TECHNIQUES ON HOW WE CAN SUPPORT OUR CHILDREN'S MENTAL HEALTH

by Becky Hoare at Pop Up Play Village

Our children's mental health is a priority. As parents and carers, we strive to have happy and healthy children and support them in any way we can.

I don't know about you but with so much going on in our children's lives, it is often hard to know how best to support them, especially when we aren't with them all of the time and don't always know what situations they have faced each day. My children are 8 and 10 years old now and this is what I particularly find difficult. They spend so much time at school and when they come home and they haven't had a particularly good day or they are quiet about their day, it is sometimes hard to work through it with them and know how best to support them.

No child is the same so there will never be a strategy or best way to offer support. Our children also develop and change so much whilst they grow up so ways of supporting your child will inevitably change over time.

I think a key priority is talking with our children. Talking through each day and offering guidance where we can. Consider the best time to talk about their day, for example a special time at night time before they go to bed reflecting on the greatest parts about their day and then something that wasn't so great.

Our children are in the driving seat to their mental well being but we can be there on the side lines cheering them on and boosting their confidence as much as possible. Talking is so important and the power of speech goes a very long way.

If you have a child who struggles to get out their words or talk about their day then the thumbs up, thumbs down strategy might work well. You ask your child questions which they can answer with thumbs up or thumbs down. Start the questions off very light and simple. Did you enjoy our journey into school today? Did you eat a nice lunch today? Then if you suspect something you could ask was everyone nice to you today? They can simply answer with thumbs up or thumbs down.

I came across this quote from Charlie Mackesy and absolutely love it:

'Tears fall for a reason and they are your strength, not weakness' – Charlie Mackesy

Children learning about different emotions, expressing emotions and learning strategies to deal with different emotions is so important as they grow and fundamental in order to manage their mental health.

I just want to conclude by saying that as parents, supporting our children's mental health is tough and there is no one solution. All we can do is be there to support and guide our children and do the best we can. If you need someone to talk to, supporting each other in our journey as parents is important too. You can reach out to any of our Pop Up Play Village team, we would be more than happy to listen.

SPOTLIGHT ON... THE ARMY FLYING MUSEUM

We've asked local blogger Mama Around Town, to share some of her favourite adventures and activities to try with little ones.

The Army Flying Museum tells the story of the British Army flying from the early days of military ballooning to modern day Army Air Corps. There are lots of interactive parts to keep children entertained. It's easy to find and has a large car park with a few planes and a tank out the front. Once you've got your ticket or signed in at reception and the gift shop, you're good to go!

There are 2 hangers filled with real sized, original aeroplanes and helicopters with so much to see around every corner. It's a really interesting museum and if you have some big history and aeroplane fans, this is the perfect day out. Walking around the museum there are LOADS of parts to keep the children entertained - aeroplane puzzle, museum activity book, dressing up stations, a 1940s house, sound and light helicopter show, interactive games, soft play for under 8s and an outside picnic and play area, plus lots more.

They also offer school holiday crafts and activities, a baby and toddler group, and Apache cafe with highchairs and baby changing. It's a really family friendly location to take your children to and my 3.5 year old enjoyed playing outside in the play area and soft play, collecting stamps around the hangers and sitting in the aeroplanes. In the winter, it's a warm safe space to entertain the kiddos and in the summer you can take a picnic and sit in the play area and watch the planes! A great day for all the family!

INFO: Opening Times: Monday - Sunday, 9am - 4pm. All tickets are annual memberships, under 5's go free

Spring Craft: Homemade Bird Feeder

YOU WILL NEED:

- Empty juice carton (washed & dried)
- A wooden skewer or stick
- Paint (acrylic is best)
- A pen, ruler, scissors & string
- Birdseed

METHOD:

1. Draw a window shape on one side of the carton, leaving at least a 1" gap at the bottom. For small birds, a 1" hole is good. Bigger for larger birds.
2. Cut along the lines with scissors to remove the window piece. This might be a grown-up job!
3. Paint your carton to brighten up the birdhouse. Let your creativity shine!
4. Once the paint is dry, make a small hole just below your window using a pen or scissors. Then push the wooden skewer or stick right through to create a little perch.
5. Carefully poke 2 holes at the top of your carton; thread some string through the holes and tie to create a loop.
6. Fill the bottom with birdseed, then find a sheltered and safe spot to hang it outside. Now wait for the birds to arrive!

For guidelines on the foods that suit the birds in your garden at different times of year, visit www.rspb.org.uk/birds-and-wildlife/helping-birds-and-wildlife

3 Tips to Manage Parental Stress

by Matt Buttery, CEO of Triple P

Parental stress is on the rise. Triple P conducts a survey each year of family support practitioners to understand the challenges parents are facing. The most recent results from 2024 are stark.

Triple P found practitioners reported an 81% increase in parental mental health concerns over the last year, and an 85% increase in parents identifying concerns around the cost of living. These external pressures can increase parental stress and impact family wellbeing.

Taking care of yourself is one of the best things you can do as a parent to manage stress, placing you in a better position to positively care for others. It is handy to think of the phrase, "You can't pour from an empty cup."

There is no such thing as a perfect parent. But these are my practical tips you can try out to feel calmer and boost your wellbeing.

1. PRACTICE SELF-CARE

There are small practical steps you can take to practice self-care, such as having a morning stretch, a quiet cuppa, or spending time with a friend.

Negative thoughts are normal, especially when parenting feels challenging. If critical thoughts are becoming a habit, it might be helpful to pause, acknowledge those thoughts and reframe them into something more constructive.

Instead of asking "Why can't I do this? Nothing I do is right," try "It's okay to make mistakes. I'll keep trying."

Remember that your children are watching and learning from you all the time. If you're calmer and kinder to yourself, there is a better chance of them being so too.

Matt Buttery is the CEO of Triple P UK & Ireland and Honorary Associate Professor at the University of Warwick. Triple P delivers evidence-based parenting programmes to support families, enhance child well-being, and strengthen communities across the UK and Ireland. www.triplep.net

2. SET REALISTIC ROUTINES

A clear routine can help to boost your confidence by getting everyone on the same page. If you find the morning rush stressful, try planning with your children to make sure things like lunchboxes, bags, and clothes are all ready the night before.

Things may go wrong, but a simple and consistent routine can help you feel more productive and calmer when chaos strikes, even if you still haven't found that missing sock!

3. SPEAK UP & SEEK SUPPORT

Alarming, 78% of practitioners from Triple P's study reported that parents were not accessing support due to the fear of being judged. Asking for support does not mean you have failed at parenting, and there is help available.

You'll find solace in shared experience. Consider reaching out to a loved one you feel safe with. If there are more serious concerns, there are referral pathways through a GP or mental health professionals.

Parenting programmes such as Triple P can also be an excellent resource. These can be completed independently, or in groups, and offer a range of evidence-based strategies.

When parents look after themselves, it can have a positive impact on their physical and mental health, in turn helping them to manage the demands of parenting to the benefit of their children and families too. Self-care isn't selfish - it's essential.
