

Do Monsters Sleep?

Yes, monsters do sleep! Just like humans, monsters need rest to recharge their energy.

Some sleep during the day, while others prefer to sleep at night. Just like animals, they have biological clocks that help them know when it's time to snooze.

So, if you ever come across a monster napping, remember to tiptoe quietly around them so that they can get the sleep they need for another day!