RED CHILI POWDER

Red chili powder is a spice made from dried and ground red chilies, known for its vibrant color and heat. It varies in flavor and heat depending on the type of chili used, such as cayenne or paprika. Common in many global cuisines, it's essential in spice blends, marinades, and sauces. Nutritionally, it offers capsaicin, vitamins A, C, E, B6, and antioxidants. Store in an airtight container away from light and moisture. Handle with care to avoid skin irritation, and consider substitutes like paprika or cayenne pepper if needed.

TURMERIC POWDER

Turmeric powder, derived from the rhizome of the Curcuma longa plant, is renowned for its vibrant yellow color and earthy, slightly bitter flavor. A staple in Indian cuisine and traditional medicine, it contains the active compound curcumin, known for its anti-inflammatory and antioxidant properties. In 100 grams of turmeric powder, you'll find approximately 354 calories, 65 grams of carbohydrates, 8 grams of protein, 10 grams of fat, and a significant amount of dietary fiber. It also provides vitamins and minerals such as vitamin C, vitamin B6, iron, potassium, and manganese. Turmeric is praised for its potential health benefits, including supporting joint health and boosting the immune system.

DESI KHAND

Desi khand, also known as khandsari sugar or traditional Indian raw sugar, is a type of unrefined sugar made from sugarcane juice. It retains more of the natural molasses content compared to refined white sugar, giving it a distinctive light brown color and a richer, more complex flavor. Desi khand is less processed and contains trace minerals like calcium, iron, and potassium. It is considered a healthier alternative to refined sugar due to its minimal processing and higher nutrient content. Commonly used in traditional Indian sweets and beverages, desi khand adds a natural sweetness and depth of flavor.

SENDHA NAMAK

Sendha Namak, also known as rock salt or Himalayan pink salt, is a type of salt derived from salt mines and natural salt deposits. It is minimally processed, retaining a pink hue due to the presence of trace minerals like calcium, magnesium, potassium, and iron. Commonly used in Indian cuisine, especially during fasting periods, Sendha Namak is valued for its purported digestive and detoxifying properties. It is often used as a seasoning, in Ayurvedic medicine, and in spa treatments. Unlike regular table salt, it doesn't contain added iodine or anti-caking agents, making it a natural alternative.
