Student Petition:
c.org/ByJvj52Gd8

Every day we wake up with a new hope, with another chance at life. We get up even though, they see us as different. Even though, they try to close doors on us. Even when fear enters our homes.

Look at me closely, I'm just like you. I was born in the United States. Although that's not the case for many of us. We are still equal. No matter where we're from. No matter the language. I am human, and no one can take that away from me.

My parents walked for me. They endured weariness, silence, injustice. They worked in the shadows. They dreamed in whispers so that I could dream out loud.

And who would I be if I give up? If I stay where they told me to stay? If I accept being invisible?

Not me. I do it for them. For those who fight in silence. For those who still hope. For those who didn't give up.

We live here. We work here. We contribute. We feel the same.

And in the end, we are human, we are equal. Long live the homeland.

- Alexis Bobadilla Indiana Student

Thousands of students across Indiana are taking action in solidarity with their communities, often at personal risk. In response, many school administrations have attempted to silence them through disciplinary threats, suspensions, canceled activities, or threats of withholding graduation. Despite this pushback, students continue to organize, speak out, and stand together. This list honors the students who continue to take action despite the risks. Their courage deserves recognition and support.
