Sunday Life's Summer 2024 collection was born from the inspiration the designer had during her recent trip to Greece. This trip proved to be a total immersion in Greek culture and the philosophy of life that accompanies it. The influences shine through in every piece, in every detail, and in the patterns, creating a collection that celebrates the opposition between realism and perfection, while embodying romantic elegance and unwavering strength.

Greece, the cradle of Western civilization, left an indelible mark on the designer. She was deeply impacted by the juxtaposition of the raw force of the volcanoes and the delicate enduring beauty of the anthemis flowers that manage to grow in this arid terrain. This fascinating duality is reflected in every aspect of the Summer 2024 collection.

The main pattern of the collection is undoubtedly this anthemis flower, which almost resembles a daisy. A resilient flower that grows against all odds, on rocky lands, as a symbol of life triumphing over adversity. Creating a visual harmony that evokes perfection while recalling the force of nature. This duality is also embodied in the clean and minimalist cuts of the pieces, where the apparent simplicity hides the complexity of the know-how. A know-how which is discovered in the mastery of the bias cut which embellishes the silhouette, we also find a blazer which offers an opening in the back revealing a delicate pattern.

The colors of the Summer 2024 collection oscillate between the realism of neutral colors and the perfection of Mediterranean azure, white and light blue recall the serenity of Greek waters. Touches of pink bring a touch of romanticism to the whole, symbolizing softness and femininity.

Each piece in this collection embodies the very essence of the Greek philosophy of life, where the pursuit of excellence and the quest for beauty are accompanied by an acceptance of the realism of life. Sunday Life Summer 2024 celebrates the inner strength that drives us to persevere, even when challenges are as daunting as volcanoes. It is a collection that inspires us to embrace the duality of life, to find perfection in imperfection, and to live with grace and determination. The collection celebrates the beauty of the human soul, as resilient and beautiful as the anthemis flower growing on volcanoes.

The influences shine through in every piece, in every detail, and in the patterns, creating a collection that celebrates the opposition between realism and perfection, while embodying romantic elegance and unwavering strength.
