Society Golf Planning Guide

BOOKING YOUR 2025 SOCIETY GOLF CALENDAR

Organising a society golf calendar can be a challenging yet rewarding task. It involves coordinating multiple outings and events throughout the year, ensuring they align with your group's objectives and preferences, while avoiding certain dates like communions, bank holidays, big matches and so on - Creating a well-rounded society golf calendar is essential for a successful and enjoyable year of golf. Here's a step-by-step guide to help you plan and manage a society golf calendar.

Step 1: Define Your Goals and Objectives

Before you dive into planning your golf calendar, start by defining your society's goals and objectives. Consider what you want to achieve from the year.

Step 2: Gather Input from Members

Engage with your society members to gather input and preferences. This valuable feedback will help you tailor your calendar to meet the needs and desires of your members.

Step 3: Determine Your Frequency

Decide how often you want to have golf events. Some societies prefer monthly outings, while others may opt for quarterly or bi-monthly events.

Step 4: Choose your Courses

Variety is key to keeping members engaged and excited about the upcoming events. Select a mix of courses, and always try to add in courses that the group hasn't played before.

Step 5: Secure Dates and Tee Times

Once you have a rough idea of your event schedule, get in touch with the team at mygolfSociety and they will start securing dates and tee times at your chosen golf courses.

Step 6: Promote Your Events

Promote your society golf calendar to members and encourage them to share it with their network of golfers. The most used forms of communication are email, social media, and WhatsApp.

Step 7: Communication with golf clubs

Send reminders to your members on the lead up to each event and get people to commit nice and early. It's important to keep the golf clubs updated with expected numbers.

Conclusion

By following these simple steps, you can create a well-planned and enjoyable society golf calendar that caters to the interests and preferences of your members.

Consistency, communication, and a commitment to member satisfaction are key to the success of your calendar and the overall experience of your society's golfing enthusiasts.

If you would like to discuss any of the above, please feel free to speak to one of our society golf experts - we're happy to help!

GOLF BREAKS IN NORTHERN IRELAND

Home to major champions and major golf courses, Northern Ireland is a destination at the heart of the game's past, present and future and one that every golfer should experience

For a small country, Northern Ireland punches far above its weight on the global golf stage, having produced three champions with six Major titles between them in the last decade – Rory McIlroy, Graeme McDowell and Darren Clarke.

Its success is no coincidence, however. Underpinning that are some of the finest golf courses to be found anywhere in the world and many of the game's greatest players have trodden their hallowed fairways down the years.

While the land of the Giant's Causeway has been something of a slumbering giant as a golf destination in comparison with its neighbours up until now, it has been roused under the increasing glare of the golfing world's spotlight thanks to its superstar venues.

ROYAL PORTRUSH

Royal Portrush, on the Causeway Coast, will focus the global spotlight on Northern Ireland even more when it hosts The 153rd Open next year for the third time, with an expectation set high following the emotional scenes of Shane Lowry walking up the 18th on that final day back in 2019.

Golfers from all over the world make a spiritual pilgrimage to play Northern Ireland's celebrated links courses and traditional hidden gems such as Ardglass and Castlerock wouldn't be considered 'hidden' much more.

Northern Ireland may be famed for its championship links golf but it also possesses glorious parkland courses. Beyond capital Belfast's five parkland beauties there's a wealth of inland courses for golfers to play throughout the region.

Some of them are at golf resorts where the fairways are just steps away from your room, while others are unsung jewels just waiting to be discovered by visitors.

There are four golf resorts in Northern Ireland, all of them offering extensive

Northern Ireland Made for Golf

golf facilities as well as accommodation, bars, restaurants, recreational activities – and full-service spas with massage treatments, to help ease those aching muscles after a round or prepare the body for the next golfing foray.

1. LOUGH ERNE

Lough Erne Resort opened in 2010 and features hotel rooms and loughside lodges. Its Thai Spa offers a dual treatment room ideal for couples, with treatments including a two-hour Golfers Tonic massage. The resort's Catalina Restaurant is named after the World War II flying boats that were based on Lough Erne. Lough Erne Resort welcomed world leaders including Barack Obama, Vladimir Putin, Angela Merkel and David Cameron when it hosted the G8 summit in 2013.

2. ROE PARK RESORT

Roe Park Resort lies in the beautiful surroundings of the Roe Valley Country Park. It is just a short drive from Derry~Londonderry and other top links layouts as well as the Causeway Coast's world-class visitor attractions, among them the Giant's Causeway, a UNESCO World Heritage Site. Its par-3 6th hole recently underwent extensive work including a new two-tier green as part of £1 million renovations to the course. Facilities also include an academy and high-tech indoor teaching studio.

Although not connected, Galgorm Resort & Spa is close by for those playing golf at Galgorm Castle Golf Club and it features a new riverside Thermal Village. A couples package includes bubbly and truffles on arrival, use of the Thermal Village and a Deluxe Duo treatment, with optional four-course meal and a cocktail or glass of wine.

3. GOLGORM CASTLE

Galgorm Castle Golf Club is laid out through mature wooded grounds in the heart of the 220-acre Galgorm Castle Estate, alongside its 17th century castle. It stages the annual Northern Ireland Open, part of the European Tour's Challenge Tour.

Northern Ireland Made for Golf

4. KINGFISHER COUNTY ESTATE

Formerly known as Hilton Templepatrick, the newly rebranded Kingfisher Country Estate has quickly become a top destination for society golfers. The estate, located just outside Belfast, offers a splendid parkland course that's as scenic as it is challenging. The estate's location near Belfast makes it especially appealing for golfers who want to experience Northern Ireland's capital city after their round. Kingfisher Country Estate also boasts modern amenities, including a high-end spa, gym, and leisure facilities, ensuring your trip is as comfortable as it is exciting.

5. SOME OTHER GEMS

Other gems include County Down golf clubs St Patrick's, Edenmore, Bangor Golf Club and 36-hole Clondeboye, County Antrim's Dunmurry Golf Club and County Tyrone's Dungannon Golf Club.

Several excellent seaside courses lie in the shadows of renowned venues. Just around the coast from the celebrated Royal County Down, the short but spectacular Ardglass Golf Club links hugs the rocky shore and cliffs, with several holes offering views across the bay to Coney Island. Golfers can enjoy the craic after their round in the bar of the oldest clubhouse in the world, originally built as a castle over 600 years ago and with cannons pointing out over the fairways just in front.

6. KIRKISTOWN CASTLE

Kirkistown Castle Golf Club, on the Ards Peninsula, is the closest links course to Belfast and was designed by legendary architect James Braid, while Cairndhu Golf Club is a parkland course with several holes right by the sea, its signature, par-3 2nd hole ending in a green perched on a rocky headland.

Meanwhile in the region's capital, Belfast, few cities offer such a choice of quality golf courses on its doorstep as Northern Ireland's capital, and they include the home course of triple Major Champion, Rory McIlroy. Holywood Golf Club's course is short but it produced a mercurial champion in Rory McIlroy, the young McIlroy honing his skills on Hollywood's hilly fairways and greens. Rory is still a member, as is his father, and he often drops in to see old friends when he is back in Northern Ireland.

Its most prestigious parkland courses all lie within a 15-minute drive of the city centre. That makes a short break in the city combining golf, sightseeing and soaking up the sounds, culture, nightlife and culinary scene a very attractive proposition.

And when the golf is done, enjoy the nightlife of a once-troubled city that has been transformed in little more than a decade and is now one of Europe's friendliest, most vibrant and most cosmopolitan cities. It is just as lively during the week as on weekends.

Away from the fairways, the striking £77 million Titanic Belfast attraction, which opened in 2012, a century after the RMS Titanic hit an iceberg on its maiden voyage and sank, was named the world's leading tourist attraction at the World Travel Awards in December 2016.

Other options include Belfast City Hall for its exhibition charting the history of the city, a tour of the once-infamous Crumlin Road Gaol, now a tourist attraction documenting its 150-year history and now features its own new distillery, McConnell's which opens its doors in 2023.

There are fantastic wine and dining options, especially in Belfast's city-centre Cathedral Quarter, which is eminently walkable as is the adjacent Linen Quarter, regarded as one of its most exciting up and coming areas. From bistros and gourmet coffee bars to gastro pubs, Belfast has it all. Besides being perfect for a golfing city break, Belfast can also be a base for playing golf in other parts of Northern Ireland.

One thing's for sure: a golfing visit to Northern Ireland will leave titanic memories.

Northern Ireland Made for Golf

From the dedicated golfer to the first timer, Northern Ireland offers new places, new stories and new experiences to last lifetime.

Here you'll find over 90 diverse clubs, everyone a unique gem. Whether you're seeking a championship experience, dramatically scenic settings, a slice of history, links or parkland, or simply idyllic tranquility, Northern Ireland has it all.

mygolfGroup Travel Launches New Golf Holiday Booking Services

mygolfGroup Travel, the sister company of mygolfSociety, and Ireland's leading golf travel provider, is excited to announce the launch of its new golf holiday booking services. After 15 successful years booking golf for Irish clients, the company is expanding its services to include golf holiday bookings to top European and Worldwide golfing destinations, catering to Irish golfers. This significant expansion now makes mygolfgroup the most comprehensive golf travel provider in Ireland, catering to all types of golf bookings such as society golf, and Irish golf breaks, golf events, Inbound golf tours and now golf holidays.

"We've been booking golf in Ireland for over 15 years and are excited to introduce our new outbound golf travel services," says Eoin Francis, Managing Director of mygolfgroup.

"This launch is something we've been working towards for a while, and it comes directly from strong demand from our existing client base. Whether it's a golf society, a small group of friends, or a golf professional coaching trip, looking to play golf in guaranteed sunshine, our team are ready to help you book your next golf holiday abroad."

Over the past few years, the experienced team at mygolfGroup Travel have spent time attending international trade events to forge strong relationships with top suppliers across Europe and beyond. This network of suppliers ensures that mygolfgroup Travel clients will enjoy first-class service when booking a golf holiday.

Jordan Tuite, Head of Outbound Golf Travel Services, says: "We've seen a trend in recent years of Irish golfers increasingly wanting to golf abroad, especially as the Irish weather seems to be getting worse. Destinations like Spain, Portugal and Turkey are proving a popular choice, not only for the guaranteed sunshine, but for the repetition of having exceptional golf courses and hospitality."

Since its founding in 2008, mygolfgroup has grown into a key player in the Irish golf industry. Starting as a booking service for society golf, the company has since evolved to become the country's leading provider of domestic golf breaks, inbound tours, and now, outbound golf holidays. Last year, mygolfgroup booked over €1.75 million in direct bookings for its golf club and hotel partners, further solidifying its reputation as a market leader.

"Our growth has been driven by our ability to meet the needs of golfers at every level," adds Eoin. "We've gone from focusing on society golf bookings to providing a full range of travel services for golfers. We're excited to see how our outbound travel offering grows in the coming years."

With the launch of outbound travel services, mygolfgroup Travel is perfectly positioned to continue its growth and remain the top choice for both domestic and international golf travel. Whether you're an individual golfer, society group, PGA Professional, or a corporate client, mygolfgroup Travel offers unparalleled expertise and exceptional service, so be sure to book your next golf holiday with the Ireland's leading golf travel provider.
