What We Do

In Student Affairs we recognize that this has been a challenging year of unknowns. We've had to adjust and change course at a moment's notice, create new approaches to our regular duties and activities, and discover new ways of connecting with one another. We continue to face these challenges head-on with commitment and resilience, achieving unexpected and even extraordinary things with the resources at hand.

What Our Work Means to the Campus

The Office of the Vice Chancellor, Student Affairs supports the division's goals and objectives through events and activities that promote student engagement. Our work is vital to the student experience ensuring that students have access to the full range of services offered by the division. Our work complements our students' academic experience by providing meaningful activities that meet students' interests while fostering their personal growth and development. In short, we strive to develop the whole student in preparation for life after UCI.

Major Accomplishments

In addition to providing leadership and support to programs and units in Student Affairs, notable efforts for the year included:

Commencement Ceremonies – For the second year in a row, we managed December Commencement in addition to our 10 June ceremonies.

Strategic Plan – Last year, we embarked on a strategic planning process in order for the division to plot the course for our work for the next 3 years. For this project, we acquired the services of NASPA Advisory Services and assembled a Strategic Plan Advisory Board. Additionally, we were intentional about getting feedback across our division through surveys and focus groups. We deliberately reached out to our Spanish speaking staff as well. This fall, we plan to debut our Strategic Plan at our Student Affairs update.

Orange County Veterans and Military Families Collaborative - The Orange County Veterans and Military Families Collaborative is in its 5th year of convening and coordinating over 100 non-profit agencies in Orange County that serve veterans and their families.

Campus Efforts on Asymptomatic Testing & Compliance – Communication and coordination of campuswide COVID-19 related messaging directed to students along with their parents and families with an additional focus on the cohort who continued to reside on campus in student housing.

Creative & Marketing Communications – Realigned priorities to serve all units within the division and expanded to add two full-time designers and three student positions on the team.

CampusGroups – Student Affairs implemented the CampusGroups platform to leverage UCI’s vibrant campus life into the digital realm. This campuswide engagement system promotes connection, collaboration and success by providing departments, units and campus organizations with feature-rich tools for organizational management, workflows, event promotion and management, scheduling, data gathering and more.

Esports – The online environment is familiar to esports players and gamers. UCI Esports transitioned easily by partnering with Campus Recreation’s intramural sports program offering a wider selection of games and supporting more tournaments.

The View Ahead

Our priorities will continue to focus on student development and well-being, and supporting staff in the post-COVID work environment. Our new mixed-mode work environment allows us to embrace new approaches to providing meaningful and innovative avenues for student success.
