Welcome

to our SIP catalog!

Where you can take a taste of a bit of everything at Summers Island Press this year. We have a great collection of stories and activities for ages five to young adult, with a lot more on the way. From read aloud books to activities kids can do by themselves or with friends, we try to make sure there's always something for everybody.

We are a family friendly safe place and our promise to you is that you will find nothing ugly here. In fact, we guarantee it is a place your grandmother would not be afraid to come to.

Something that means a lot these days.

Everything in this catalog is offered at "publisher's discount price" and lower than anywhere else. In fact, if you find a lower price we will match it, so let us know. In the meantime, enjoy your visit. Whether to buy or browse, we're very glad you stopped by!

About Us: Lilly and the Captain are administrators of Summers Island Press, and Lightsmith Publishers, a division of the Wilderness School Institute, a nonprofit educational organization that "takes learning back to nature."

Captain Barnaby's HELICOPTER SCHOOL FOR BEARS is an exciting new middle grade series about some technology gone haywire and dog with a brain that is out of this world...almost.

What People Are Saying...

"With a satisfying story, clever plotting, and a heartwarming ending, this book will appeal to a lot of young people."

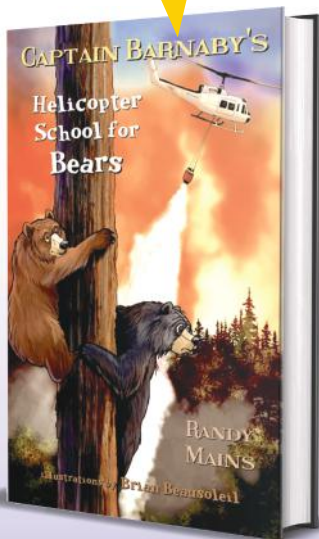

~Byron Edgington, author of PostFlight: An Old Pilot's Logbook.

"This book makes me wish my boys were small, again, they would have loved this!"

~Annilee Armstrong, columnist at Seaside Magazine

"Randy Mains has managed to cleverly draw on his expertise and passion for helicopters to help cultivate the minds of our future aviators, humanitarians and scientists..."

What People Are Saying

"Beautiful and playful, Mamatee and Me Save the Sea, is an endearing story which helps children understand the impact plastic pollution has on our oceans! Beyond the adorable story, this book provides age-appropriate actionable steps for children to help solve the problem of plastic pollution and save our planet!"

Chance and Sarah Katherine Ruder, Founders of Last Chance Endeavors: an environmental education nonprofit

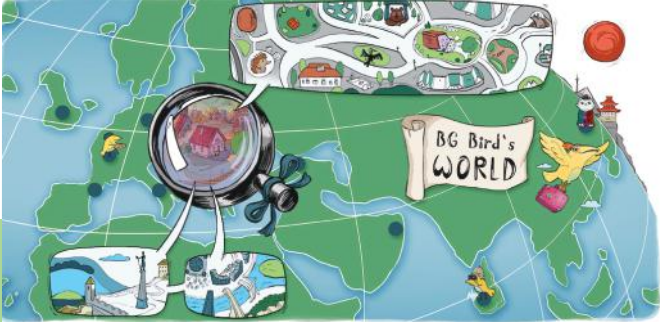

"Playful, informed, and inspired can't even sum up the feelings I experienced while reading this book. Through rhymes and storytelling, C.Chelle has masterfully crafted a book demonstrating human environmental impact. The science facts and pictures included in the book sum up what readers and Mamatee have in common: family."

Introducing...

Little Treasures

Agnes 5-8

A new line of activity books that promote imagination into reality and the amazing things you can do—and become—from what's at hand. Let your child's imagination create something out of the world around them and they will be amazed!

Everything that was ever made, discovered, or invented, started out as somebody's pretend.

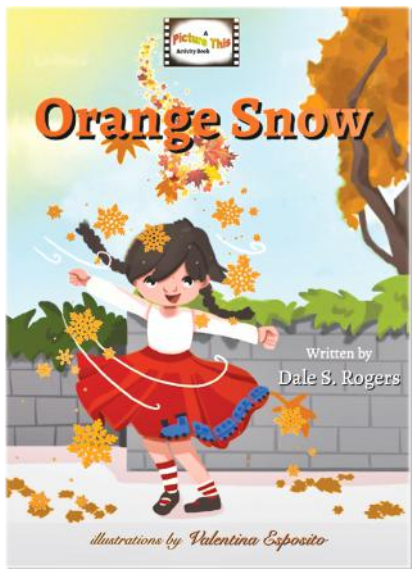

Lucy likes to imagine things.

That's what she was doing, one windy autumn day, waiting for Mom to pick her up from school. She imagined how wonderful it would be if snow was... orange!

And how fun it would be to play in. Just for pretend. But do you ever wish pretend could be real?

What People Are Saying

"It tells the story of a creative second grader named Lucy and how her mom brought her 'what if orange leaves were snowflakes?' daydream to life." Rhonda Moore

"Delightful! What a great book for children and adults to share!" Jere Coker

"...This moving and charming story reveals that the only thing better than playing pretend, is pretending with someone else! A bonus for readers are instructions on how to recreate the fun activities at home. I highly recommend this book..." Karen Rock, author

"What shall we then say to these things? If God be for us, who can be against us?"

Romans 8:31

Glory B!

1000 Miles of Mishaps and Miracles

It started out as a summer vacation and turned into the adventure of a lifetime. At the age of seventy, when it looked like life was over, Dave Graham put everything he owned in storage and went in search of a dream he thought was no longer within reach. But what if it wasn't? Here is how a couple of seniors managed to climb out of retirement, buy the boat of their dreams, and take it up through the Inside Passage—past thousands of islands—without modern navigational aids. All the way .to Alaska.

Something about the place had called out to him. And from the day he stepped off the train... nothing was ordinary.

THE RISING

An American story.

Available Now.

It was not a place one could visit without an invitation.

It wasn't what Harlan Fleming had planned. Yet, when he heard there would be no school if a teacher couldn't be found for this year, something about the place called out to him. It wasn't just the fact that his only living relative had ventured into those same hills and never come out, again. Or that there were things which needed to be said between them that would take a long time to explain. Those were ordinary things.

What the young teacher felt on the day he stepped off the train, in Cedarville, was not ordinary. The others were there that day, too, reaching into his heart-uninvited-the same way he was reaching out to them. As if all the forces of life were suddenly converging into that single place and time. As if something significant-and highly important-were about to happen.

As if it actually would.

"The charm of West Africa...calling you...nearer to you than the voices of the people round, nearer than the roar of the city traffic...is the cry of parrots passing over the mangrove swamps in the evening time; or the sweet, long, mellow whistle of the plantain warblers calling up the dawn. Everything that is round you grows poor and thin in the face of the vision, and you want to go back, saying, as the African says to the departing soul of his dying friend, "Come back, come back, this is your home."
