Impact report of Moonshot Platform

Young Leaders with Yemi at Moonshoot Camp 2023

DEAR MOONSHOTTERS

Fasten your seatbelts because the Moonshot Platform is taking off at an incredible pace! We are laser-focused on accelerating the next generation of change-makers, and we're thrilled to have you on board for this exhilarating journey.

Our sights are set on the most pressing issues in the world today that demand our urgent attention: climate change & sustainability, social justice & equity, education, health, and humanitarian efforts. These are the battlegrounds where our network of 6000 new generation of change-makers across 88 countries are making a significant impact.

Our vision is clear: Empower young social innovators and founders to shape the future they will inherit. We believe that connecting the next generation of changemakers with senior business and NGO leadership is the best way to build solutions for a better future. We are committed to inspire 1 million young leaders in the next 2 years and continue to provide the best of them with the financial resources, mentoring and bringing attention to their missions.

With the Moonshot Awards being our solution crowdsourcing mechanism, and the Moonshot Camp as our holistic leadership accelerator, we have found and helped grow, Luke from the UK and his seaweed cultivation system that reduces methane emissions, Nasreen from Nepal with the Empowerment Collective helping women escape modern-day slavery, or Matyas from the Czech Republic, scaling his open source video sign language translator, and many, many more.

We are incredibly proud of our inaugural cohort of Moonshotters whose impact is reaching across four continents including addressing the aftermath of the ongoing Russian war, or the mental health struggles from the displacement of refugees in Africa. For me personally, one of the biggest highlights was to see how young people inside of our community started to help each other with their missions, combining and transferring solutions, and most importantly rooting for each other in often uneasy situations. That itself, is the evidence of a healthy community and gives me so much hope for the future.

I would like to express our heartfelt gratitude for your support of our platform in its evolution. Please take your time to explore the following pages both with your mind and your heart and if you feel that our cause aligns with yours, let us know and come on board for the next season of Moonshot magic around the world.

Warm Regards

Yemi AD.

MEET THE WINNERS

Moonshot Grand Prix Winner

	Nasreen Sheikh Empowerment Collective	 Nepal
	Nasreen Sheikh is an international speaker and advocate for global human rights and founder of Empowerment Collective. Born in an undocumented village in India, Narseen is a survivor of modern-day slavery. Through sheer determination and a teacher who rescued her from the streets, she became educated and developed entrepreneurial abilities. Empowerment Collective's goal is to end modern-day slavery in India and Nepal by advocating their 7 Keys for Global Human Rights Campaign and through empowering women with the skills and knowledge they need to pull themselves and their families out of poverty.

Moonshot Idea Award

	Matyáš Boháček SPOTER	 Czech Republic
	Matyáš is an 18-year-old high school student from the Czech Republic who created SPOTER, an AI system for sign language recognition and translation, whose code and models will be open-sourced for the world to use. In short, imagine Google Translate, but instead of a field for text, there is a camera for recording sign language. SPOTER seeks to remove barriers to accessibility for the millions of people worldwide who have hearing concerned disabilities by providing a toolkit that users can plug into their systems to reflect sign language as an input.

Moonshot Start-up Award

	Luke Smith Seaweed Culture	 United Kingdom
	Luke Smith is the Founder & CEO of Seaweed Culture, a climate-tech business focused on reducing methane emissions in livestock using seaweed. Seaweed Culture has developed a seaweed supplement that when added to cows' diets results in a dramatic reduction of methane emission. While the majority of seaweed is cultivated offshore, Luke and his small but mighty team are currently developing a novel prototype to grow seaweed at scale using a land-based approach. When at full scale, this method will be able to cultivate enough seaweed for up to 200,000 cows per acre!

MOONSHOT ORIGINAL RESEARCH

Moonshot Platform conducts regular research and collaborates with research partners such as Harris X, McKinsey & Company, and The Aspen Institute because we firmly believe in the relevance of research to our work in supporting young leaders. It enables us to gain valuable insights, develop evidence-based strategies, and provide effective guidance and resources.

Most recently we explored the perceptual gap on mental health among US students and parents. We fielded a unique poll in partnership with HarrisX Research among 1,119 respondents representative of the American general population of youth 13+ and parents. Our research was fielded November 2022 and was presented at the Moonshot Awards.

of Americans are more concerned about what is happening in the world than in the past years.
