develop new programs focused on bridge-building within and beyond the Jewish community at Princeton. The Princeton Israel Community (PIC) affinity group was formed and led by current students through Co-Create.

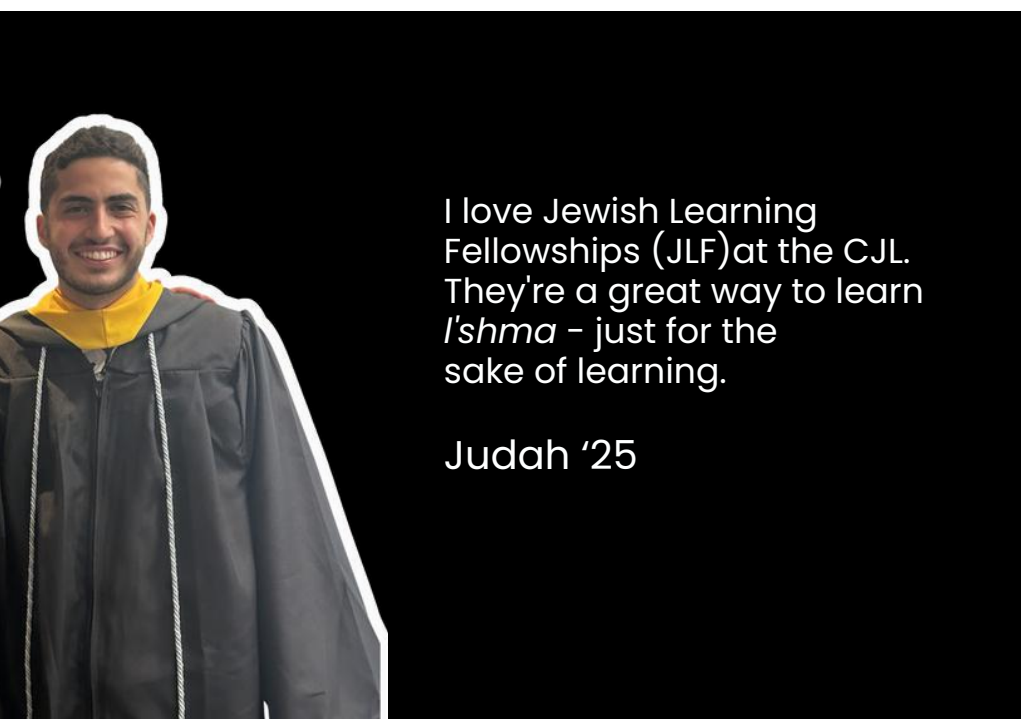

Prayer Groups (Minyanim): CJL is the proud home of three student-led prayer communities Keshet (Reform), Koach (Conservative), and Yavneh (Orthodox). Among activities these groups provided were Shabbat and daily religious services, festive holiday observances, social events throughout the year such as Friday night onegs, guest speakers, and study breaks, lunch and learn programs and peer-led Torah study.

LEARNING

בר'יה Berī'ah

Confidence through Knowledge

Students find meaning and purpose through learning and in expanding their intellectual horizons—all through a Jewish lens.

I love Jewish Learning Fellowships (JLF) at the CJL. They're a great way to learn l'shma – just for the sake of learning.

Judah '25

Jewish Learning Fellowships: Over 50 students participated in multi-week seminars exploring topics such as My Jewish Story (Jewish Identity), Beit Midrash: What Are All These Books?!, and Kol Yisrael: Ethnic Diversity in Israel.

OU-JLIC: Our Orthodox co-educators led Torah study and provided mentorship and Shabbat home hospitality for 100+ students.

Shalom Hartman Winter Seminar: Nineteen students attended the Shalom Hartman Institute Winter Break Seminar in Israel – the largest delegation of any campus – where they engaged deeply with the moral, political, and spiritual questions facing Israel and world Jewry today.

Ongoing Group and One-On-One Learning: Weekly Lunch & Learns, peer-led Thursday Night Torah group study, guest speakers, and personal, one-on-one study with CJL's rabbis and educators enabled 115+ students to deeply engage with Jewish ideas.

WITH GRATITUDE

As an independent non-profit affiliated with Hillel International, CJL's primary source of annual operating income is contributions made by alumni, parents, faculty/staff and friends. These gifts enable CJL to offer a wide array of support and vibrant programs that engage Jewish students of all backgrounds at Princeton in personally meaningful ways.

MATCHING GRANT DONORS

We extend our heartfelt gratitude for their extraordinary generosity and commitment to our mission through the establishment of matching grants for two of our fundraising campaigns. These visionary donors inspired our community to give more—and together, we exceeded our fundraising goals for both of these efforts.
