STEPS

Supporting Those Experiencing
Personal Sadness

‘Our aim is to provide a safe place for bereaved people to find support, reassurance and information on their unique, natural but often difficult grief journey.’

Tovey Bros sponsors STEPS several times during the year without any cost to those who come along.

The group uses materials produced by Dr Bill Webster, founder of the Grief Journey, a resource for those going through loss.

Running over four weekly sessions, the atmosphere is informal and you are welcome to bring a family member or friend with you for support, subject to capacity. The course is for any person who is bereaved, whether recent or dating back over the years.

After a significant loss, people often feel isolated. The first days of sympathy quickly fade as life goes on for those less affected by the death. Some seem to expect that everyone should 'be strong', and that life should go on as normal.

A support group offers a chance to learn what grief is; where people can discover that their reactions to it are normal and be among people who understand. They find it is OK to feel the way they do because grief is a natural human reaction to loss.

STEPS aims to provide a caring environment in which people can work through the many emotions and tasks that lead to reconciliation and help them to move forward.
