WHERE YOUR HISTORY IS CREATED

De Historiske – historic hotels & restaurants – is a unique membership organisation containing many of Norway's most charming hotels and restaurants. A very definite perception of the responsibilities of the proprietor is required to qualify, with the relating of history forming the setting for the guests' own overnight stay and gastronomic experience. Our aim is to use the past as a backdrop for our guests, to enable them to create their own history based on experiences. It is our hope that these narrations may continue to live in the memories of our guests long after their return home.

Although the members of De Historiske each have their own distinctive character, you will find that they have features in common: a warm welcome, good service, a friendly atmosphere and high quality in every respect. The quality standards that the group has in common ensure a generally high standard in the group, and our values of "hospitable", "personal" and "quality conscious" shall aid us in achieving our shared vision: Take your story home.

Welcome!

A WEALTH OF EXPERIENCE IN HISTORIC SURROUNDINGS!

De Historiske historic hotels & restaurants are visible evidence of our past. At the same time, they are evidence that the past continues to live in the present. We want to offer our guests experiences against the backdrop of our history, so that they in turn have their own stories to recount in the future. Thus you create your own history. The members of De Historiske are brimming with experiences, both inside and outside. Here are some examples:

Outdoor activities

Play a round or two of golf, try your luck at angling, go hunting or horse riding, play a little tennis, take a dip in the pool, feel the wind in your sails, go downhill skiing, soak up the landscape from a horse and carriage, or go glacier walking. All these activities and more are available in the vicinity of De Historiske.

A romantic excursion, or time for yourself!

Leave the hustle and bustle, and enjoy a little time with your loved one. Our luxury settings or delightful wellbeing centres will undoubtedly spoil you and revitalize you to cope with a hectic everyday life.

Delicious food and wines

Our members offer some of the best available in the choice of food and wines. You are served in a style that transforms your meal into a feast. Dinner is served!

Our multi-faceted culture

A multitude of cultural experiences await you both at the De Historiske and in their surroundings. If you are interested in cultural history, pictorial art, arts and crafts, architecture, music or interior decorating, a tour of our member hotels is an experience in itself. If you want to go to museums, theatres or exhibitions, or to enjoy the landscape, whether natural or cultural, you will find just about all you want within a short distance of our members.

HISTORIC HOTELS

Our hotels are not “ordinary” hotels. They are landed estates, country houses, manors, large and small timber-built hotels in pseudo-Swiss and Jugend (Art Nouveau) style, old coaching inns and many more historic buildings that have been transformed into beautiful, small, romantic hotels. This, and the passion we feel about our role as hosts, is what primarily characterises De Historiske!

A stay at one of our hotels is above all about giving you a warm, personal and welcoming experience in an atmosphere of real quality where the focus is always on the guest. We offer fine cuisine based on the very best ingredients, vintage wines from our wine cellars, original artworks on the walls, cultural experiences of the highest quality, interiors and decorations based on long traditions, first-class service and comfort, exciting history, a romantic atmosphere, peace and quiet, spa treatments, golf and much, much more. Our hotels represent much more than a comfortable bed and a good meal: first and foremost we represent a rich diversity of experiences and activities, both indoors and outdoors. Your challenge is to choose something you don't want to miss! No matter what you choose, we will always do our best to make you feel that this is “a good place to be”.

Welcome!

Welcome to Bekkjarvik Gjestgiveri and Beckerwyc House – where timeless traditions meet the exclusive and modern. A destination that offers the best of both past and future. The history at Brakanes Hotel started in 1860 when the coachman Sjur ran a local coach station that provided transport of both people and goods. Today's hotel was rebuilt after the second world war and was completed in 1952. We are situated on the edge of the Hardangerfjord with majestic mountains and fjord views. Enjoy a well-deserved break in one of our newly renovated fjordview rooms and experience the sauna after a refreshing swim in the fjord. In Restaurant Draumen you can enjoy local food from the farms in Ulvik, with local world-class cider. The hotel is a great starting point for an active holiday but also for a well-deserved rejuvenating break. Experience the local area and its history via the fjords, where rib-boats and sea planes are often used for discovery. We look forward to hosting you!

Energihotellet is a design hotel situated in the small village of Nesflaten along RV13 (highway 13), midway between Trolltunga and Preikestolen. The hotel was designed in the 1960s by the renowned architect Geir Grung and built as part of Norsk Hydro's power plant, Røldal-Suldal Kraft. The hotel has many original features such as our gilded fireplace and collection of lounge chairs by Sven Ivar Dysthe. The functionalist-brutalist architecture challenges our preconceptions of the building style we would expect to see in a small village in Western Norway. There's no disputing that Fossheim is in a remote corner of the world, tucked under high peaks and steep mountain-sides in Lom. But don't rush past Lom; stop for a while, take a break and experience life at Fossheim. The hotel started out as a posting inn and opened in 1897 by the family Th. Garmo. It is now run by the third and fourth generations of the same family. Timber houses, built in harmony with good building tradition, and the hotel's art and antiques help to create a special atmosphere you are sure to enjoy. A large courtyard with several old timber houses adds a special flavour. The tradition of hospitality at Balholm stretches back to 1752. The Kvikne family, who own the hotel, took over in 1877, marking the start of fast-paced development, which continues to this day. The hotel was built in the Swiss chalet style and the original character of the place has been left unchanged despite several new buildings, rebuildings and extensions. Kviknes is a modern hotel with soul and atmosphere, and is one of the most traditional hotels in Norway. The hotel has 190 rooms: 25 rooms in the historic Swiss chalet-style building and 165 in the modern building from the 1960s (Late modernism). The story of Lillesand Hotel begins in 1837 when the Irish rebel Robert Gonsalvo Major fled his homeland and settled in Lillesand. He built a bark mill and tannery, in which the oldest part of the hotel has its origins. The hotel first opened in 1873, when Lillesand experienced its glory days as a shipping town. Lilløy Lindenberg sits on its own small island just outside Bergen, where life follows the rhythm of tides, wind and light. With space for only ten guests, it feels less like a hotel and more like a shared home – shaped by the landscape that surrounds it. Days unfold slowly – swimming from the rocks, foraging, cooking together, or simply watching the weather pass. Architecture and interiors are guided by the island itself, using honest materials and tactile details that blur the line between inside and out. At Lilløy, luxury is quiet and unforced – found in presence, simplicity and the feeling of being deeply connected to nature.

In 2015, Rjukan-Notodden Industrial Heritage Site was inscribed on UNESCO's World Heritage List. The site has been included because of the region's industrial history, based around the establishment and development of Norsk Hydro's power stations, factories, local amenities and transport systems – dating from 1905. The company's founder, Sam Eyde, had the residence for entertaining built at Rjukan in 1908. Popularly known as 'Admini', the building was also his first office in Rjukan. In 1897, our great-grandfather bought the old trading post at Støtt. He dried fish caught by local fishermen, salted countless barrels of herring, produced cod liver oil, and ran shipping services and a busy country store. Today, a new generation of proprietors continues to enhance and develop Støtt Old Trading Post. It is restored and upgraded with modern amenities. Restaurant Gammelbutikken proudly prepares dishes from the freshest fish and the finest locally sourced ingredients. Your luxurious lodgings offer warm down duvets, and the salty sea breeze is conducive to a good night's sleep. At the top of the Helgeland coast, Støtt is surrounded by thousands of islets, sandy beaches, crystal-clear seas and towering mountains. It's a magnificent setting for a wide range of seaborne and land-based activities. Welcome to Støtt, the perfect base for your Helgeland adventures!

The Storaas Sisters' hotel is situated on the property of Moen Farm, a small farm built during the 1750s. Today the farm hosts a beautiful garden with herbs and vegetables as well as free range pigs and sheep all through summer, and a high-tech hydroponics plant that provides the hotel with fresh ingredients all year round. At the hotel, you can experience our unique family history. It all started when we inherited a crocodile – which it turned out had eaten our great-great-grandfather's dog! Our great-great-grandfather also had eight daughters with three different women, from three different continents during the beginning of the 1900s. This led us to collect multiple exciting family stories from all over the world! Today, these stories inspire everything we do.

It started, like any good love story, with a bucket of fish in a dogyard. Johnny Trasti came by to deliver the fish to feed Trine Lyrek's huskies and invited himself in for a cup of coffee. The rest is history. Two creative souls found each other and built a family based on each of their passions; food and dogsledding. Johnny is a trained chef with more than 30 years of experience, who has won national recognition. He moved back from Oslo to Alta to challenge himself as a chef and to use the amazing ingredients that you can only find in the very north. Trine, on the other hand, found her passion through a love for nature and a discovery that there is no better way to experience it than from the dogsled. This is a passion that Trine's daughter, Hanna Lyrek, who is also an important part of Trasti and Trine, inherited and is carrying on both through guiding and competitive dogsledding.

Situated a few kilometers from the coast of Southern Norway, you find the elegant and quaint Boen Gård. The estate was closed to the public until it opened its doors in 2012. Today, Boen Gård appears just as splendid as in its former glory days. The buildings, the park, and the outdoor areas have been restored. The main house boasts a new restaurant kitchen, while the interior has been remodeled in line with its original style, including furniture and art. Sogndalstrand Kulturhotell occupies what was once an old staple port where sailing boats would dock to load and unload cargo. With disuse, the buildings fell into disrepair. In 1994 however, Eli Laupstad and Jan Oddvar Omdal took the initiative to start the Krambu Café, an idealistic voluntary project to draw attention to this unique location. That same year, the site was protected by the Directorate for Cultural Heritage in Norway. Building after building was purchased and restored and Sogndalstrand Kulturhotell now comprises 10 buildings with bedrooms, a conference room with views of the Sokna salmon fishing river and a restaurant serving home-made local produce. HISTORIC RESTAURANTS & BAR EXPERIENCES

Norwegian food traditions are deeply rooted in the country's culture, even today. The challenge, however, is to experience these traditions outside the Norwegian home.

To address this, we offer a concept that highlights both historic dining venues and unique bar experiences throughout Norway.

How will our guests benefit?

First and foremost, we provide you with access to information about historic restaurants and bars in a city or area you may not be familiar with. The hotel you're staying at will assist with reserving a table at a historic dining venue or recommending an exclusive bar experience. You can rest assured that you'll experience places with an atmosphere that radiates quality, exceptional hospitality, and a true passion for food and wine.

With seasonal menus that highlight the best of Norwegian culinary culture, you'll have the opportunity to enjoy dishes made from fresh, local ingredients – from seafood caught straight from the coast to vegetables from local farms. Additionally, our restaurants and bars offer a wide selection of wines, carefully chosen by award-winning sommeliers who are eager to share their knowledge. Our hope is to leave a lasting impression so that you'll share our story with others.

Dinner is served!

Apotekergata No. 5, once a storied warehouse, now houses a restaurant, cafe, and bar, boasting a charming barge for those balmy days where views and local fare can be savored. Norwegian nature is both ruthless and demanding, but it is also generous. Our chefs find their muse in the resilience of local farmers, fishermen, and hunters who – against all odds – procure exceptional ingredients. Set against this rugged canvas, we aim to present the essence of Sunnmøre’s gastronomy – a journey from the soaring summits to the fathomless ocean. We invite you to experience Apotekergata No. 5.

In 1855 local farmers established the distillery Atlungstad Brenneri. They started an industrial adventure producing potato spirits, aquavit, cognac and church wine. The industrial production lasted until 2008 when the restoration to rescue the distillery as a working industrial heritage started. Atlungstad Brenneri is the oldest working distillery in Norway, still producing potato spirits and aquavit. In 2019 the distillery was preserved as a technical and industrial heritage building, to present the story of the Norwegian distilleries and aquavit. Bark is an informal and lively restaurant in Bergen, known for its warm atmosphere and open, inclusive expression. As part of the same universe as Gaptrast, Bark shares the same respect for craftsmanship and detail, but with a freer and more unpretentious approach. Here, people gather around the table to share food, wine, and time — in a space where the threshold is low, the mood relaxed, and the ambitions clear. The menu follows the seasons and encourages sharing, with generous flavours grounded in solid craftsmanship. The dishes are direct and honest, often inspired by classical cooking, yet always with a personal touch. There is a clear respect for the ingredient, paired with an accessible and playful expression. In 1927, Oslo architect Lars Backer won the competition to design the new Ekebergrestauranten. The original restaurant was built as early as 1916, by Tiedemanns tobacco factory. Two years after the competition, in 1929, one of Europe's foremost buildings in the functionalist style was complete, to the delight of all the people of Oslo. Today it is a listed building, and any renovation work is based on the idea of cherishing the classic style but modernising it for a new age. Towards the end of the 1990s, Ekebergrestauranten was closed and left to deteriorate, until Christian Ringnes and Eiendomsspar bought the site and announced a large-scale investment. Together with restaurateur Bjørn Tore Furset, they have now created a modern building that still retains all its classic features. In 2025, Fursetgruppen celebrated its 20th anniversary at Ekebergrestauranten.

The tiny island of Espevær has no cars and is home to 85 people, beautiful buildings and well-kept gardens. Fishing brought prosperity and the restored buildings bear witness to past glory. Gamleposten 5444 is a unique restaurant in an idyllic farming hamlet dating back to 1800–1868. Sjurina Mehus lost her husband to the sea in 1919, so converted her farm into a post office and medicine outlet to feed her children. Grand Café reopened in 2016 with a new look, marking a new era for the historical venue. Emphasis has been placed on preserving the historical lines back to 1874, and the three famous paintings by the Norwegian artist Per Krogh have been retained and given even greater prominence than before. To create a Grand Café that doesn't just look to the past, the focus has been on evolving a new history, new tastes and new experiences. The menu is based on the best seasonal ingredients, taking most of its inspiration from Scandinavia. Grand Café's well-stocked wine cellar offers a wine experience to remember, and with over 1500 different wines on offer, there's something to suit all tastes.  D/S Skibladner
 170 ÅR

Skibladner is the world's oldest paddle steamer in timetabled service and one of Norway's most loved attractions, 169 years after her launching in August 1856. She is still powered by the triple-expansion steam engines that were installed in her 1888 refit, and this charming vessel offers an authentic experience of steamship travel in the 1800s. Treat yourself to a culinary experience by dining at one of the district's best restaurants – aboard a working paddle steamer! Skibladner's first class dining saloon has a proud 169-year old history and serves our famous salmon & strawberries menu as well as many others. Between the end of June and mid August we run a scheduled daily service (except Mondays) between the towns on Lake Mjøsa, two hours north of Oslo in Norway, calling at scenic harbours along the route. The ship is also available to charter for private functions from late May to early September.
