Series Synopsis

Crime and camaraderie intertwine as Detectives Thorsten Falke and Julia Grosz tackle Hamburg's most challenging cases. Falke, a street-smart cop with deep roots in the city's underbelly, joins forces with the resilient and experienced federal officer Grosz, who brings her own unique approach to the table.

As the unlikely pair investigates a range of complex and high-stakes crimes, their different backgrounds and methods prove both a source of friction and a recipe for success. Falke's gritty determination, honed by his working-class heritage and unwavering loyalty, complements Grosz's international experience and strategic thinking. Together, they navigate Hamburg's criminal underworld, uncovering hidden motives and confronting personal demons along the way.

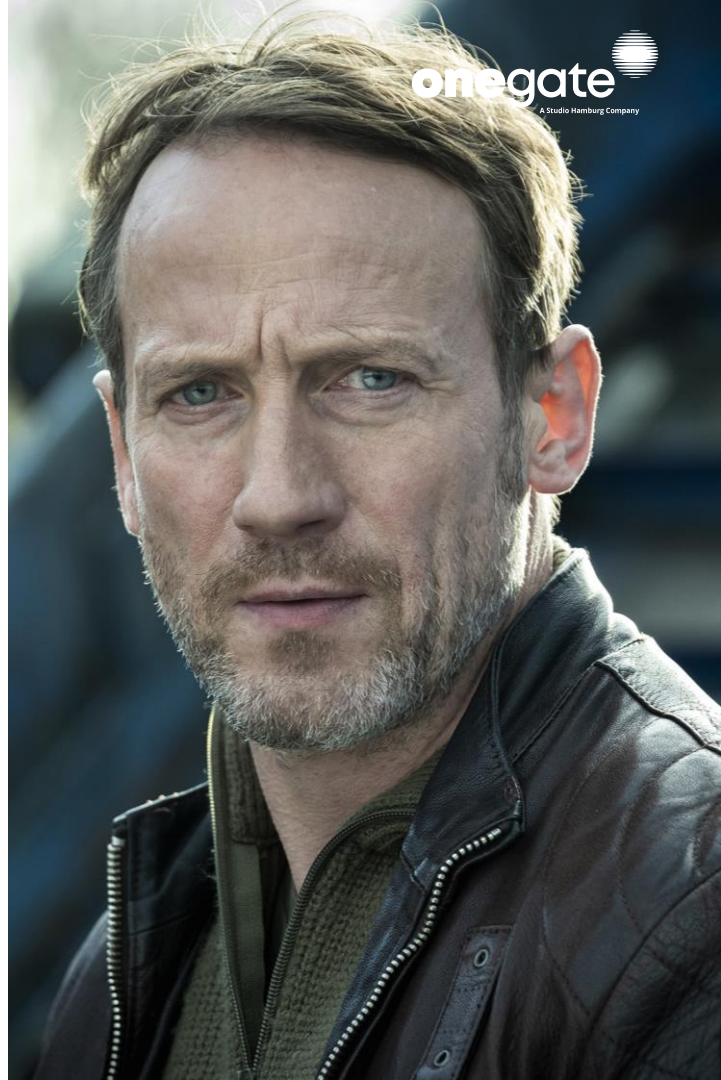

Thorsten Falke

Detective.

A street-smart cop, loyal – but impulsive.

Unlike his colleagues, Falke understands the law of the street and has an intuitive grasp of what makes people tick. He comes from a long line of dockworkers: loyal, straight-talking, hard-working people with an impulsive streak. A loner by nature, a brief fling that made him a father taught him to put work before family.

Falke's ability to rub along with his colleagues is tested when his friend Katz leaves the force to be replaced first by Lorenz and later by Grosz.

Julia Grosz

Detective Chief Inspector.

A tough detective with international experience.

Julia Grosz is a Detective Chief Inspector with the federal police. After multiple foreign deployments, Grosz is now based at Hanover Airport.

When this tenacious officer locks horn with streetwise cop Falke, an already challenging case is not going to get any easier...
