Get to know Corey ...

This month, we're proud to shine the spotlight on Corey Eaton, one of our dedicated AV Senior Technicians. Born in Glendale, California, Corey's path to Sonoma County began with a love story—meeting his wife through a mutual friend, eventually choosing Santa Rosa as the place to build their life together. His AV journey started with data installs before ultimately joining PCD during the height of the pandemic, where he continues to grow, learn, and contribute every day.

HIS PASSIONS

Corey brings a quiet but unwavering passion to everything he does. While his career took a very different direction from his childhood dream of becoming a police officer, he found a calling in technology—one driven by curiosity, hands-on learning, and the satisfaction of becoming someone people can rely on. His interests extend beyond the job, too. Corey enjoys woodworking, photography, and getting outdoors for hiking and camping when life allows. And beneath his dry, understated humor is a passionate dog lover who would happily fill his home with as many pups as space would allow.

OUTSIDE THE OFFICE

Away from the job, Corey's world revolves around family. Most of his free time is spent at home creating moments that matter. When he does carve out time for himself, you might find him exploring a trail, capturing a moment behind a camera lens, or admiring classic cars—especially his favorite, the iconic 1969 Corvette Stingray. His movie tastes span from light-hearted fun like Wild Hogs to high-intensity action like the John Wick series, and when it comes to music, Country Boy by Aaron Lewis is always a go-to.

>>> MY MOTIVATION

Corey's motivation stems from a simple, powerful mindset: be dependable and always keep learning. He takes pride in being someone his team can trust—handling tasks promptly, seeking out new knowledge when needed, and striving to be the best in his craft. A self-proclaimed morning person “by default,” Corey starts his days early and with intention, driven by the belief that there's always something new to master and always someone counting on him.
