STORAGE & SALE

BRITISH AND EUROPEAN STANDARDS

All Pyro Magic and Carnival Fireworks now comply with BSEN15947.(CE compliant)

VALUE ADDED TAX

All trade prices quoted are exclusive of VAT. All recommended retail prices include VAT at 20%. Should the VAT rate change, retail prices will be amended accordingly.

PLEASE NOTE

Prices shown were fixed at June 2025 and will be maintained unless dramatic increases in costs occur.

LICENSED STORAGE

Before the delivery of fireworks can take place you are required under the Explosive Regulations 2014 to licence your premises. Licencing fees can be obtained from your local issuing authority. Pyro Magic & Carnival Fireworks must see a copy of a valid licence and can only deliver to the address on that licence.

WEIGHT LIMITATIONS

Under the Explosive Regulations it is the method and location of your storage areas that will govern the amount you can store. Storage of 250kg Net Explosive Content (NEC) of Hazard Type 4 is the most common amount that retailers store but this can be increased and also include Hazard Type 3 product. Your local authority (licencing) department will be able to advise you. You should not automatically assume that your shop will be suitable to store the maximum amount.

FIREWORK REGULATIONS

Without a special "all year licence" retailers can only sell fireworks at the following times:

15th October - 10th November (Bonfire period).

26th - 31st December (New Year period).

The day of Diwali and three days prior.

The first day of the Chinese New Year and three days prior.

A poster, which should be provided by your supplier, relating to the illegality of under 18's possessing fireworks, must be displayed in full view of the buying public. It is now illegal to supply a firework which has a decibel level over 120 dB A-Imax. All Pyro Magic & Carnival Fireworks comply with this regulation. In the unlikely event of a retailer selling a quantity of fireworks in excess of 50kg NEC to any one purchaser, a record must be kept of the name and address of the purchaser, plus the weight of the consignment. Please consult Pyro Magic & Carnival Fireworks for further information.

Contents may vary from Illustrations shown. Errors & omissions excepted.
