For the everyday love

Motherhood is so often found in the smallest things.

The way she remembers your favorite dinners.
The regular 'how are you's. The shared smiles across the table.

The "just because" texts, the warm dinners,
the way she listens, because your words matter to her.
It's not always grand gestures; it's the consistency, the care,
the showing up over and over again.

And it stays with you, long after you've left home.
That kind of love that quietly shapes the way you love others.

Meg Roulston Ceramics

The best gifts aren't flashy—they're the thoughtful ones, the ones that slip into her days, making the little moments feel special. Like a flower frog for those tiny handpicked flowers. A tumbler for slow morning coffee or breakfast in bed. A garlic-ginger grater for ginger and lemon-honey tea at the end of a long day. Small, beautiful, and made to be treasured.

Handmade. Thoughtful. Local.

Every Kind of Mother

Not all mothers are biological.

Some are chosen. Some step in.

Some show up quietly, without needing a special title.

And what a gift that is; to be loved and supported by someone who didn't have to, but chose to.

Mother's Day is for them too.

The ones who nurtured you, believed in you, and reminded you of your worth.

The ones who made you feel safe, even when the world didn't.

Let's celebrate them all.

Thoughts on motherhood

I've been thinking. It's so wild, how you start to understand your mum more as you grow older.
You see things you missed before; the quiet sacrifices,
the fierce protective strength, the beautiful softness.
You notice how much of her life is all about you now.

She fills your heart, and you fill hers.
And maybe as your thoughts change over the years.
You realise: she wasn't just your mum.
She was her own person, doing her best, learning as she went.
And somehow, still giving you everything.

Lisa Buscomb

It all starts with the words you choose to surround yourself with. Words hold incredible power—what you read can shape your mindset, lift your spirits, and transform your entire day. The right words offer comfort, encouragement, and inspiration when you need them most. In my four books and on Instagram, I share original daily reminders and motivational musings that remind you to believe in your unique magic.

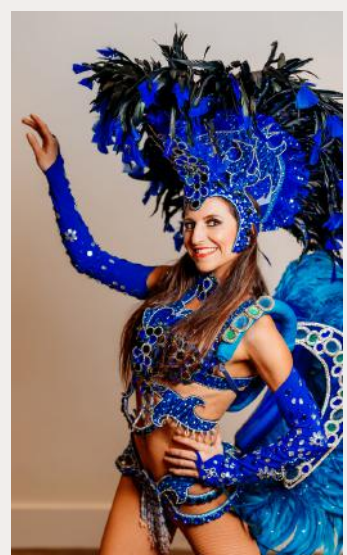

Gift Mum one of my books this Mother's Day and support her with a few words of inspiration, motivation or reassurance.

A still life photograph set against a white, draped fabric background. In the upper left, a clear glass vase holds several thin-stemmed daisies with yellow centers and white petals. Below the vase, a whole bright yellow lemon sits next to a lemon that has been sliced in half, revealing its internal segments. To the right of these, a small, shallow ceramic bowl with a dark blue rim contains several dried, pressed lemon slices. A few more dried slices are scattered on the white fabric in the foreground. The entire scene is decorated with soft, out-of-focus white bokeh lights, particularly concentrated in the top right and bottom left corners. The text "gifts: food" is written in a yellow, lowercase serif font, positioned in the upper right area of the image.

Heartfelt + Gentle

You made the everyday feel magical.
With a beautiful smile, a quiet strength, a lot of patience,
and a heart that never asked for praise.
You taught me that love shows up
in so many different ways.
In packed lunches, in long hugs, drying tears.
In patiently listening, even when the stories were long and boring, especially then.
In the way you always remembered
the smallest things. Especially when they were important to me.
Today, I hope you feel how deeply
you are loved, from those moments, to now.
Happy Mother's Day.

Artwork by Craig

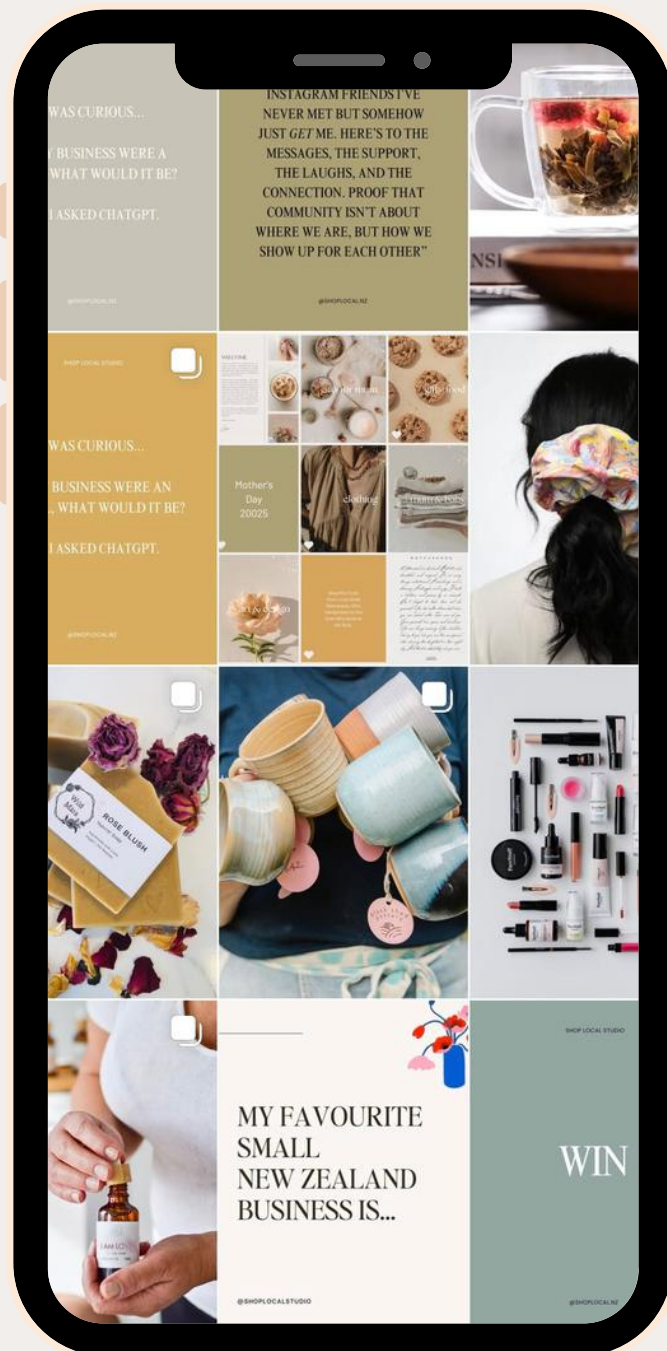

"I am a self-taught, part-time artist, who has been painting for 15 years. I primarily use acrylic paint on canvas but love to paint on different surfaces like skateboards and even guitars. My style is a mix of pop-art and cult art and I derive inspiration from artists such as Andy Warhol, George loannou, Paul Oz and Joe Petruccio. Working in the medical field as a chiropractor, I have a fascination with how our brain and nervous system works and I love to use negative space in my paintings. It always amazes me how our brains, with a few simple block colours, a limited colour palette and utilising negative space, can easily make out the subject of the paintings."

Motherhood can be hard. But it's also beautiful and magical. It's so many things intertwined. A challenge and a blessing. A struggle and a joy. It lasts a lifetime and passes by in moments. Don't forget to take time out for yourself. You look after others best when you are looked after. Take care of you. Give yourself love, space and kindness. You are doing amazing. Your children look up to you like you are the one special star shining the brightest in the night sky. And that is absolutely who you are.
