WINES FROM THE BEST PLACES ON EARTH

ABOUT US OUR BEGINNINGS

Vineyard Brands was founded in 1973 by Robert Haas. Bob began his career in 1950 working as the import buyer for M. Lehmann, his family's wine shop in New York City which would later become Sherry Lehmann. As Bob became more interested in the import wine business and less interested in the retail business, he began importing and selling wine in markets other than New York through Leeds Imports Corporation, a wine import company started by Bob and his father. In 1967, Bob's father retired from the wine business and Leeds Imports Corporation was sold.

In 1973, Bob moved to Vermont and founded Vineyard Brands with 2 employees. The company's office was located in a remodeled barn on the Haas family farm in Chester, Vermont until 1997 when the company moved its headquarters to Birmingham, Alabama.

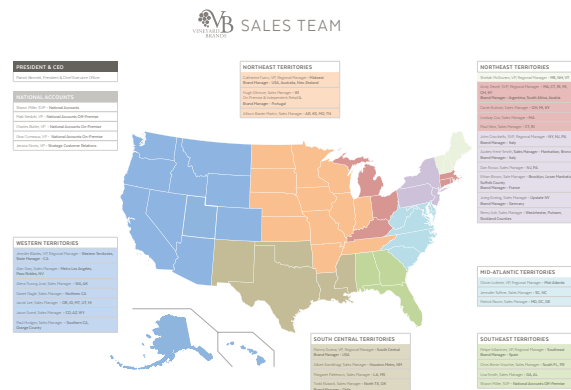

In the 1980s, Bob began to explore ways to fulfill a life-long dream to start his own winery, which would mean leaving Vineyard Brands. Bob ultimately decided to create an employee stock ownership plan (an "ESOP") to allow the employees of Vineyard Brands to purchase the business from him to allow him to start his winery, Tablas Creek Vineyard. In the late 1990s, when the ESOP completed its purchase of the business from Bob, he fully exited from Vineyard Brands.

TODAY

Today, Vineyard Brands has over 65 employees located throughout the United States and 2 offices, one in Birmingham, Alabama and the other in the heart of New York City. Our headquarters remains in Birmingham, Alabama, where we have approximately 25 employees who handle all shipping, accounting and compliance activities and the production of all promotional materials and advertising for Vineyard Brands. Our office in New York City is a sales and marketing office.

Despite our relatively small size, we have a truly national distribution network that extends to all 50 states, the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico. Our sales force, which consists of over 40 people, is divided into 8 regions, each of which is overseen by a regional manager. Recognizing the diversity of our various markets and in order to foster our entrepreneurial spirit, we give our regional managers and sales representatives a great deal of autonomy in managing their territories and markets.

Built on the same foundation upon which the company was founded, our mission remains the same – to select and offer wines of the best quality and value from the greatest places on Earth so that there is absolute confidence in any wine with "Imported by Vineyard Brands" on the label.

OUR PORTFOLIO

As we are a “family” owned enterprise by virtue of our ESOP, we have chosen to represent only family-owned wineries. We have a wealth of experience representing both small producers and large volume brands. We represent over 80 wineries from the major wine-growing regions throughout the world. Our portfolio includes some of the best wines available from Argentina, Chile, Spain, Portugal, New Zealand, Australia, South Africa, Austria, Germany, Italy, Slovenia, and France, including over 25 growers of estate-bottled wines in Bordeaux, Burgundy, Chablis, the Rhône, the Loire Valley, Alsace, Champagne, Provence, and Southern France.

One of our primary missions is to understand and respect the goals of each of our producers for their individual brands. We have a proprietary sense of pride in our brands and understanding that the only way to achieve long-term success is building a good distribution network. We work closely with our distributors across the United States to ensure that not only do we have good sales and depletion volumes, but that our distribution is optimized for the long term.

“In a world increasingly dominated by vast sums of capital and multinational firms, it is difficult for a small wine importer to survive unless that company has considerable expertise and an unwavering commitment to quality rather than quantity ... ‘Imported by Vineyard Brands’ is as close to a guarantee of quality as the consumer can expect.”

The Wine Advocate

SPECIAL NOTES	Alma Negra means "black soul" because the color of the wines made from the Bonarda grape is deep and intense. The first wines made, which were all reds, had a real "black soul" when you saw them in the glass.	Ernesto Catena's thoughts on going organic: "Going organic is the kind of thing many people warn you against in the wine industry. Because it's hard, because it's expensive, and because many consumers don't appreciate it. Some are even quite suspicious of the theory itself. But once you go organic, things actually get easier because you don't have to hide any pesticide bags. In fact, you want to walk through the vines everyday; you want to invite your kids to walk through the vines with all of their schoolmates. And see the butterflies and the birds. And get your hand in the soil and smell all that fertility."	Padrillos wines are inspired by Ernesto Catena's passion for horses. He has more than 30, many of them from his own stud farm. All of his horses are his retired polo ponies that now enjoy life on his vineyards in Mendoza.	The Inca would often bury offerings to the land so that it would remain healthy and fertile. Following this ancient tradition, every year Ernesto Catena Vineyards buries in their Vistaflares vineyard a few bottles of their best wines, hoping that while sleeping their endless Siesta, they will protect their vines, people, and harvest.	Tahuantinsuyu means "The Four Lands United" in Quechua, referring to the Inca's extensive network of roads.

SPECIAL NOTES	MAAL wines feature unique, contemporary packaging with beautiful labels that reflect the nature of the wine.	The name TintoNero , meaning "black wine" in Spanish, refers to the Malbec grape's dark, blackish color.	Buscado Vivo o Muerto translates to "wanted dead or alive" and refers to Sejanovich and Mausbach's long, tireless, and extensive search for premium, unique vineyards in Mendoza.	The Spanish word estancia refers to a South American ranch while Uspallata is the town closest to the estate.

SPECIAL NOTES	South Gippsland corner is not only renowned for dairy and beef, but also the giant Gippsland earthworm, which plays an active role in the fertilization and airing of the deep mineral-rich soil of the vineyards.	Bulletin Place, nos. 16-18, is said to be the oldest commercial building still operating in Australia. It was here in 1969 that Len Evans started his retail wine shop and private dining club that was instrumental in shaping an entire generation of Australian wine professionals.	"Nine Stones" refers to groups of Celtic standing stones, including Stonehenge. The stones were also thought to shimmer or dance in the heat at noon and hence "noon" or "nine stones". Both Len Evans and Denis Powers were of Celtic origin.

The winery also leases vineyards in Gumpoldskirchen, in Austria's Thermenregion.</li> <li>• The Loimer winery began the conversion to biodynamic agriculture in 2006. SPECIAL NOTES	Burgenland is the warmest winemaking region in Austria with an average temperature of 11°C (52°F), but is still considered a cool climate.	Ingrid Gross takes the stewardship of her land seriously. Each Gross label features a hare, which symbolizes the idea that we all are invaders of a natural habitat, and, as a result, must work carefully with and take responsibility for the land.	Fred Loimer is a pioneer of the wine architecture movement, and constructed a minimalist black cube on a 150-year-old, hand-dug loess cellar in Langenlois – thus adding new spice to the charming local Kellergassen, or cellar streets.

In 1992, his daughter Bérénice Lurton took over the estate. Today the estate is now in the hands of only the sixth family since its origins. Their estates include: Château La Gaffelière, Château Chapelle d'Aliénor, Château Armens, and Château La Connivence.</li> <li>• The Malet Roqueforts work with Merlot, the principal variety of the region, as well as small amounts of Cabernet Franc, following the tenant that great terroir is expressed through a harmonious balance of soil, vine, and climate.</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Petrus is one of the most famous and well-known wineries in the world, producing only one grand vin from 100% Merlot.</li> <li>• The 28.4 acre vineyard of Petrus is situated on the top of the highest elevation on the Pomerol plateau. The location of Petrus allows for natural drainage of the vineyard, which is especially important due to high percentage of iron-rich clay in the soil.</li> <li>• The blue clay subsoils of Petrus are what make the wines of Petrus so special. Petrus is distinctive as its entire vineyard is right on top of the clay, while neighboring vineyards only have a portion of blue clay in their soil.</li> </ul>

It includes the best Premiers Crus of the village, particularly the Grand Clos des Épenots, monopole of the domaine.</li> <li>• For four centuries, Domaine de Courcel has always produced wines typical of the Pommard appellation: Wines of great structure and finesse unique to the Côte de Beaune. Since Yves Cuilleron was hired in winemaker in 1996, the wines greater reflect the individual terroirs and present a natural balance with a more pronounced structure and an intense aromatic complexity.</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• The history of Maison Vincent Girardin is relatively recent. In 1980, at the age of 19, Vincent Girardin, the son of a family of winegrowers based in Santenay since the 17th century, decided to strike out on his own and began producing wine from five acres of vines that he had inherited from his parents.</li> <li>• To cope with the growing demand for his wines, he developed an approach that was new in Burgundy: he purchased grapes from producers who shared the same philosophy and the same high standards.</li> <li>• In 2012, Vincent Girardin sold his operation to a longstanding partner of the Maison. Jean-Pierre Nié, President of the Compagnie des Vins d'Autrefois in Beaune, naturally decided to continue with the small team of nine people, who had been faithful to the Maison for many years.</li> </ul>

SPECIAL NOTES	Of the short list of producers who star in Pommard, Domaine de Courcel is near the top of the list. The Domaine has been turning out some of the most powerful, densely aromatic wines from a village known for long-lived brooding Pinot Noir.	Vincent Girardin was always an experimenter and his curiosity led him to try all of the techniques of his time. With the help of winemaker Eric Germain, who was brought on to the team in 2003, Vincent discovered that he wanted to do as little intervention as possible with the fruit to create a level of premium Burgundian offerings.

KEY FACTS	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• The creation of Domaine Henri Gouges was the culmination of 400 years of family grape farmers, and it is, in many minds, the top domaine in Nuits-Saint-Georges.</li> <li>• While the house style has evolved, the main focus is the better reflection of the terroir in the fruit through organic viticulture. They believe that healthy vines produce quality fruit and thus more expressive terroir-driven wines.</li> <li>• By 2008, the entirety of the vineyards had been converted to organic viticulture, but the domaine emphasizes that the goal is not for certification but simply using viticultural techniques to respect the terroir and the wine.</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Alain Gras has been working passionately since 1979 with a great respect for the land. Despite its young age, his domaine has quickly established itself as the standard-bearer for the village of Saint-Romain.</li> <li>• Vinified with care and using traditional methods, the domaine's wines exemplify the character of this terroir, which Alain Gras sums up in three words: fresh, fruity, and elegant.</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Since they were first erected by Cistercian monks in 1365, the walls surrounding the Clos des Lambrays have harnessed the harmony of their 8.66 hectares of vines.</li> <li>• In March 2019, Jacques Devauges joined the estate as the General Manager and the Chief Winemaker.</li> <li>• In the heart of the village of Morey-Saint-Denis, Domaine des Lambrays is situated among vine-covered rolling hills where an iconic arched stone gate leads way to 202 ouvrées, or plots of land (8.66 hectares) owned by the Domaine.</li> <li>• Domaine des Lambrays produces rare, elegant, and age worthy wines, according to organic and biodynamic practices in the vineyards, since 2019 and 2020 respectively, and following a meticulous vinification process from start to finish.</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• This domaine has been in the Liger-Belair family for 250 years. Thibault Liger-Belair took over the reins in 2001 and created Domaine Thibault Liger-Belair.</li> <li>• The different appellations are cultivated and worked in different ways according to their soil and climate. The richness of the terroirs demands that each individual parcel has to be worked uniquely, rather than systematic work as is often done.</li> <li>• Liger-Belair's philosophy is to bring in the grapes to the winery in an irreproachable sanitary state and to handle each operation delicately. He aims to infuse instead of extract.</li> </ul>

SPECIAL NOTES	Henri Gouges was an immensely important figure in the development of the modern Burgundy trade. By 1933 he was one of the first producers to estate-bottle his wines, and in the 1930s, he was one of the people charged with delineating the crus in Burgundy for the INAO. He also discovered and propagated a white mutation of Pinot Noir to create a new vine, often called "Pinot Gouges".	Alain Gras' picturesque vineyards in Saint-Romain are at the very highest part of the hill, where they slope down into a small valley.	Over the course of the estate's 650-year history, the unity of the Clos has not always been secure. The French Revolution saw the vineyard split across 74 different owners, but its reassembly by the Rodier family in the late 1890s was a defining moment in the Domaine's past.	In 2009, the domaine expanded into Beaujolais, and now a Beaujolais-Villages and several Moulin-à-Vent Cru wines are also produced, uniquely utilizing traditional fermentation versus the normal carbonic maceration employed in the region.

The varied range of climats in which the Mongeards own vineyards results, naturally, in wines of great diversity.</li> <li>• In the words of Robert Parker, Jr: "the style of winemaking seems to extract rich, supple, concentrated fruit from the grapes...The wines always seem to show well young, but age nicely for 10-15 years."</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Thomas Morey belongs to the 10th generation of the Morey family. She brought almost 30 acres of Santenay vineyards to the domaine when she and Vincent married. According to Sophie, "In my family, the vines pass from mother to daughter."</li> <li>• Vincent and Sophie Morey treat their vineyards as if they were gardens. They believe that good wines start with good grapes and that winemaking is like cooking: The basic ingredients have to be right.</li> </ul>

SPECIAL NOTES	Domaine Matrot is one of the oldest-estate bottlers in Burgundy and one of the largest and most important properties in Meursault.	In 1945, Jean Mongeard (current owner Vincent's father), whose mother was a Mugneret, found himself making wine at the age of 16. His father had died five years before, and there was no one left to do the job. Henri Gouges instructed the young Mongeard to personally bottle the wines, rather than sell in barrel, making the domaine one of the first in Burgundy to practice estate bottling.	The Morey family's history in Burgundy dates to at least the 16th century. Thomas and Vincent Morey belong to the 10th generation of the family and are the sons of the famed Bernard Morey. After their father died in 2005, they split the estate in 2006 with their first separate vintages in 2007.	The Morey family's history in Burgundy dates to at least the 16th century. Much of it is in the heart of the prestigious premier cru vineyards of Puligny-Montrachet.</li> <li>• Sauzet wines are superbly finished, fruity, full-bodied, and authoritative examples of white Burgundy. In the words of Robert Parker Jr., "This is one of the most serious estates in Burgundy. The wines are usually among the very best made...They are textbook white Burgundies, brimming with flavor, yet elegant and well-balanced."</li> <li>• After four generations and despite Sauzet's death in 1975, "Sauzet" are still six letters which ring as an homage to Chardonnay.</li> </ul>

SPECIAL NOTES	Domaine Ponsot was one of the first domaines to practice estate bottling, starting with the 1932 vintage.	Laurent was instrumental in uncovering the massive wine fraud committed by Rudy Kumiawan and was featured in the documentary about the incident, Sour Grapes . This experience led him to make revolutionary changes to Domaine Ponsot's packaging to prevent future counterfeiting.	The estate was one of the earliest to domaine bottle its wines.

SPECIAL NOTES	A loyal following among France's most esteemed restaurateurs sharply limits the availability of Dauvissat wines for export. Nonetheless, it is no surprise that they have attracted the praise and attention of critics worldwide.	The domaine has developed a worldwide reputation for fine winemaking in only stainless steel tanks.	For many years, Laurent Tribut's wines were actually made in the Dauvissat cellars, in the same manner and spirit as the now legendary Dauvissat wines.

KEY FACTS	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Located in Saint-Nicolas-de-Bourgueil in the Loire Valley, the Clos des Quarterons is a 92-acre vineyard owned by the Amirault family for over 180 years. Today the estate is owned and managed by Xavier and his wife, Agnès.</li> <li>• In the 1960s, Xavier's father purchased a large tuffeau stone quarry at a candle auction and transformed it into the Vau Renou cellar. The wines rest at a constant 55°F in the several hundreds of feet of galleries in the cellars.</li> <li>• The Amirault family feels very strongly about protecting the environment so they can make living wines capable of creating the "wow" factor each vintage. The goal of the Amirault family is to achieve a natural balance across all 53 plots of the estate in order to create unique and living wines.</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• The story of Bernier Chardonnay started in 1987, when Bernard Couillaud, his interest piqued by Chardonnay's potential in a maritime climate, planted Chardonnay in a fallow plot in the Muscadet area of the Loire Valley.</li> <li>• Over the course of three years, 42 acres of Chardonnay were planted, and eventually Sauvignon Blanc and Pinot Noir were also added to the line.</li> <li>• The Bernier wines are produced by the Couillaud family at the Château de la Ragotière, a few minutes from the Atlantic coast near the mouth of the Loire River. The spirit of these wines is to be "fruity, crisp, and mineral".</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• The history of Les Frères Couillaud began in 1979 when they purchased Château de la Ragotière, the former home of the noble family Lore de la Ragotière, who settled here in the 14th century.</li> <li>• The estate's vineyards are located in the eastern portion of Vallet, one of the newly established Muscadet Crus.</li> <li>• Whereas most Muscadets are left on the lees only a short time, all of the Ragotière wines are bottled sur lie. The wines are not racked after fermentation but are drawn directly off the lees and bottled immediately.</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• The Cherrier family has been a proprietor in Sancerre for three generations.</li> <li>• The domaine owns over 25 acres in and around the village of Amigny. Their holdings represent some of the finest plots of limestone soil (caillottes) in the appellation.</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Located in the heart of the Sancerre region, Domaine Delaporte is a family business that has been passed from father to son since the 17th century. Today, Matthieu Delaporte runs the estate.</li> <li>• Domaine Delaporte's wines are all made from grapes grown in estate vineyards which today extend to over 80 acres.</li> <li>• 35% of the vines are planted on flint soil (silex, quite rare in the area) and the other on limestone soil (caillottes and terres blanches).</li> </ul>

SPECIAL NOTES	The Maison Amirault was one of the first buildings in the village and served as the town hall and village school when it was first built. It has appeared on the labels as an emblem of the estate since its founding.	Daniel Haas, wine buyer for Vineyard Brands, became interested in the Bernier project, and in 1990, after having tasted it amongst several others, he was convinced of its potential, and Bernier was introduced to the US market.	Today, part of the original castle moat, the remarkable porch with its antique gates, and the chapel, which has been restored as a tasting room, still remain at the Château de la Ragotière. The cellar is a precious inheritance containing vintages dating back to 1947.	In addition to winemaking, the Cherriers are among the best producers of the famous goat cheese, Crottins de Chavignol.	In 1952, the wine of Gabriel Delaporte (Matthieu Delaporte's great-grandfather) was the first Sancerre imported into the US by Vineyard Brands founder, Robert Haas.

SPECIAL NOTES	The wine 'La Cuisine de ma Mère' translates from French to 'Mom's Cooking', and is meant to be a delicious and comforting wine.	Patient Cottat was a famous "Master Goldsmith" in mid-19th century France. Born in Paris, he loved the Berry region of the central Loire Valley. His legacy is perpetuated through these wines.	The owners' great love for France and the Royal Loire Valley, in particular, can be easily explained. For years, Joost has worked in various parts of France, hence his passion for the country's culture, history, and, of course, its wines. What's more, his family name de Willebois is originally French, and their family history dates back 900 years when his ancestors were living in France.

The family cellars are located in caverns hewn from the rolling hills which were once quarried to provide stone to construct the grand châteaux of the Loire. In fact, the Pichot home is itself part house and part cavern, with a dramatic hearth carved from the rock.

With a 40-acre land reserve, the estate will be able to pursue its growth and increase the production of these fine wines.</li> <li>• The terroir is magnificent and very specific. Situated in the Drôme Valley between Allex and Livron, the slopes are steep and south-facing with soils of limestone-clay and uplands of alluvial origin, all covered in worn pebbles.</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Domaine &amp; Maison Les Alexandrins came into being with the collaboration of three figures of the Northern Rhône Valley: Nicolas Jaboulet, sixth generation of a wine growing family in Tain l'Hermitage since 1834; Guillaume Sorrel, son of Marc Sorrel of Domaine Sorrel in Hermitage; and Alexandre Caso, specialist in the terroirs of the Northern Rhône.</li> <li>• In 2014, the desire of Alexandre and Guillaume to promote the Domaine Les Alexandrins wines and Nicolas' ambition to anchor Maison Nicolas Perrin in the heart of the Northern Rhône Valley led the three men to strengthen their cooperation. From 2015, Maison Nicolas Perrin took a majority share in Domaine Les Alexandrins, reflected in the change of name to "Domaine &amp; Maison Les Alexandrins".</li> <li>• Their collaboration made it possible to pursue the dream of Domaine Les Alexandrins - making Northern Rhône wines that embody pure classicism - and at the same time to transform Maison Nicolas Perrin and Maison Les Alexandrins to expand an offer already long acclaimed for its quality across all the appellations of the Northern Rhône.</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• The Ogier family has been rooted in Ampuis for seven generations. In 1983, Stéphane's father, Michel Ogier, decided to commercialize his wine at a time when Côte-Rôtie wines were booming around the world.</li> <li>• From the age of six, Stéphane knew he wanted to follow in his father's footsteps. In 1997, after completing his oenological studies in Beaune, Stéphane formally joined the family estate.</li> <li>• Stéphane was strongly influenced by Burgundy during his studies there. He learned about elegance and finesse, and today his wines are among the most delicate and subtle of Côte-Rôtie.</li> <li>• Domaine Stéphane Ogier produces wines from 27 acres of vineyards in some of the most famous Côte-Rôtie areas, such as Lancement, Côte-Rozier, and La Viallière.</li> </ul>

KEY FACTS	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Château de Beaucastel is one of the most renowned wine estates in the world and a reference point producer for wines from Châteauneuf-du-Pape.</li> <li>• Beaucastel is, first of all, a family story, the story of Famille Perrin. Their main strength is being able to blend the talents of each family member to run the wine estate under common values. The estate has been in the Perrin family since 1909; and Marc, Pierre, Thomas, Cécile, Charles, Matthieu, and César, the fifth generation, carry on the torch with their fathers, Jean-Pierre and François, guiding them.</li> <li>• Famille Perrin's values shine through in the wines of Château de Beaucastel: absolute respect for land and terroir, biodynamic culture as a philosophy of life, and the research of truth, balance, and elegance.</li> <li>• The first evidence of Château de Beaucastel as it exists today is in the 16th century. In 1549, Pierre de Beaucastel bought a "barn with a plot of land extending to 52 saumées at Coudoulet."</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Famille Perrin's cru range of wines enable you to discover the richness of the Southern Rhône Valley and its diverse terroirs. With the same expertise and the same passion as for Château de Beaucastel, the family prides itself in bringing out the true character of each terroir.</li> <li>• The Famille Perrin way makes each wine unique: using organic and biodynamic approaches, mastering the art of blending, and bringing out the freshness of the Southern Rhône aromas.</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Jean-Pierre Perrin established La Vieille Ferme over 45 years ago, when he chose to produce an inexpensive, straightforward Rhône wine to sell by direct mail to French wine lovers. He used the same grape varieties in similar proportions to those planted at the family's Château de Beaucastel and employed a similar vinification process.</li> <li>• The Perrin family, also owners of the famous Château de Beaucastel, search for the most suitable terroirs to produce fresh and fruity wines. Unpretentious, they are the archetypal pleasure wines: authentic, honest, and tasty.</li> <li>• La Vieille Ferme has continued its dedication to quality, value, and innovation with the introduction of a new and revolutionary method for producing sparkling wine in 2018, the Méthode Contemporaine.</li> </ul>

SPECIAL NOTES	The name Gradis'ciutta stems from a rural hamlet close to the winery. Before carrying this name, this place was known as Monsvini , which in Latin means "Mount of Wine". As a historical notary deed proves, already in 1780, the Princics were producing wine in Kosana.	When the Pinot Grigio grape was introduced to the Gorizia region in the second half of the 1800's, it immediately took to the soil and unique climate.	Andreas Kofler, President of Cantina Kurtatsch, was the youngest President in the history of Alto Adige wine cooperatives.	An enterprising, tenacious, and creative man, Giovanni Massolino was the very first person to bring the electricity to the village of Serralunga d'Alba.	The wines are distinguished by the rare Molinara Serego Alighieri clone, which survived phylloxera in the early 1900s thanks to 11 ancient vines planted inside the estate's courtyard in 1875.

SPECIAL NOTES		Umani Ronchi is named for founder Gino Umani Ronchi, who started a small farm in the Cupramontana region of the Marche in the 1950s.	Borgo Scopeto is a true borgo - a hamlet with its own church, post office, town center, and residences.	The origins of the place name "Caparzo" are still unknown. According to some people, the name is derived, as shown by ancient maps, from Co' Pazzo ; according to others, the term derives from the Latin Caput Arsum , indicating a "place touched by sun"	The name La Doga translates to "barrel stave" and also "creek" in the old Tuscan dialect of the area, while the Latin word Clavule translates to "vines" in English. The name was chosen because in the past a creek crossed this property of vines.

SPECIAL NOTES	Altano literally means "lofty", and this expression refers to the wind that blows above the Vilaça Valley between the two mountain walls on the side, the vento altano. This wind is what permits the bigger birds like the owls to soar above the property, looking for food. Since it is a well-preserved area and very untouched (organic viticulture), the Universidade de Trás-os-Montes e Alto Douro signed a protocol with the Symington Family to released rescued birds there, hence the owl on the label.	Quinta do Ataíde was the site of the rebirth of the now-iconic Touriga Nacional grape in the 1970s when Miguel Côte-Real grafted cuttings from pre-World War II vines.	Otima is now widely acknowledged as the most successful new development in the Port trade for over 25 years.	The Warre's name is synonymous with the history of the British in Porto. A Warre served as British Consul in Porto and the famous William Warre fought as an officer in the Peninsular War against Napoleon under the Duke of Wellington, who he also kept supplied with port.

SPECIAL NOTES	The farm's name means "ravine of the Boekenhout" (pronounced Book-n-Howed ). The Boekenhout is an indigenous Cape Beech tree greatly prized for furniture making, hence the seven chairs depicted on the label.	The Walker Bay district, surrounding the seaside town of Hermanus, is reputed for the Chardonnay and Pinot Noir wines. The cool climate is the sought-after attribute in this area where vineyards benefit from persistent cooling winds from the nearby ocean.	Helderberg translates to "clear" or "bright mountain".	Boekenhoutskloof proudly named the range after the Crested Porcupine, a most unique and fascinating inhabitant of their farm. Boekenhoutskloof is also involved in its conservation through a research project.

SPECIAL NOTES	Porseleinberg translates to "Porcelain Mountain" in English, named for the Kaolin clay in the soils which was used in the production of porcelain.	Since its first vintage in 2002, the quest to understand the name of this wine and the wine itself has become the stuff of legend.	This line of wines was named for a wolf trap found on the farm, a reminder that the Franschhoek Valley was once far wilder than it is today.	Marc Kent was the first to put the Syrah grape on the map with his now legendary 1997 vintage of Boekenhouts Kloof Syrah, and was also one of the first winemakers to realize the potential of the Swartland region.

SPECIAL NOTES	The property is named after Anthony's great-great-grandfather Lord Ashbourne, who was Lord Chancellor of Ireland in the late 1800s.	As the pioneer of Burgundian varieties in South Africa, Hamilton Russell's immensely successful wines have set the standard of quality and sophistication for South African wine.	The wines are named after the rare Southern Right whales, which frequent the cool South Atlantic Walker Bay, two miles from the vineyards. With each bottle sold, Southern Right makes a contribution to their conservation or conservation in the area.	The wine is named after the historic rural hamlet Tesselaarsdal, not far from Hemel-en-Aarde Ridge, where Berene was born. It was at Tesselaarsdal where Berene's ancestors once lived as freed slaves on land bequeathed to them in 1810 by former East India Company Settler, Johannes Tesselaar.

SPECIAL NOTES	"Essay" refers to the popular abbreviation for South Africa (SA) as well as implying an assemblage or blending of things to create a whole greater than its parts.	Lievland, directly translated, means "love land", and there are few who come to this farm that aren't charmed by its bucolic beauty. The label depicting Cupid riding a springbok is inspired by the name and a touching scene from when owners José Conde and Tyrrel Myburgh first visited the farm: two horses that had adopted a baby springbok.	The name "MAN" comes from the initials of the founders' wives: M for Marie Condé, A for Anette Myburgh, and N for Nicky Myburgh.	The name Kara-Tara refers to a small town near Knysna, where previous winemaker and initial partner Rüdger van Wyk grew up. Translated from the Khoisan, it means "deep dark shadows" and refers to the Karatara River that runs through the town.	Born in the USA, owner and winemaker José Conde moved to South Africa from Tokyo in 1997 because his wife Marie wanted to live closer to her parents who had bought the Jonkershoek property, Oude Nektar.

Eager to transform the farm back to its original purpose as an acclaimed boutique wine estate, Alexander and his brother-in-law, Gus Allen, changed the name to Constantia Glen. The first vines were planted in 2000 with the very first vintage of Sauvignon Blanc harvested in 2005.</li> <li>• Constantia Glen has a unique position cradled between the Constantiaberg and Table Mountain ranges, with predominantly northeast-facing slopes. KEY FACTS	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Influenced by the wines and winemaking practices of the Bordeaux region of France, Ric Forman has sought a similar perfection for the wines of Forman Vineyard in the pursuit of producing the finest quality possible from his estate.</li> <li>• After a 3-year search for the perfect location to fulfill his dream of producing, as a sole proprietor, small quantities of classically made Chardonnay and Cabernet Sauvignon, in 1983 Forman Vineyard was founded in the of Napa Valley. The winery is located of Howell Mountain overlooking the town of St. Helena.</li> <li>• Overall, Ric Forman grows his grapes on 88.5 acres of land split between three different parcels, each one planted to the four Bordeaux varieties, Cabernet Sauvignon, Cabernet Franc, Merlot, and Petit Verdot. These locations each contribute their subtle differences to the wine, the whole of which is a synergy of complexity.</li> </ul>
GREEN PRACTICES	• Regenerative Viticulture Practicing
SPECIAL NOTES	Ric Forman's winemaking philosophy follows a more traditional approach than the technological one, which appealed to him earlier in his career. It can be said that familiarity with European tradition has seriously influenced Ric's style and hence the fashion with which he designed and built his winery. Forman Vineyard has now operated for 40 years and has developed a reputation for producing elegant Bordeaux styled red wine and a uniquely graceful Chardonnay.

“In a world increasingly dominated by vast sums of capital and multinational firms it is difficult for a small wine importer to survive unless that company has considerable expertise and an unwavering commitment to quality rather than quantity [...] Imported by ‘Vineyard Brands’ is as close to a guarantee of quality as the consumer can expect.”

Robert Parker
WINE ADVOCATE

“Today Vineyard Brands represents reference point producers in just about every top wine region in the world[,]...both the breadth and quality of the portfolio is incredible. If you haven’t heard of Vineyard Brands, now’s a good time.”
