

ART VIEW

SPRING 2026

Dear members,

We are excited to kick off a new year at the Hunter following an engaging 2025 in which we welcomed over 60,000 guests (including 23,000 youth receiving free admission thanks to First Horizon’s support and ArtsBuild’s Imagine! program for area students) to view three very special exhibitions as well as works on loan to us through the Art Bridges Partner Loan Network. Additionally, the multiple programs we conducted both on and off campus offered opportunities for creativity, learning and community connection for people of every background. Click on this video to see a sample of our work with youth last year and read about our work with students from Dalewood Middle School on page 7.

We have another exciting year planned for you at the Hunter in 2026, beginning with the opening of our latest special exhibition, The Hunter Invitational V, generously sponsored by Pinnacle Financial Partners. A periodically recurring special exhibition that we debuted almost 20 years ago, The Hunter Invitational is an opportunity for the museum to present a unique look at the region’s visual arts landscape and to connect museum visitors with the work of significant artists in our area. This fifth iteration of the Hunter’s signature series features eight talented artists, selected by Hunter Chief Curator Nandini Makrandi after an intensive studio visit and review process, and offers a wide range of styles and mediums. Read more about the artists and their work on page 4.

As always, we will be offering a variety of public programs encouraging community engagement with the exhibition, from programming about and inspired by the works, to hands-on workshops and experiences with Invitational artists. Check out page 6 for the full list of exhibition-related programming.

This past year we launched an exciting new spring fundraiser, and we are pleased to announce that Terrace at Twilight will return in 2026! Mark your calendars now for April 24th and plan to join us for an evening of spring vibes and engaging activities, with stunning views and a theme that gets curiously and curiously. This is a party you won’t want to miss!

As we roll into 2026, please know how grateful we are for you, our members. Through your membership, you help the Hunter meet its mission of inspiring people from all walks of life and connecting them to creativity, knowledge, and ideas. Thank you. We look forward to inspiring you too and hope you will join us soon for a program, an event, or just a stroll through the museum.

THE HUNTER INVITATIONAL V

The Hunter began the Invitational exhibition series in 2007 to recognize the vibrant art scene of the Southeast while also examining its connection to broader trends in the art world. Unlike large, juried shows, the Invitational offers a more focused exploration of a select group of artists. Whether emerging or established, each artist in the exhibition expands the boundaries of their chosen mediums through innovative techniques, approaches, and subject matter. The artists were chosen over the course of a year, as Hunter Museum Chief Curator Nandini Makrandi conducted numerous studio visits across eastern and middle Tennessee, North Georgia, and northern Alabama.

The exhibition, presented by Pinnacle Financial Partners, will showcase new works and give visitors an opportunity to delight in the “discovery” of artists from their own communities.

Hunter Invitational V artists include:

Corrine Colarusso, a Boston native now living in Atlanta, specializes in vibrant botanical and landscape paintings inspired by the wetlands bordering Florida and Georgia.

Craig Drennen is an Atlanta-based painter whose current project focuses on intuitive creations inspired by the characters in Shakespeare’s play Timon of Athens.

Atlanta-based visual artist Amie Esslinger draws inspiration from “unseen processes that have large-scale ramifications,” using vibrant color palettes and found materials to interpret the hidden microscopic structure of the physical world.

Jerushia Graham is a papermaker, printmaker, book artist and fiber artist based in Atlanta, GA, who uses stark lines and high contrast to create “intimate, poetic observations about humanity.”

Collaborating artists Katie Hargrave (Chattanooga, TN) and Meredith Laura Lynn (Tallahassee, FL) work in a variety of mediums including photography, paper, and video to create installations examining the “complex narratives that unfold around so-called public land” and the intersection of environmentalism and material culture.

Althea Murphy-Price is an artist and educator from Knoxville, TN, who specializes in printmaking using synthetic hair and hair accessories to contemplate “the power of hair as a signifier of cultural self-identity.”

DALEWOOD MIDDLE SCHOOL & SILVER LININGS

Serving the community through educational experiences that bring art to life, the Hunter recently conducted a two-year program with students at Dalewood Middle School. Not only did the students learn about art and artists but they also had the opportunity to contribute to a special exhibition at the Hunter.

In year one, Hunter staff met with sixth graders at Dalewood, previewing with them art works in the Silver Linings: Celebrating the Spelman Art Collection exhibition to be featured at the Hunter the following year. Students responded by writing comments, poems, or short stories about the works they previewed. The following year, the student-written narratives were placed on labels that museum staff installed beside the respective works and the Dalewood students, now seventh graders, visited the Hunter to see their exhibition-inspired writings included in the exhibition.

Above: Athena Buxton, the Hunter's Manager of Outreach and Access Programs, at Dalewood Middle School giving students a preview of the Silver Linings exhibition.

Additionally, thanks to grant funding from Art Bridges, the students were able to travel with Hunter staff to Atlanta where they explored both the Spelman College campus and Spelman Museum of Fine Art and heard from museum curators and student interns, encouraging the students to imagine new creative and academic possibilities.

The Hunter looks forward to continuing its programming at Dalewood, offering windows into culture and heritage and inspiring, sparking curiosity, and building confidence in a new cohort of students this Spring.

Spectrum 2025, chaired by Julie and Patrick Stowe, transported guests to the Roaring '20s, celebrating Art Deco glamour, flapper fashion, and jazz-era energy through Thursday's silent auction "Speakeasy" and Saturday's "Gatsby Glamour Gala," complete with a live auction and dancing to a live band. The weekend also featured lively paddle raises on the River Terrace, where auctioneer Ken Jones kept the momentum high, culminating in a powerful museum paddle raise that reflected strong community support for the Hunter's programs and exhibitions. We extend our heartfelt thanks to the extraordinary 2025 Spectrum sponsors, as well as all table hosts, ticket purchasers, and bidders, who helped raise support for the museum.

NEW FACES AT THE HUNTER

Emily Espinosa, Guest Services Assistant Manager

Emily comes from a background in management and sales with a passion for the arts, and works to ensure the best visitor experience possible.

Maya Brown, Special Events Coordinator

Maya worked on the Events team as a bartender prior to being promoted to her new role, where she ensures client satisfaction at all Hunter events.

Aria Cooper, Development Assistant

With her BA in Arts Administration, Aria joins the Hunter's Development team to assist in membership and fundraising efforts.

SUPPORT THE HUNTER WITH AN ARTS PLATE

Did you know that choosing an arts specialty license plate is one of the easiest ways to support creativity across Tennessee? Each plate helps fund the Tennessee Arts Commission, which provides vital support to local art organizations—including the Hunter Museum. By simply swapping out your standard plate for an arts plate at your county clerk's office, you're not just updating your car—you're helping keep the arts thriving in our community. It's a small change that makes a big impact, and it lets you show your love for the arts everywhere you go!
