

A New Age of Reason?

By Gwern Gwynfil

Summary

The article, "A New Age of Reason?", critiques the lack of substantial intellectual foundations in contemporary politics, arguing that a new set of ideas is needed to address the complex challenges of the digital age. The author, Gwern Gwynfil, expresses concern that the current political discourse lacks depth, relying instead on superficiality and short-term solutions.

Gwynfil argues that a return to the spirit of the Enlightenment, where intellectual inquiry was central to societal progress, is necessary to guide us through the technological and societal changes of the 21st century.

Listen to the AI Podcast

