Series Synopsis

Former city policeman Hauke Jacobs wants to start over as a veterinarian in the sleepy seaside town of Schwanzitz – but mysterious crimes in the local area keep scuppering his plans.

Much to the delight of hard-bitten policewoman, Lona Vogt, and Jacobs' receptionist, Jule Christiansen. With her flair for criminal investigations, Jule would love to drop her mundane daily duties and fight crime instead.

Hauke Jacobs

Veterinary surgeon – and detective on the side.

"I'm not a hero. I'm just a man trying to do the right thing."

Hauke Jacobs first arrived in Schwanitz on the witness protection programme. The former LKA investigator from Hamburg had escaped the mafia's clutches to start a new life as a vet in the seaside town.

His practice is flourishing, and now he's back working as a bonafide detective once again.

Jule Christiansen

Veterinary assistant.

*"I'm not a police officer, I'm an amateur detective.
There's a difference."*

Jule works as an assistant in Hauke Jacobs' veterinary practice, using every spare moment at her disposal to study. She wants to prove to herself – and, of course, her boss – that she has what it takes to be a great vet.

When there are crimes to be solved, Jule is always eager to help out, but there's a chance that her happy-go-lucky attitude could put her life at risk.

Hannah Wagner

Police officer.

"I'm not here to make friends, I'm here to do my job."

Hannah hails from the city of Kiel, and ended up in Schwanitz more or less by chance after taking the first job on offer. It takes the new recruit a while to find her place in Hauke Jacobs and Jule Christiansen's close-knit team.

Hannah is independent and unattached. Her profession is her vocation. She tends to act on impulse and could sometimes benefit from thinking things through before taking the plunge. But to do so, she will first have to acclimatise to the slow pace of life in Schwanitz.
