CILADEE

Ciladee is a Togolese-American singer-songwriter, musician, and creative artist from Chicago, Illinois. Singing as early as five years old in the children's church choir, Ciladee was raised in an environment where music was used to move the heart and has always been inspired by a deep love for storytelling. Though having found joy through many mediums including dance, acting, and spoken word, she's found her greatest joy and her voice through song and using lyrics to transport listeners to a place they can feel through her words. She has always been captivated by the power music has to connect and heal and that early spark has carried her throughout her career.

With over 11 years of experience creating music, Ciladee is inspired by the music created in her community, the music that moves her mind and body everyday, as well as her global travels and heritage. Her music explores themes of introspection, growth, passion, love, change, and strength. Ciladee's creative process is driven by the idea that any moment holds inspiration and when we're open, the music can take a life of its own. Her sound spans genres, with tracks that are pure R&B or alternative R&B, to songs that blend the lines between afrobeats and rock or drum bass and hip hop.

She is motivated by the belief that creativity is boundless and is constantly evolving and pushing her own boundaries with every new project. In her leisure, you can find her creating music with other musicians, producers, and creatives, opportunities where she can blend her love for storytelling with her love for community and creating with community. Her journey in music is as much about enjoying the music as it is about enjoying the process. Ciladee shares, "I make music because it genuinely brings me joy. I love when I'm with a loved one and a joke between us is turned into a beat. I love when someone approaches me after a performance and says one of my songs mirrors an experience they've had. Or when I'm in the studio with a friend and they suggest adding a bell to a track that completely elevates the song. We as humans, can't help but to be moved by music. And when I get to turn lyrics into songs that I can then share with people I love, and get to experience how my art moves them, it's then that I truly feel the most fulfilled."

MONIQUE THE SINGER

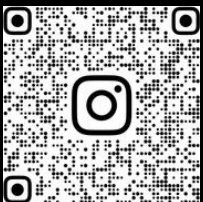

Monique the Singer is an R&B, R&B pop, soul, and inspirational artist whose music embodies raw emotion, love, and real-life experiences. Their timeless artistry shaped her sound, fueling her passion for storytelling through music.

Her creative process is sparked by two things: the energy of an amazing beat and real-life experiences—both good and bad—that give her the fuel to write.

Whether it's love, heartbreak, or personal growth, these moments become the foundation of her songs. You can listen to MoniQue music like "Sounds of Love " and "Buses" on All Music Platforms and also be sure to check out her Official Website at www.moniquethesinger.com.

AJ GRAYCE

Graced with a love for music since conception, AJ Grayce aspires to inspire all who cross her path with her lyrical and harmonious creativity. With vocal tones comparable to JHud, Anita Baker and Toni Braxton, her lyrical format and cadence place her in a singular class comprised of R&B/Soul, Jazz, Hip Hop and Inspiration. Some of her accomplishments include opening for Syleena Johnson, a Kelly Clarkson Show appearance and co-founding her band, SOULTRIBE. She dreams in rhythm and melody and then arises to transcribe those melodies to relatable words that form songs about healing and simply being. She is a singer, songwriter, and overall creative on the rise with a mission to spread fearlessness!

I've only been taking music seriously since 2020.

I'm from Chicago, IL. Bringing any creation I started to life makes me feel as close as I can be to the highest version of myself there is to offer... like I'm doing what God created me to do.

CREATRESS LAÏK

Originally from Chicago and raised in the suburbs until 16, Laïk moved to the Atlanta area, carrying a lifelong passion for music. She has been singing and writing since childhood, but her dreams were stifled early on by her grandmother, who raised her with a traditional 9-to-5 mindset. Though well-intended, her skepticism planted seeds of doubt — ones Laïk would later uproot through her own artistic rebellion.

Her journey back to music was reignited a few years ago when her partner, a musician, encouraged her to step onto a track. From 2017 to 2023, she found solace in freestyling alone in her car after work, but the moment she recorded her first song, she knew music was more than just a hobby—it was a calling. Even as her grandmother still dismisses her sound as “racket,” Laïk thrives on proving doubters wrong. She is a natural-born challenger, embracing the very things others say she “can’t” or “shouldn’t” do.

Before music, Laïk explored modeling, but she found that music provided a deeper creative expression. Channeling lyrics and melodies feels spiritual, sending chills through her as if she is merely a vessel for something greater. Music allows her to transcend life’s hardships, offering a fresh perspective and a renewed sense of purpose. Her guiding affirmation, “live a life you love,” is woven into everything she creates. This is what inspired her artist name, CreaTress Laïk — a title that embodies her identity as the female version of a creator, someone who brings art, love, and light into the world purely from passion.

Unlike other paths she has walked — modeling, studying to become a therapist, nannying, or even settling for a 9-to-5 — music is the one thing she has never wanted to walk away from. Facing rejection in the modeling industry taught her resilience, and while motivation may sometimes fade, she always find her way back. Creating music isn’t just a talent; it’s a calling she answers without hesitation. She does it for her self and for all the creatives, young kids, and even adults whose dreams were once stifled by naysayers. No matter how many “no’s” she hears, Laïk stands firm in her belief: her music matters, her voice matters, and this is only the beginning of her story.

BARRY JEAN

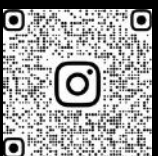

FONTENOT

-NBC THE VOICE

Barry Jean Fontenot is a Louisiana-born, Ozark-raised, Chicago-based Alternative R&B/Americana singer-songwriter whose gritty, soulful voice brings to mind legends like Sam Cooke and Al Green, and whose lyrics and compositions incorporate influences both ancient and eclectic, while ultimately remaining emotionally and lyrically grounded in the realities of the present.

What inspires me creatively is often different from what inspires me motivationally; I think I gravitate towards heavier subject matter thematically, but it's easy to get burned out if you stay in that register for too long. That said, I usually try to write the bulk of a given song in one sitting, if only because I anticipate how hard it's going to be to bring myself back to the subject in the future. Better to finish the song while it's on my mind.

Drawing inspiration from The Diplomats, 2Gs channels a similar bold energy while infusing his own fresh perspective into the hip-hop scene. In the studio, he embraces a creative process that revolves around the beat, allowing the instrumental to dictate the subject matter. I began writing rhymes after losing my scholarship, but it wasn't until the passing of my brother that I truly committed to pursuing a music career.

For me, rapping is not the ultimate dream; it is a stepping stone toward my greater purpose. I discovered my calling when I realized the power and impact of my words.
