A GUIDE TO LETTING YOUR

HOLIDAY HOME

WHAT'S NEXT

WE'LL WALK THROUGH
IT WITH YOU

02

If you are seeking advice and support with buying a holiday home, we strongly recommend you get in touch with us as soon as possible in the buying process. Careful consideration should be given to the location, size, and style of the property, and having local industry experts to guide and support is invaluable.

01

We're here to help, advise and reassure you throughout the process of letting your holiday home. Buying or owning a holiday home comes with some important considerations and we understand any worries and concerns you may have when it comes to handing over the keys to your home. In an effort to put your mind at ease, we have put together answers to the questions raised by our owners in this Lettings Guide and explain the entire process..

03

As experts in the holiday rental market we provide our homeowners with a personal, knowledgeable and flexible service at every stage, offering invaluable advice while you plan and prepare your holiday home for the luxury lettings market.

04

Whether you've bought a property and are in the renovation stage or just considering a property purchase, our team are passionate about the properties we look after and would be delighted to work with you to meet your rental goals for your holiday home.

IT'S ALL IN THE DETAILS

“CAN I STILL USE MY PROPERTY FOR MY OWN HOLIDAYS?”

When it comes to enjoying your holiday home, we are there for you too! we expect you to enjoy your space as much as your guests!

Of course! Your holiday home is yours, and you should use it. In fact, staying in the property periodically helps you see things from a guest's perspective, which is always beneficial. We don't ask for a minimum number of letting weeks, all you need to do is block out the time you plan to visit in the calendar so we don't book someone else in.

Do I need a special
MORTGAGE?

Some mortgage lenders have restrictions on short term lets, so you should always check with your lender to make sure they're happy with you letting out your holiday home. If your current lender doesn't allow it, there are providers who will. These change frequently, so make sure you get up to date advice – speak to a mortgage broker or financial adviser if you're not sure

Can you offer advice for how best to furnish a holiday let?

Style Interiors

SETTING THE SCENE
FOR SUCCESS

Furnishing your holiday home beautifully is so important, and of course practicality plays a huge part in this as well. We can offer help and advice on renovating, decorating and furnishing your holiday let, but better still, we can introduce you to local interior designers and specialists to give your property a professional touch

Do I need insurance

Absolutely, yes. As insurers consider any kind of letting to be a slightly higher risk, you need to make sure that your policy covers you as a holiday letting – not all landlord policies do as they're designed for longer-term rentals. If you don't have a specific insurance policy, you could run the risk that any claim would be denied – it's never a good idea to hide anything from the insurance company!

This specialist cover should protect both the property owners and their guests. Key elements to include are buildings and contents insurance, public liability cover (typically a minimum of £5 million), and employer's liability cover if you employ anyone such as cleaners or maintenance staff. It is also advisable to include cover for accidental damage caused by guests, loss of rental income due to insured events (such as fire or flood), and legal expenses. Some policies also provide protection against theft by guests and cover for alternative accommodation for guests if the property becomes uninhabitable. Property owners should always carefully review the terms and exclusions of their policy and notify their insurer that the property is let out as a short-term holiday rental to ensure full protection.

How Much

Could I make?

Investing in a holiday let is fantastic way to generate passive income. We have a great understanding of what holidaymakers are looking for and the features which are in high demand. This enables us to maximise income potential and provide you with an indication of possible booking levels and revenue we could achieve for your property. Income potential naturally depends on a variety of factors such as size, location and facilities. We highly recommend getting in touch with us to get a firm idea of income potential. However, you can view our potential earnings calculator on our website to give you a good indication of the gross annual income you could expect from your home:

It is worth bearing in mind that not all holiday home agencies are created equal. Understanding the level of service you expect from your letting agency is crucial, so to ensure you work with the right agency.

Why Let with us?

1. C U R A T E D S P A C E S

K N O W I N G Y O U R S P A C E

It will save you the time and hassle of finding guests. We have a strong internet presence and powerful brand, and this attracts guests to your home without you having to do any work. Holiday lettings agencies have returning guests that book with them frequently, and therefore a reliable stream of guests is much more likely than going it alone.

Lettings agencies manage all areas of the booking process, and all administration that comes along with that (there's a lot!) When it comes to taking payments, we have all the security certificates and PCI compliance set up— there are legal requirements for taking payments online and over the phone, for example, and they can be costly and time-consuming for individual homeowners.

3 . C U R A T E D S P A C E S

K N O W I N G Y O U

Good holiday let agencies attract guests throughout the year by marketing special offers and late availability opportunities, helping to entice visitors, even during 'awkward' booking periods that are otherwise quiet.

4.

A holiday home agency is the point of contact for the guests, so any questions, issues or emergencies are handled entirely by us or our trusted property managers.

Curated Spaces work with property managers and housekeepers on your behalf, so you needn't get bogged down in logistical details or turnovers.

DIGITAL GUIDES & BESPOKE DETAILS

They will provide your property with a Holiday Let Guest Information Book to answer questions about the local area. Curated Spaces supply our guests with a little black book, listing all of the very best professionals in the area, from private chefs to surf instructors!

AS A HOLIDAY HOME OWNER, YOU'RE LEGALLY OBLIGED TO PROVIDE SAFE ACCOMMODATION AND DO EVERYTHING YOU CAN TO MINIMISE THE RISKS FROM POTENTIAL HAZARDS. TO DO SO PROPERLY, IT'S IMPERATIVE TO KNOW AND UNDERSTAND THE RELEVANT HEALTH AND SAFETY REGULATIONS FOR HOLIDAY LETS WHEN LETTING YOUR PROPERTY.

Gas Safety Certificate

The HSE guidance on gas safety stipulates that all gas appliances are checked and signed off by a Gas Safe Engineer annually. A valid certificate should be left at the property for guests to see.

Fire Safety Risk Assessment

It is a legal requirement to carry out or arrange a fire risk assessment. It is used to highlight potential fire risks and hazards at your holiday let.

Carbon Monoxide Alarms

Carbon monoxide alarms are a cost effective and reliable way to provide guests with an advanced warning of any problems. Each room that has a gas appliance, oil appliance, or a solid fuel burner (log burner or open fire) must have an alarm installed.

THE RULES

PAT testing

(Portable Appliance Testing)

4 Holiday let owner's duty of care applies to both installed and portable electrical appliances. That means any moveable items (toaster, TV, kettle, lamps etc) should be PAT tested by a reputable electrician. Portable Appliance Testing (PAT) is the examination of electrical appliances, checking them for safety from potential defects and hazards.

Electrical Safety Certificate

5 It is a legal requirement for a landlord to obtain and renew an Electrical Safety Certificate, as your agency we require that the property is inspected by a qualified engineer, at least every five years, ensures electrical systems within the property are safe. A valid certificate provides proof that reasonable care and checks have been carried out.

Oil Safety Certificate

6 There is no legal requirement for holiday let owners to have an Oil Safety Certificate. But, for the safety of your guests, it's highly recommended that you have all your oil appliances and equipment inspected annually by an OFTEC Registered Technician. Hot tub and swimming pool health and safety may also be applicable depending on your facilities. All chimneys must be swept annually and we require an Energy Performance Certificate.

OUR TOP TIPS

01 Twin Rooms

If you are furnishing your home, it is worth thinking about the bedroom configuration. Not all groups are populated by those who wish to share a bed, and so a balance of double and twin rooms is desirable. Twin beds are useful for groups of older guests and friendship groups as well as for children. A lack of twin beds can prevent families and groups from making a booking.

02 Interiors

Naturally we urge our owners to invest in high quality furnishings and home accessories, even down to the small details. Whilst holiday homes are in high demand, it is also a highly competitive market and investing in these details early on ensures a better overall experience for guests which in turn increases the chances of guests recommending the property and securing repeat bookings.

03 Woofers

So many people own dogs and consider them a member of the family, and indeed choose a UK holiday over a foreign holiday in order to bring their furry friend along with them. We would urge holiday home owners to consider being dog friendly, as this increases your target market and, therefore naturally your income potential.

04 Outdoor Space

If you have outside space, consider it to be one of the main selling features of your property. Ensuring the outside space is comfortable, practical and stylish is vital. A beautiful outdoor area will photograph well and attract guests, and can be the deciding factor for guests when booking. Impractical, uncomfortable or unappealing seating areas and gardens can have a negative impact on bookings. It is a great idea to supply a BBQ, too.

OUR TOP TIPS

05 Hot Tubs

It goes without saying, a swimming pool is a big hitter for holiday homes. But, this isn't an option for many. If you could consider a hot tub, these are extremely desirable too, and often attract steady bookings in the colder months.

06 Games

Consider a games room or cinema room. A games room needn't be vastly expensive, but can be a driver for bookings for those with teenagers and children.

07 Welcome

We encourage all of our owners to use our recommended local florist for an extra warm welcome for arriving guests & take advantage of our wholesale price Sea Room toiletries.

08 Join Us in The Spring Summer

If you are wondering when is best to bring your home onto the holiday rental market, we advise you do so in the Spring or Summer. It will be far easier to show off the best bits of your home when photographed in good weather, rather than on a drizzly winter day. If you come on board in Spring/Summer you will be sent a warm welcome gift from us!
