GREENWICH ACADEMY

Thank you!

Head of School and Barrier Breaker Margaret L. Hazlett joined the Lower School assembly to talk about her participation in an aquabike competition representing Team USA at the World Championship Finals in Wollongong, Australia this fall.

Letter from the Head of School

MARGARET L. HAZLETT

Dear Friends,

Grounded in and guided by our mission, we enter into Greenwich Academy's 199th year full of purpose—and joy. As we stand on the brink of GA's bicentennial, we are not just looking back at our rich history, but also forward to a future full of possibilities.

Our theme this year of Barrier Breakers resonates deeply—our teachers are innovators, creating extraordinary educational experiences that inspire curiosity and ignite discovery. Our students, in turn, embrace challenges, stretching themselves in the classroom, on the playing fields, and on the stage. Whether a student's passion is running, dance, drama, math, literature, or still to be determined, they have the capacity to be that next barrier breaker. Our dedicated teachers serve as role models and encourage students to take risks, think “outside the box,” and approach learning with confidence.

This dynamic educational environment is made possible by your generosity, which strengthens programs, expands resources, and ensures every girl has the opportunity to thrive. In partnership with our outstanding faculty, we are cultivating an environment that encourages curiosity, fosters innovation, and empowers our girls to explore their passions and potential. Thank you for all you do to make that happen.

I am energized by the signature GA moments we share as part of this vibrant community and inspired each day by the talent of our faculty and the spirit of our students. Rooted in a tradition of excellence, GA is moving into its next chapter with a renewed focus on academics, athletics, wellness, and cultivating tomorrow's leaders. Across the Molly H. King, Main, and Glenville campuses, we are pursuing priorities that drive continued growth and innovation in education.

Together, we step into GA's 200th year with celebration, purpose, and bold ambition, ready to shape the next chapter of our story.

With gratitude,

Margaret L. Hazlett

Letter from the Chair of the Board

ALEX STEEL SCOTT '00

What makes Greenwich Academy remarkable is not just its nearly 200 years of history, but the vibrant community that continues to shape its future. It is with deep gratitude and excitement that I step into the role of Board Chair, and I am honored to lead this work alongside such an extraordinary group of trustees, families, faculty, and alumnae.

I also want to acknowledge Andra Winokur Newman '95, P'28, '32—our first alumna to hold this role—whose steady and inspiring leadership guided GA through the head of school transition. Serving with Andra was a privilege, and I am committed to carrying forward her legacy of strength and vision as we enter this next chapter together. This year's theme, Barrier Breakers, captures GA's spirit of courage, innovation, and determination to keep moving forward. It resonates deeply with the historic bicentennial we are approaching—a once-in-a-generation moment to reflect on our past, celebrate the present, and imagine the future.

The past year offered powerful examples of how the dedication of this community propels GA forward. Our accomplishments were made possible by the hard work of our volunteers and parent leaders, and by the board of trustees' commitment to ensuring financial stability and advancing GA with our girls at the forefront. Thanks to the foresight of our investment committee, GA's endowment reached $154.6 million at the close of fiscal year 2025. The 2024-2025 Annual Fund raised more than $3.6 million, with 93% parent participation. Equally inspiring, 35% of our alumnae contributed—well above peer benchmarks. Special thanks go to Annual Fund Chair Annie Day Thorp '02, P'31, '33; Parent Giving Co-Chairs Marisa Noel Brown '95, P'27 and Erica Naidorf P'34; Alumnae Giving Chair Marianne Chohnoky Kay '75; and Grandparent Giving Co-Chairs Linda and Tim O'Neill P'17, GP'37, '38. The Class of 2025 Fund raised $669,621 with 91% participation from senior parents, expanding GA's Career Resource Center, thanks to the leadership of Co-Chairs Maree and Gio Cutaia P'25, Alicia Tranen and Dave Leyrer P'25, and Paget and Campbell MacColl P'25, '30. I am also grateful to last year's GAPA President, Cristin deVeer '31, whose leadership secured a $45,278 gift for the renovation of the Upper School Student Center. And our Sail Away With GA Benefit, co-chaired by Graci Djuranovic '99 P'34 and Isabel Phillips P'35, '37, '39, raised $367,073 in support of the Athletic Excellence Fund. Each gift, each effort, is part of the larger story of how this community continues to invest in its girls and in the future of the school.

As we move toward the bicentennial, I know this community will continue to break barriers, strengthen traditions, and chart bold new paths. Together, we will write the next chapter of Greenwich Academy's story—one that reflects the strength of our history and the promise of an even brighter future.

Warmly,

Alexandra Steel Scott '00, P'34, '36

Letter from the GA Parents Association President 2024–2025

CRISTIN DeVEER

As I reflect on the 2024–2025 school year, I want to begin by highlighting the heart and soul of GAPA—our incredible community.

Community is at the core of everything we do, and we strive to make every decision with this value in mind. From that perspective, this year was truly fantastic. The GA parent community showed up in force—eager to engage, volunteer, and participate in every aspect of school life. I was extremely fortunate to have an outstanding Board that worked tirelessly throughout the year. Thanks to everyone's efforts, GAPA is in a vibrant and very strong place.

Throughout the year, the Greenwich Academy Parents Association remained dedicated to our mission: to enhance school activities and facilities through service and fundraising. This work was made possible by a committed team of parent volunteers and the support of a warm, engaged school community.

We kicked off the year with a well-attended Annual Dinner and hosted countless parent meetings and socials that built strong connections across all divisions. Spirit Day saw record-breaking attendance as students enjoyed food trucks, bounce houses, arts and crafts, and plenty of green and gold swag—all while cheering on our amazing athletes.

Our Friday Afters team provided exciting weekly programming for Lower School girls, and the Holiday Boutique had another successful year, launching earlier in the season to get ahead of the holidays. The Clothing Nook continued its great success at both its Lower School and Wallace Performing Arts Center locations, ensuring easy access to gently-used uniform items for all families.

The Faculty and Staff Appreciation Committee raised over $40,000, which funded a wonderful spring breakfast and other initiatives celebrating our beloved faculty and staff.

The Book Fair offered something for everyone, including a magical kick-off party featuring a magician, arts and crafts, sold-out merchandise, a special reading by Margaret, and the introduction of a new Book Drive tradition.

Charter Day was another highlight with record-breaking attendance as we came together to celebrate GA's birthday. Our annual Benefit was a major success, raising an impressive $367,073 to support the Athletics Excellence Fund.

Thanks to the dedication of our volunteers and the generosity of the community, GAPA was able to gift $45,278 toward the renovation of the Upper School Lounge—a meaningful contribution that will enhance student life for years to come.

On a personal note, I am deeply grateful for the opportunity to have led GAPA this year. It was an honor to serve alongside such passionate and talented parents, and to work closely with GA's remarkable administration, faculty, and staff. I especially enjoyed collaborating with Margaret Hazlett, whose leadership continues to inspire.

I am excited to pass the baton to this year's GAPA president, Susannah Heyworth P'27, '29, '32, who has a fantastic board in place and will no doubt lead with dedication and vision throughout the 2025–2026 school year.

Warmly,

Cristin deVeer P'31

ANNUAL FUND

ENDOWMENT AND DEBT

THE GAP

Each year independent schools, private colleges, and universities face a shortfall between tuition and the actual cost of educating a student. This deficit, referred to as “the gap,” is relieved partially by unrestricted gifts made to the Annual Fund. Tuition alone covers only 77% of the actual cost of a GA education; the remaining 23% is made up of endowment allocations, income from other revenue, and the Annual Fund. Each year, the Annual Fund contributes approximately 7% of the operating budget, or $4,382 per student, completing the GA experience for all our girls.

WHAT IS ANNUAL GIVING?

Annual giving is a yearly fundraising effort to support Greenwich Academy’s operating expenses. Gifts to the Annual Fund have a direct impact on all aspects of our program—the students, the faculty, and the academic, athletic, artistic, technological, and extracurricular life of the school. These unrestricted funds are central to a GA education and make it possible for GA to offer students and teachers the finest resources available.

WHY CONTRIBUTE?

Beyond helping GA meet its immediate financial needs, participation in the Annual Fund demonstrates one’s confidence and belief in a Greenwich Academy education. The strength of the Annual Fund is based on the school’s longstanding tradition of excellence. This legacy will continue with ongoing support from all members of the GA community.

CLASS OF 2025 FUND FOR THE CAREER RESOURCE CENTER

As graduates prepare to lead lives of purpose and impact beyond GA's campus, GA's CRC will be there for them every step of the way. Fittingly, the parents of the Class of 2025 generously established the Class of 2025 Fund for the Career Resource Center to honor their daughters' GA experience and to pave the way for members of this wonderful class as well as all GA alumnae to have access to the incredible career networking connections and opportunities the Center offers. This endowed fund will augment and enhance the CRC by providing support for increased staffing, networking events, speakers, marketing materials, stipends, and an exciting new online platform.

GREENWICH ACADEMY CAREER RESOURCE CENTER

Mentorship. Opportunity. Connection.

Powered by the strength of the GA network and 12twenty.

The Career Resource Center at Greenwich Academy is evolving.

With 12twenty, GA students & alumnae gain personalized mentorship, curated job opportunities, and tools for every stage of their professional journey.

*“The GA network truly comes to life to support these girls.”
~ GA Parent & Mentor*

*“The Career Resource Center gave me so much. Now, I’m ready to give back, just like those who came before me.”
~ CRC Mentee '20*

Join us as we connect generations of GA barrier breakers.

Middle School World Languages Teacher, Lee Bruner

Kia Ora from New Zealand

This July I had the privilege of traveling to Aotearoa, New Zealand with the Institute for Global Learning for a professional development program on sustainability in education. Over the course of 11 days, our cohort of educators explored national parks across the South Island, engaged with Māori teachers and community leaders, and learned how indigenous worldviews might be integrated into educational practice.

Central to the program was the Māori principle of kaitiakitanga, guardianship of the land and water. In New Zealand, this concept is not limited to science or environmental studies; rather, it is woven throughout the national curriculum as a collective responsibility. I witnessed this ethos in action when our group was unexpectedly stranded for two days due to flash flooding. Schools, businesses, and local organizations immediately mobilized to support recovery, and within a day students were already researching how to replant native trees on former logging sites to reduce the risk of future flooding. It was an extraordinary example of resilience and applied learning.

Equally striking was the way educators cultivate a sense of belonging to the natural world from an early age. In Māori introductions, it is customary to name one's mountain and river as part of one's personal identity. On our first day, our guide lifted water from a stream and explained, "This is Papatūānuku, our Mother Earth. Please treat her with respect." That deep cultural connection to place challenged me to think about how we at Greenwich Academy might create more opportunities for students to develop meaningful relationships with the land and ecosystems around them. The Glenville property offers a remarkable space for such learning, and I would love to see us build more structured opportunities for outdoor exploration into the curricula for all ages, whether that means tree and wildlife identification, field-based sustainability projects, or simply creating intentional time for reflection in nature.

The program also offered moments of adventure that highlighted the beauty and diversity of Aotearoa: co-piloting a small plane into the fjords of Milford Sound, cycling 50 kilometers through alpine passes, swimming with dolphins, and hiking segments of New Zealand's famed Great Walks. Equally impressive was that nearly every lodge, restaurant, and resort we visited operated as zero-waste and without single-use plastics, a reminder that systemic change is possible when sustainability becomes a shared cultural norm.

This journey was both personally and professionally transformative. New Zealand has long been a destination I hoped to visit, but to experience it through the lens of education and sustainability provided insights far beyond tourism. I returned inspired by the ways Māori values of stewardship and community can shape our approach, and grateful for the opportunity to consider how we might equip our students to be thoughtful caretakers of the land and water that sustain us all. In doing so, we continue Greenwich Academy's mission to prepare students to be globally minded citizens, equipped to care for our shared world, and confront the realities of climate change.

2025 CAROL B. SEIDLER AWARD

Group III Head Teacher, Jana Clevenger

Road Tripping America's National Parks

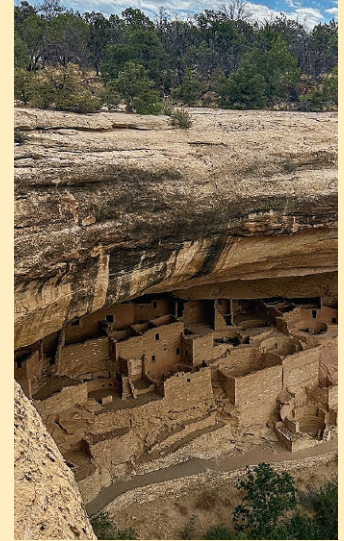

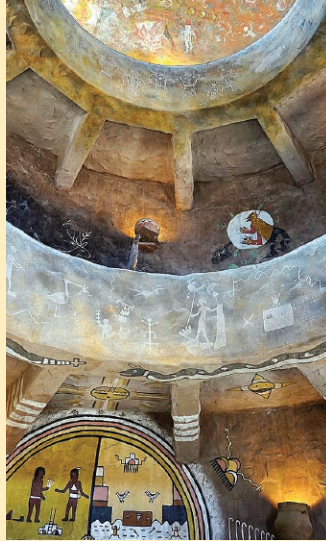

This past summer I had an opportunity that would not have been possible without the generosity of the Seidler family. I was able to curate an expedition that allowed me to see how Native culture and history are being represented by the U.S. National Park Service in three Southwestern National Parks: The Grand Canyon, Zion, and Mesa Verde.

This firsthand experience provided a depth of understanding that cannot be matched by secondhand information alone. As the Group III curriculum continues to evolve, creating a more robust National Parks unit remains an ongoing goal. With that in mind, I hoped my trip would allow me to transform ideas my students find more abstract into tangible lessons. By learning through experience, I also wanted to model curiosity and critical thinking to encourage my students to interrogate their own ideas or understandings of the world around them while emphasizing diverse and historically accurate perspectives. When history is presented from a one-sided viewpoint, it often distorts the truth, erases marginalized voices, and immortalizes myths that can shape public opinion and policy in harmful ways. To keep from being thwarted in my endeavor by perpetuated historical untruths and AI generated analysis, I set off on a three-week road trip to do my own research.

First Stop: Visiting the Hopi House, Desert View Watchtower, and Tusayan Ruins in The Grand Canyon National Park provided valuable insights into the daily life, beliefs, and traditions of the Ancestral Puebloan people who lived in the region over 800 years ago. The Hopi House displayed pottery, tools, jewelry, art, and other artifacts that told the story of a sophisticated and resourceful community. The ruins—a small, preserved village site—offered a tangible connection to the past, showing the layout of homes, storage rooms, and a kiva (a ceremonial structure), all of which revealed how people lived together and maintained their cultural practices. The Desert View Watchtower, designed in 1932 by architect Mary Colter, was intentionally built to reflect Indigenous architectural styles and to honor the cultural heritage of the region's Native tribes. Inside, there were murals, symbols, and artwork created by Hopi artist Fred Kabotie, which depicted Hopi cosmology, migration stories, and spiritual beliefs. This space gave insight into how the Grand Canyon is viewed not just as a geologic marvel, but as a sacred place filled with cultural meaning and ancestral memory.

Second Stop: The petroglyphs in Zion National Park offered a direct and powerful connection to the Native cultures that have inhabited the region for thousands of years, particularly the Southern Paiute and earlier Ancestral Puebloan peoples. The ancient rock carvings are more than just art—they are a form of communication, storytelling, and cultural expression. Seeing the petroglyphs gave me a window into how these Native people observed the world around them, including their relationships with animals, celestial events, and the land itself. While some symbols represented spiritual beliefs, hunting practices, migration stories, or tribal identities, they all reflected a deep cultural and spiritual understanding of place and time. Importantly, these petroglyphs reminded me that Zion is a cultural landscape shaped by generations of Indigenous presence. I realized that with the grandeur of the natural landscape, it was easy to allow myself to miss an important opportunity to connect with the land on a deeper level. The petroglyphs that are etched into the Navajo Sandstone throughout Zion demand a level of respect, reflection, and curiosity that encouraged me to consider the long and continuing history of Native peoples in the region. Learning about the petroglyphs also highlights the importance of preserving these irreplaceable cultural resources.

Last Stop: The cliff dwellings at Mesa Verde National Park are arguably one of the most important archaeological sites I have had the chance to visit. Built by Ancestral Puebloans over 700 years ago, the stone and adobe structures are tucked into the alcoves of canyon walls, highlighting the remarkable engineering and craftsmanship of the Puebloans. Viewing these structures allowed me to consider the deep understanding of sustainable living that was required to occupy such spaces. The dwellings continue to be a living testament to the extensive history of Native peoples in the Southwest and remain spiritually and culturally meaningful to their descendants today. Having the opportunity to be guided by a member of the immediate tribal community was a special privilege and allowed me to learn that many Native Peoples (the Hopi, Zuni, and Pueblo) still come to Mesa Verde to connect with their enduring heritage and conduct spiritual practices and ceremonies.

As my exploration came to a close it was made more obvious to me that for Native peoples, these parks are not just protected wilderness areas—they are living homelands that carry the memory, identity, and spiritual presence of their ancestors. Having been fortunate enough to walk inside cliff dwellings, look across the Grand Canyon from the Desert View Watchtower, consume Native art in the Hopi House, and hear first-hand from a member of the Hopi tribe about the lives of his ancestors, my understanding and connection to the importance of cultural representation doesn't feel quite as intangible to pass on to my students. A key takeaway from this endeavor was the importance of expanding opportunities for Native rangers, educators, and artists to share their knowledge directly to help bridge gaps in understanding. I learned the most from the park guide at Mesa Verde, whose connection to the land gave his message a resonance it might not have had otherwise. The inclusion of tribal nations in the representation of their own historical past and future should be standard across the globe, not just as consultants, but as collaborators and co-authors. This includes incorporating Native languages, contemporary Indigenous perspectives, and oral histories into educational materials, as well as supporting tribally-led programs and cultural events. Ultimately, better representation and understanding means moving beyond symbolic acknowledgment to meaningful inclusion—recognizing that these lands are not just protected wilderness areas, but ancestral homelands with rich, ongoing Indigenous connections. By including multiple perspectives—especially those historically excluded or misrepresented—we create a more honest and inclusive record of human experience. This not only deepens our understanding, but also promotes empathy, critical thinking, and a more just society.

“DON’T EVER GIVE UP”

—MOE TARRANT

GA legend Moe Tarrant retired this spring after 24 incredible years of dedicated service to Greenwich Academy.

To recognize his tremendous contributions as teacher, coach, and advisor, five generous GA families—The Amicucci, Farrell, Ireland, Ketchum, and Taussig Families—came together to honor Moe’s GA legacy in a meaningful and lasting way by establishing the Moe Tarrant Athletic Scholarship Fund, an endowed fund that will provide partial scholarship support, including extras, for student-athletes. Moe’s spirit, goodwill, leadership, mentorship, coaching, and deep compassion have left a lasting imprint on the GA community, and this fund will help ensure that promising student-athletes can benefit from the full GA experience—both in the classroom and in their athletic pursuits—regardless of financial circumstances.

Thank you to the members of the GA community who joined in to contribute to this fund that will carry Moe’s legacy forward for generations to come. If you would like to make a gift, please contact Director of Advancement Amy O’Reilly Rizzi ’91 at arizzi@greenwichacademy.org.

Ruth West Campbell, headmistress from 1925 to 1955, spent more than 30 years at Greenwich Academy and left a legacy of commitment and innovation. To perpetuate her vision, the Ruth West Campbell Society was established in 1990 to recognize those individuals who have made a charitable provision for Greenwich Academy in their estate plans. The estate receives an estate tax charitable deduction for that provision. By joining the Ruth West Campbell Society, you can make a significant contribution that will benefit generations to come.

Honoring the Legacy of

Suzanne Eberson Adams '59

Greenwich Academy remembers, with deep gratitude and admiration, the life and legacy of Suzanne Eberson Adams '59, whose recent passing left a profound void in our community. Remembered for her effervescent spirit, radiant smile, sharp fashion sense, and boundless vitality, Suzanne embodied a life devoted to uplifting others.

After graduating from GA, Suzanne attended Mount Holyoke College before embarking on a pioneering path in finance, becoming one of the early women to work at a brokerage desk. She later distinguished herself in real estate, where she paired sharp business acumen with her innate warmth and approachability. Equally committed outside of her professional life, Suzanne offered her time and energy to altruistic causes through service to the Christian Science Church and its Reading Room, the GA Alumnae Board, and through quiet acts of kindness within the local community. Suzanne was a renaissance woman whose varied interests included traveling, reading, fitness, and biking, yet her heart was fullest when spending time with her treasured grandchildren, Susanna and Erik Soelberg.

For Greenwich Academy, Suzanne was a constant presence and a cherished friend. She rarely missed alumnae events, bringing her trademark enthusiasm to gatherings such as the Alumnae Board's annual holiday party, where her warmth and cheer lifted the entire room. Her sudden loss is deeply felt by her classmates and fellow alumnae, yet her big-hearted spirit continues to illuminate GA through her enduring generosity. In her eulogy for Suzanne, former director of alumnae Megan Tyre '88 shared, "As we move forward, let's all consider taking on an act of kindness in Suzanne's honor and to aspire to live as she did—with energy, curiosity and empathy."

Suzanne's final gift to GA was made through the Ruth West Campbell Society, which recognizes those who include the school in their estate plans. Named for GA's cherished former headmistress, who served from 1925 to 1955, and established in 1990, the Society honors alumnae, parents, and friends whose planned gifts—whether through bequests, trusts, life insurance policies, or real estate—help ensure GA's strength for future generations. In making this commitment, Suzanne joined a community of visionary donors whose legacies extend far beyond their lifetimes.

Her gift, like her presence, will continue to shape GA for years to come. Suzanne Ebersson Adams '59 embodied the spirit of generosity and connection that defines Greenwich Academy. Through her life of service and her lasting gift, she continues to inspire us all.
