A MESSAGE TO OUR COMMUNITY

As we come together to celebrate another year of collective impact, I'm reminded of how meaningful change often starts with simple acts.

Just like a pebble's drop creates ripples in water, your actions, no matter how small, have impacted our community. Every act of kindness, every humble contribution, and every partnership formed has a ripple effect that resonates far beyond its origin. This enduring ripple reveals the lasting influence of our actions; how they reflect our contributions, shape our surroundings, and sway our future.

The ripples we create today inspire and uplift the next generation of students, dedicated volunteers, and community leaders, who in turn will continue to uplift our community. Each ring of impact does not fade away but rather pushes the next one onward. This is the spirit that defines and develops our vibrant community, a spirit we carry forward.

As you move forward, consider how your contributions are reflected in our collective landscape. Everyone makes a difference in their own way. The important question is: Are you making the impact that you desire?

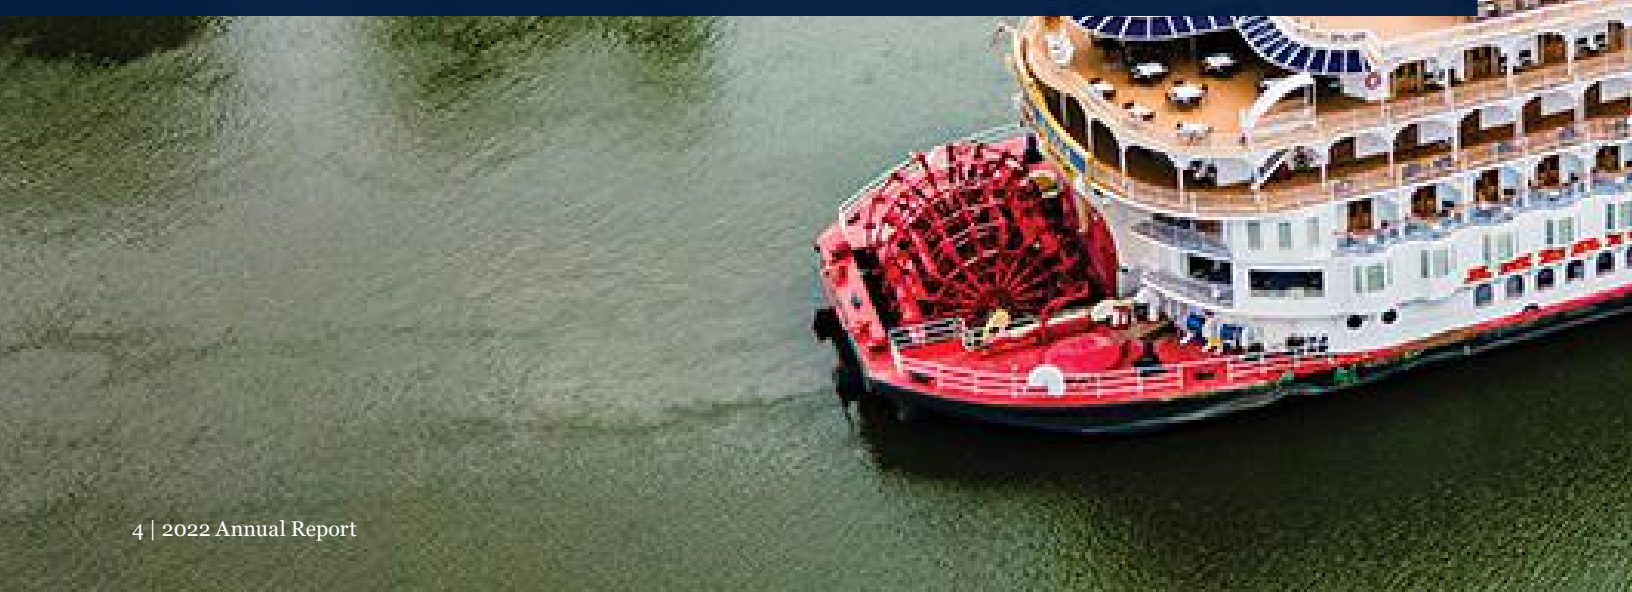

The stories you'll find here are a well of inspiration, inviting you to tap into your potential and guide your ripples toward truly meaningful impact.

We are grateful for the driving forces behind the impactful journey we celebrate — our many donors, fundholders, and partners. Your generous contributions and dedication have enriched our community for good, forever. Thank you.

With gratitude,

Heather Allender
President & CEO

MARIETTA

A SOURCE OF SOLUTIONS

How We Turn Your Good Intentions into Great Accomplishments

Imagine a vast, interconnected river system flowing through a diverse landscape, nourishing everything in its path. This is similar to Marietta Community Foundation, which serves as a powerful catalyst for positive change and growth within Washington County.

Generous donors are the source of this river, much like raindrops falling from the sky, eager to contribute to the betterment of their community. They pool their resources into the Foundation, which acts as a large reservoir, collecting and safeguarding these donations.

Just as the river meanders through various landscapes, the Foundation diligently navigates the needs and aspirations of the community. It conducts thorough research, engaging with local organizations and stakeholders to identify the most pressing challenges and opportunities.

Now, imagine the Foundation as a well-engineered hydroelectric dam, where these accumulated donations gain incredible potential energy. Much like the dam converting the force of water into electricity, the Foundation converts these generous contributions into impactful grants and scholarships.

The potential energy of donations is harnessed, channeled, and directed to areas of greatest need, unleashing a powerful force for positive change.

As the river spreads and flows to nourish the land, grants from the Foundation are dispersed to various nonprofit organizations, projects, and initiatives. These grants act as life-giving streams, addressing critical issues such as education, healthcare, poverty alleviation, arts and culture, and environmental conservation.

Scholarships are like streams that flow directly into the educational landscape, nurturing the aspirations of talented students who might otherwise lack the means to pursue higher education. Just as streams sustain life along their banks, scholarships empower students to grow, learn, and become future leaders who will contribute back to their community.

In times of crisis or urgent need, the Foundation can release a controlled flood of support, responding swiftly and effectively to address unforeseen challenges that arise in the community.

The beauty of this water-themed analogy is that just as a river connects various ecosystems, Marietta Community Foundation creates meaningful connections between donors, grantees, scholarship recipients, and the entire community. It fosters a cycle of giving and receiving, promoting sustainable growth and positive change for generations to come.

TOTAL: $2.74M

DONORS

Donors are a source of inspiration, investing in causes that mean the most to them and making a meaningful difference.

These investments come in all forms, such as annual gifts to the Community Impact Fund, the establishment of their own funds, becoming a Friend of the Foundation, or joining the 1788 Legacy Society with a planned gift.

Their passion and generosity help address the current needs of our neighbors while positioning our community for long-term success. We are proud to offer a high level of personal attention, community expertise, and opportunities to connect with others who share the same spirit of generosity and hope.

The Next Ripple

No gift is too small to cause a ripple effect on others around you. Make a gift to create your own impact.

CAMERON FOUSS

Cultivating Community Legacies

In the heart of Washington County, Cameron Fouss, a true Marietta native, embodies the spirit of philanthropy.

Growing up, Cameron's parents instilled in him the value of giving back. His mother, a schoolteacher, and his father, a pillar of the community, displayed countless examples of selflessness and compassion. These early lessons took root in Cameron's heart, and he knew that he wanted to play an active role in bettering others' lives.

After completing his undergraduate degree at Ohio University and earning a law degree from Capital University, Cameron faced a crucial decision: where to build his future.

He recalled how he would return home on weekends from college, seeking to reset and unwind from the fast-paced college life. Despite the allure of bustling cities and the potential of working within a big-name law firm, Cameron could not resist the magnetic pull of Marietta's distinct charm.

One aspect that sets Marietta apart, according to Cameron, is the sense that we all want to see each other succeed. The people of Marietta genuinely care about one another's well-being, fostering a sense of cohesiveness and support that is seldom found in larger cities. For Cameron, this sense of unity and compassion is what makes Marietta truly special.

As a professional advisor, Cameron frequently engages with individuals seeking to organize their estates and make a lasting impact on causes close to their hearts. In these instances, he suggests a collaboration with Marietta Community Foundation, highlighting its unwavering commitment to responsible monetary allocation and the character of its leadership as a testament to its strength.

Cameron's endorsement of the Foundation is not merely based on perception; it's grounded in personal action.

He leads by example, generously contributing to causes that hold special meaning to him. During his tenure as President of the Washington County Bar Association, Cameron played a pivotal role in establishing the Washington County Bar Association Fund, a testament to his dedication to the community. Furthermore, as an active member of the Marietta Shrine Club, he works closely with the Foundation to help with the administration of the Marietta Shrine Club's fund.

Through his hands-on involvement and genuine commitment to serving others, Cameron empowers his clients and uplifts the community he cherishes, solidifying a profound and meaningful legacy, and cementing his place as a true catalyst for positive change.

MOLLY SIMICH

From Inspiration to Action

Support and encouragement from our peers can serve as a catalyst for inspiration, fostering a sense of community and shared growth. Molly Simich experienced this firsthand.

Molly graduated from Warren High School in 2014. Once graduated, Molly attended Case Western Reserve University, located in the heart of Cleveland, Ohio. Molly was fulfilling her dreams of moving to a big city.

After graduating from Case Western Reserve, Molly found herself retracing her steps. She moved back to Washington County to pursue a job opportunity at Kraton. Molly found that Marietta, despite lacking the extensive offerings of a big city, has its own unique charm and opportunities.

Just as Molly was getting used to being back in southeastern Ohio, the COVID-19 pandemic engulfed the globe. Forced to rely on the internet to stay connected with friends, Molly found herself video chatting often. During one of these video chats, a friend's comment instantly piqued Molly's interest and sent her on a Googling frenzy.

"One of my friends mentioned that they were going to donate at least half of their stimulus checks. Immediately I realized that was something I could do too," said Molly.

Recognizing that there were many people in her community who could use extra assistance, she began to research local charitable organizations. It didn't take long before she found herself on Marietta Community Foundation's website, learning about the COVID-19 Community Response Fund.

Molly made her first official donation in April 2020, and her commitment continued to grow in the months that followed. As the threat of COVID-19 gradually receded in Washington County, Molly felt compelled to reevaluate her contributions.

Molly decided to redirect her support to the Community Impact Fund, honing in on the county's most pressing needs and areas requiring immediate attention. By focusing on the highest priorities, Molly sought to maximize the positive change she could effect within her community.

Embracing the convenience of a recurring monthly donation, Molly finds fulfillment in knowing that her humble contribution each month provides crucial support to neighbors in need. This dependable commitment brings her peace of mind and enables her to play an ongoing role in improving the lives of Washington County residents.

With each contribution, she reaffirms her dedication to making a tangible difference in the lives of fellow community members, solidifying her role as a catalyst for positive change in Washington County.

THE SPLASH FUND

An Olympic-Sized Dream

Famous for his innovative approach to total knee replacements using computer technology, Dr. Gregory Krivchenia II has devoted his career to restoring mobility and improving lives.

Now the esteemed orthopaedic surgeon has mobilized a project that he believes will transform the region — building an indoor, Olympic-sized pool.

Within one year, Dr. Krivchenia donated over $1.6 million to establish and expand The Splash Fund.

Standing for "Swim and Play: Leisure Activities, Sports, and Health," the Splash Fund serves as a driving force behind the construction and long-term operation of an eight-lane, 50-meter by 25-yard swimming pool with a dive tank, an Olympic-sized vision that he believes will reinforce the Mid-Ohio Valley as a vibrant hub for aquatic sports, events, and economic prosperity.

Drawing from his formative experiences as a member of the Marietta Marlins and Tiger swim teams, Dr. Krivchenia recognizes the merits instilled by swimming. He also recognizes that the ability to swim is important for local citizens' safety.

"Student-athletes tend to be better students because they learn about discipline and accountability," Dr. Krivchenia stated. "Plus, with the rivers around here, it's especially important for people to learn how to swim and to respect all types of water."

With indoor and Olympic-sized as key descriptors, the pool would boast many benefits not currently available in the region.

Foremost, the pool would be a convenient venue for hosting sport competitions year-round. This would draw visitors and attention to our community from far and wide, stimulating tourism and economic growth as teams and their families patronize local hotels, restaurants, and shops.

He also envisions the pool leading to the creation of competition or recreational sport teams, such as water polo, synchronized swimming, or diving. Additionally, it could be used by the Marietta Marlins and other local swim teams to practice year-round, for lifeguarding and other water-safety training, aqua aerobics classes, and more.

Dr. Krivchenia is focused on growing the fund and is actively searching for the perfect partner to take on the operation. He is deeply committed to the project, believing that this investment will create numerous opportunities for personal growth, athletic development, and economic progress.

THE BRADLEY FAMILY

Once a Team, Always a Team

Whether on the field or in the face of adversity, Mark Bradley always found a way to rally a team.

Mark grew up playing basketball, golf, and his favorite, baseball. The athlete took his love of the game to the next level, pitching at Ohio University and later transitioning to sports commentary, joining his good friend Johnny Wharff on WMOA radio for many years.

While at OU, Mark crossed paths with Tammi, a lifelong resident of Old Fort, Ohio. It didn't take long for their love story to ignite and spark a new dynamic-duo. Upon graduation, Tammi decided to join Mark in Marietta.

"We met at Ohio University. I fell in love with the hills of Marietta and fell in love with Mark," revealed Tammi.

At the ages of 25 and 24, Mark and Tammi began their married life together. They were blessed with two beautiful daughters, Emmie and Gabby, who attended St. Mary Catholic School and later Parkersburg Catholic High School.

While in school, they developed a passion for competitive dancing, which Mark wholeheartedly supported.

Despite dance not being Mark's first choice of sports, he happily attended his daughters' dance performances and referred to their recitals as the "Superbowl of dance." At home, he even added his own flair to their dance moves, doing little leaps and grand jetés across the floor.

Tammi, Emmie, and Gabby affectionately refer to themselves as "the Bradley girls," a name coined by their friends and family long before Mark's passing. The Bradley girls are well-known for their strength and resilience.

Recently, Emmie achieved a significant milestone by earning a Doctorate in Occupational Therapy from the University of Findlay. Gabby finished her sophomore year at Ohio University, on track to form the next generation of Bradley Bobcat-alumni and pursuing a business pathway like her dad. Tammi continues her involvement with St. Mary Catholic School, serving as the marketing director for the institution.

While it was inherently present before, "Team Bradley" officially materialized after Mark's diagnosis, along with the inspirational term "red sucker days."

Three-year-old Braxton Cornett, a special family friend, associated a red Tootsie Pop with good news from the doctor. Soon, the entire town embraced this symbol, and neighbors started wearing t-shirts with "Team Bradley" on the back and "Red Sucker Days" on the front pocket, symbolizing their support and rallying for positive updates.

The Bradley girls were astonished by the overwhelming love and support they received from family, friends, and even strangers.

Mark's funeral services were attended by an overflowing crowd, visitation hours had never-ending lines, and memorial contributions poured into the Foundation. Inspired by this generosity and their desire to continue Mark's legacy, the Bradley girls established the Team Bradley Fund. The fund aims to give back and lift up others, just as Mark did.

While Mark's battle with cancer has ended, Team Bradley continues to represent a community united by goodwill and perseverance.

This spirit lives on through the Bradley girls and their teammates, and will continue to flow throughout our community forevermore.

THE GRANTEE PERSPECTIVE

Parents & Friends of the Hearing Impaired, Inc.

“We have many heartwarming stories to tell, but one that tops our list is from a fellow who wrote back to us saying, “To my dear angels, how can I thank you for such a gift you made to me just in time for me to hear Christmas carols? The hearing aids took me out of silence just in time for the holidays. Thank you. Thank you.””

Washington County Agricultural & Mechanical Association

“One of our goals is to make the fairgrounds a more inviting place for the citizens of Washington County and neighboring counties. We started by replacing the old, broken picnic tables in Civitan Park with five corrosion-resistant tables. They have been a great addition to the grounds and will be enjoyed by many for years to come.”

Habitat for Humanity of the Mid-Ohio Valley

“As we have expanded Habitat for Humanity’s building in Washington County, the confidence that MCF has shown in our work has been incredible. From the moment that our 2022 Women Build project was announced, MCF exhibited major support for that project by becoming a lead sponsor. MCF’s belief in this particular project (not to mention our other Washington County projects) has been such a positive example as their staff participated not only in building the house, but also by providing lunches and helping to spread the word throughout the community. MCF is one of our most important allies in Washington County!”

“ MCF is one of our most important allies in Washington County! ”

MOV'N DRAGONS

From Survivors to Thrivers

When Gretchen Feldmaier's breast cancer returned in 2005, she gathered a core group of friends at her bedside and charged them with making her dream of seeing a dragon boat team on the rivers of the Mid-Ohio Valley come true.

By 2006, the Mid-Ohio Valley boasted its first dragon boat team. Today, they are known as the MOV'n Dragons.

Gretchen's legacy is one of resilience, generosity, and a commitment to making a positive impact on the world. Despite facing the challenges of breast cancer multiple times, she persevered and used her experience to inspire and motivate others.

She also knew that dragon boating was the perfect therapy for breast cancer patients. The upper body movement used to paddle develops strength, and repetition promotes healing.

Through her founding gift to Marietta Community Foundation, Gretchen not only provided the means for the MOV'n Dragons to get started, but also gave the community a symbol of hope and perseverance in Gretchen's Phoenix, the team's first vessel. Funded by memorial contributions, this boat serves as a reminder of Gretchen's strength and determination and inspires those who row it to push themselves to new heights.

The team usually travels three or more times per year to compete in festivals. However, Gretchen's spirit remains close as many possess a special necklace. A dragon is displayed for the world to see, while the wearer feels Gretchen's fingerprint on the side closest to their heart.

"Every time we go to a festival I wear this and rub my thumb on it," said Judy Baker, a founding member of the group.

Today, the team is comprised of more than 30 members, all survivors (or thrivers, as they prefer to be called) and supporters. While some members are especially enthusiastic about the sport and travel worldwide to compete in festivals, the camaraderie among members is what makes the group truly special.

"From minute one, you get the feeling that this is a support group. There's no question about it," declared Judy. "It brings tears to my eyes when I think about all the wonderful things that have happened from this experience."

The group lends support outside of the boat, too. Named in memory of a beloved teammate, the Felicia M. Buell Thriver Program supports all cancer survivors in the Mid-Ohio Valley, regardless of whether or not they are members of the team. They encourage survivors to transition into "thrivers" by pursuing energizing activities that help them recover and get the most out of life despite the disease.

Overall, the dragon boat team represents a powerful combination of personal growth and team-building. By awakening the dragon within and working together to achieve a common goal, participants tap into their inner strength and resilience, pushing themselves to achieve things they never thought possible.
