Improve Applied Hiding by Focussing on Rheology

by Mukund Gogte from Ashland Specialty Ingredients

Tuesday 18th October 10:15 – 11:45

Wednesday 19th October 10:15 – 11:45

This course will address the rising cost and short supply of titanium dioxide which have generated renewed interest in improving hiding in latex paints.

The industry focusses on improving intrinsic hiding however ignores the fact that applied hiding is an area they can improve and optimize costs.

Particle Size of TiO_2 Pigment in Dispersion and in a Powder

by Thomas Koch (Bruno Domnick, Sven Böhm, Ralf Theissmann and Norbert Bendzko) from Research Services KRONOS INTERNATIONAL

Tuesday 18th October 14:00 - 15:30

Wednesday 19th October 10:15 – 11:45 (Conference Forum)

TiO_2 as white pigment exists since 1821 and was used from painting artists first. Since the 1870-ies the pigment could be produced in kg units and was used for special expensive coatings like battleships. In 1906 and 1907 the industrial sulfate process was invented, and the white pigment held entry into almost all parts of human life.
