PROJECT IMHOTEP

Brooklyn's Black Maternal Health Resource Directory

PREPARED BY NEIGHBORHOOD TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE CLINIC

POWERED BY BROOKLYN COMMUNITIES COLLABORATIVE

At Neighborhood Technical Assistance Clinic (NTAC), we believe in the power of community. For over 30 years, we've worked to strengthen Brooklyn's grassroots organizations, especially those led by women and people of color, by bridging philanthropy with on-the-ground efforts. Our work centers on building capacity, fostering partnerships, and amplifying the voices of communities that have long been underrepresented.

Project Imhotep was born out of this commitment—a holistic, community-rooted initiative designed to address the Black maternal health crisis in Brooklyn. Named after Imhotep, the ancient Egyptian physician and healer, this project blends science, spirituality, and community wisdom. It shines a light on maternal health disparities, builds supportive networks for Black mothers throughout pregnancy and beyond, and leverages the trusted presence of Black churches and community hubs as safe spaces for education and empowerment.

This directory is a direct reflection of that mission. It exists to ensure that Black mothers in Brooklyn have access to compassionate, culturally competent, and comprehensive care at every stage of their maternal journey. From prenatal visits to postpartum support, from financial assistance to mental health care, the resources collected here represent a village of organizations ready to serve, uplift, and protect.

We extend our deepest gratitude to Brooklyn Communities Collaborative (BCC) for their visionary leadership and for entrusting us with this work. As part of BCC's Strong Communities Fund, we have joined a powerful cohort of grantees equally committed to advancing health equity across Brooklyn. BCC's participatory approach to grantmaking has created space for community voices to drive meaningful solutions—and this directory is one of them.

Together, we are building a safer Brooklyn for birth. With this resource in your hands, we hope every mother, family, and care provider feels supported, informed, and empowered.

This is more than a directory. It's a Brooklyn blueprint for thriving.

PROJECT IMHOTEP

Brooklyn's Black Maternal Health Resource Directory

A Love Letter : To Black Mothers, and the Village That Holds Us

In Brooklyn—our Brooklyn—Black mothers are the heartbeat. But too often, our hearts have been broken by systems that weren't built with us in mind. Project Imhotep is about rewriting that story.

It's about weaving together every thread of support we deserve into a safety net so tight, so strong, that no mother ever has to navigate her journey alone.

Each category in this directory is not just a service—it's a sacred part of our holistic wellness.

Together, they honor the fullness of who we are: mind, body, spirit, and community.

With Love,

Dr. Valerie Oliver Durrah
Founder, President & CEO
Neighborhood Technical Services Clinic

WHY IT MATTERS

This directory is a full list of Black maternal health resources across Brooklyn—each one committed to the collective vision of ensuring Black mothers not only survive but thrive. Together, these organizations form a village of care that provides resources, advocacy, and support designed to address and eradicate the stark disparities in maternal health outcomes for Black women and birthing people.

From prenatal and postpartum care to housing assistance, nutrition, and mental health support, this comprehensive guide reflects a shared mission: to protect, uplift, and heal Black mothers in Brooklyn.

Black birthing people in Brooklyn face alarming maternal health disparities:

Systemic barriers like provider bias, language access gaps, transportation issues, and food insecurity exacerbate these [maternal mortality, health problems after birth] outcomes.

Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. Working together to reduce Black maternal mortality. CDC – Women’s Health. April 8, 2024. <https://www.cdc.gov/womens-health/features/maternal-mortality.html>

Over 80% of maternal deaths are preventable, underscoring an urgent need for culturally competent, coordinated, community-led solutions

Telehealth to Address Preventable Maternal Deaths: A Call to Action. National Library of Medicine Database, 2024. <https://pmc.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/articles/PMC12668964/>

More than 1 in 5 Black mothers hospitalized for childbirth reported experiencing poor treatment based on their race, ethnicity, cultural background, or language.

BUILDING A SAFER BKLYN FOR BIRTH

Project Imhotep works together to provide comprehensive, culturally responsive, and community-based support for women's health across the entire maternal health continuum—from preconception and pregnancy through postpartum care.

1. Preconception & Inter-Conception (“Women’s Health”)

The collaborative services and organizations help women prepare for healthy pregnancies and address ongoing health needs between pregnancies by:

- Medical Services – Offering contraception, gynecologic care, STD screening, prenatal medications, and doula services.
- Community Advocacy & Education – Raising maternal health awareness through culturally tailored workshops, campaigns, and outreach in trusted spaces such as barbershops, faith communities, and community events.
- Nutrition & Wellness – Providing nutrition education, wellness classes, smoking cessation counseling, and healthy food access.
- Financial & Emergency Assistance – Helping with insurance enrollment, connecting to emergency resources, and distributing essential supplies like diapers, clothing, and strollers.
- Maternal Mental Health & Emotional Support – Offering pre- and post-pregnancy counseling, group support, and partnerships with mental health providers.

2. Pregnancy / Prenatal

Through this project, we ensure women have access to high-quality, wraparound prenatal care by:

- Prenatal Medical Care – Connecting patients to midwives, OB/GYNs, doulas, and community clinics for screenings, medications, and maternal health education.
- Maternal Mental Health Support – Screening for anxiety and depression, hosting prenatal groups, and offering therapy or coaching.
- Nutrition & Wellness – Distributing healthy food, hosting baby showers, and offering food assistance.
- Advocacy & Navigation – Leading community health roundtables, educating families about birth rights, and organizing around systemic issues like Medicaid policy.

3. Postpartum / Postnatal

This project we also provide holistic postpartum support to promote maternal recovery and infant well-being by:

- Postpartum & Infant Care – Offering doula services, home visits, postpartum depression screening, safe sleep education, and early parenting programs.
- Emotional Support – Providing counseling, peer groups, and check-ins to address maternal mental health.
- Parenting & Life Skills – Delivering workshops on parenting, anger management, and bonding with infants/toddlers.
- Nutrition & Wellness – Providing food pantries, healthy cooking classes, and fitness programs for new mothers.
- Financial & Emergency Aid – Distributing diapers, baby gear, clothing, and connecting families to essential services.
- Career Development – Creating pathways for young parents to train and work as doulas.

In essence:

This collective builds a seamless network of medical, emotional, educational, nutritional, and financial resources that addresses both the immediate needs of mothers and families and the structural barriers contributing to maternal health disparities—especially in communities of color. They combine direct services with advocacy to improve outcomes before, during, and after pregnancy.

CATEGORIES OF SERVICES

The Project Imhotep Directory ensures that women navigating the challenges of motherhood have access to essential services that address their physical, emotional, financial, and spiritual well-being. By bringing together these trusted organizations, we create a holistic resource that supports women throughout every stage of their maternal journey.

Cultural Competency & Health Equity

Care that sees us, hears us, and honors us.

Healing begins when the system understands us. This isn't just "nice to have." It's life-saving. Providers who understand our culture, speak our language, and respect our traditions are key to closing the gap in maternal health disparities. These programs push for systems change and train professionals to treat us with the dignity we deserve.

Parenting & Life Skills Development

It takes a village to raise a child.

It takes a village, and this is where we find it. Parenting classes, life skills coaching, and mentorship programs equip us not just to survive, but to lead our families with confidence and care. It's guidance for the first steps, and the space to grow into the mothers we want to be.
