Fostering a Mindset for Excellence: A Call for Synergy

As I reflect on the conclusion of the first term, I recognize the need for a shift in the mindset and skill set to enhance our students' outlook. To bring about a meaningful transformation, it is crucial to establish a strong partnership between teachers and parents, working together in every detail of our children's growth. By guiding our students to set clear goals, embrace punctuality, develop good communication skills, and uphold strong values, we can encourage them to aim high. This collaboration will inspire students to strive for their best and unlock their full potential.

Along with academics, it's essential to focus on emotional intelligence, physical wellness, and social skills to prepare students for a balanced and fulfilling life. In today's tech-driven world, equipping students with the right digital skills while ensuring responsible use of technology is vital for their future success.

Abhivyaakti Ankhan

Dear Reader,

We are introducing a new element with this edition. Selected articles, poems or literary piece of students to be published with an aim to provide platform to express their views and opinions.

“The inner voice”

In a war-torn land far away,
I was all alone walking on dried clay, in the quest to find who I was,
turned to what most would call a nightmare.

Few faint dots, which turned out to be heads,
were scattered around, but they were not dead,
the closer I got, the stranger it became,
was I perplexed to find they were all the same.

Fragmented was I into different pieces, all of which fit into a single puzzle of my mind,
It all came to an end,
when I stopped to pretend.
