A Light In The Storm

Introducing Mackenzie Thorpe's latest sculpture, inspired by the poignant image of the same name he created in 2020.

'A Light In The Storm', captures the essence of love, hope and resilience.

This thought provoking sculpture, transports viewers to a scene of reflection. Symbolism abounds... the couple sitting together at the edge of a slightly fragile jetty, cradling their shared love, around them hearts are carried along the water, the tide of time carrying love into the world.

A barren windswept tree emerges from rocky ground, bare of leaves, but with gleaming hearts hanging from it's branches

Each heart is individually hand polished and meticulously crafted, venturing into territories new Mackenzie has experimented with different coloured patinas, layering and layering until all the elements are unique.

'A Light In The Storm' reminds us that love can weather any storm and remain a constant guiding force.

Embark on this journey with Mackenzie and let his creation guide you to a place where hearts gleam, storms
subside, and love triumphs.

Through the darkness
A light will shine
Forever
Through the mists and storm,
Of time

A Light In The Storm In The Making

Each section of the sculpture has been carefully treated with the desired patina colour, layer by layer. This process required a keen eye and skillful application to achieve the desired depth and variation in colour. Mackenzie worked closely with the artisans, ensuring that the patinas aligned with his artistic vision.

Every heart has been individually hand polished, further emphasising their significance and symbolic meaning.

This meticulous handwork added a personal touch to the sculpture and showcases Mackenzie's dedication to his craft. The combination of the four different hue patinas, along with the hand-polished highlights and individually polished hearts, brings this sculpture to life, evoking a sense of depth, emotion, and beauty.
