KHAO YAI NATURE-BASED ART STUDENT RESIDENCY PROGRAMME – BROCHURE

Co-organised by: Artvorn, Burgbarnburi
& KICA : Khao Yai International Contemporary Arts

Introducing our first “The En Plein Air” Art Residential Program for Thai & International art students

KHAO YAI ART STUDENT RESIDENCY & MULTIDISCIPLINARY WORKSHOPS

Set in the natural terrains of Khao Yai, our 3-day art residential programme integrates ceramic practice, graphic storytelling, drawing, critical thinking and pre-portfolio induction workshops – culminating in a finished ceramic artwork, a collaborative community, and a clearer path forward for future portfolios, applications, and personal growth.

Areas of focus include:

- Ceramics Design
- Product & Furniture Design
- Graphic Communication Design
- Architecture & Interior Design
- Fine Art

OUR SHARED MISSION

This program is an artist-led art education initiative for young creators, art students, and emerging artists. Rooted in the values of mentorship, material experimentation, and embodied learning, it empowers participants to:

- Develop cross-disciplinary portfolios (ceramics, drawing, branding)
- Gain real-time feedback from professional artists
- Expand artistic thinking through immersive art exposure (e.g., forest installations, museum visits)
- Explore ideas of site, self, and storytelling in the art-making process

We’re doing more than referencing outdoor practice
– we’re co-positioning our program as:

“An open-air classroom for artists and students to discover new forms
– in the landscape, and within themselves.”

Program length:
three days, two nights

KHAO YAI NATURE-BASED ART STUDENT RESIDENCY PROGRAMME – BROCHURE

Co-organised by: Artvorm, Burgbarnburi
& KICA : Khao Yai International Contemporary Arts

KEY LEARNING BENEFITS

- A completed ceramic work (fired & glazed) – created by students, mentored by artists – suitable for personal use or inclusion in your creative portfolio
- Mentorship & Inter-cultural exchange networking with 13 international artists, art-school graduates, art mentors and industry creatives from Thailand and abroad
- Cultural and contextual awareness through curated visits to leading Thai art museums and Khao Yai's site-specific art forest featuring globally renowned artists
- A formal certificate of completion co-signed by Artvorm Advisory, KICA, and Burgbarnburi – a valuable asset for future university or creative job applications

NATURE AS A STUDIO

● Khao Yai, with its rich biodiversity and expansive forest landscapes, becomes an extension of the studio.

● Students aren't just creating in nature – they are learning from it, integrating environment, material, and process.

MENTORSHIP OUTSIDE THE CLASSROOM

● "En plein air" becomes a metaphor for de-institutionalised, peer-driven, mentor-guided learning.

● Students learn directly from working artists in a community context, where artistic process is shared, not siloed

OBSERVATION-LED, PRACTICE-BASED LEARNING

● Like plein air painters once observed light and movement, our students are guided to observe form, texture, and time – through ceramics, drawing, and graphic design.

● It's active, embodied learning – students get their hands dirty, reflect in real time, and learn from artist-mentors in situ.

BRIDGING PORTFOLIO WITH PROCESS

● Rather than pressure final outcomes, our structure prioritises process, observation, and experimentation – all of which lead to stronger, more authentic portfolios.

● Linking back to Artvorm's mission: helping young artists and creatives shape meaningful work that reflects who they are, not just what they can do.

WHO IS THIS PROGRAM FOR?

🎓 Secondary & High school students of all levels preparing to build their first portfolio (Mathayom 3-6, YR10–13, IB: G.9-12)

Ideal for students interested in pursuing further studies in art and design—both in Thailand and internationally. Especially suited for those aiming to apply to leading art institutions such as UAL (University of the Arts London), Chulalongkorn University, Silpakorn University, and other universities in the UK and abroad.

This program welcomes students with little to no prior experience or portfolio work.

🎓 University students or recent graduates in art/design

Perfect for those seeking to refine their creative direction, develop material and conceptual depth, and prepare a contextually rich portfolio—whether for further study or entry into creative industries.

🎨 Emerging artists or multidisciplinary creatives

Looking to expand into new mediums (ceramics, graphic branding, site-specific thinking) and connect your practice to nature, context, and contemporary culture.

👨👩👧👦 Parents or guardians

You're welcome to accompany your child during the accommodation period at no extra lodging cost. (Please note: meals, transport, and museum entry are not included for non-participant guests.)

Co-organised by: Artvorn, Burgbarnburi
& KICA : Khao Yai International Contemporary Arts

WHY IT'S DIFFERENT?

💡 A truly immersive experience – 3 intensive days of hands-on learning across three core disciplines: ceramic design, fine-art, and basic graphic communication, all rooted in nature and self-discovery.

💡 Beyond the studio – Learn in an “artist-led, plein-air” setting where nature becomes your classroom, and the artwork is shaped by your senses, intuition, and interaction with the natural world. All grounded in observational and conversational exercises, self-reflection, and hands-on material explorations.

💡 Mentorship that matters – Be guided by a diverse group of international artists and creative leaders:

- Thanarat Asvasirayothin: Art university portfolio lead mentor, founder of Artvorn Advisory, and UAL alumna
- Naidee Changmoh: Artist & Ceramicist based in Thailand
- Thirasak Tanapatanakul: Founder of Burgbarnburi, Multimedia artist and former leading creative advertising professional based in Thailand

💡 From concept to creation – Gain hands-on ceramic design practice: create a finished, fire-glazed ceramic piece, a set of sketches and creative reflections, and new tools for articulating their own artistic vision.

💡 Cultural fluency through art – Gain contextual awareness of both Thai and global contemporary art through curated visits to major Khao Yai’s art museums and public spaces: 129 Art Museum, Khao Yai Art Museum and Khao Yai Art Forest – featuring site-specific works by Louise Bourgeois, Richard Long, Araya Rasdjarmrearnsook, and more.

💡 Grow your creative circle – Collaborate, connect, and reflect alongside 13 international artists, and experienced mentors and program organisers who share the same passion for making art with purpose.
