ANNOUNCEMENT

2023 marks 38 years since Calico Critters were first released in North America, and the series is now loved by people in over 70 countries around the world, with an appeal that knows no boundaries between age or gender.

The name of the brand differs between regions, and until now, the names of some of the main characters differed too. When Calico Critters fans grow older and meet people from other countries, we want them to be able to reminisce together about the fun they had with these toys as children, and they are more likely to recognize that common ground if our characters have the same name in every country. For this reason, we unified the names of all our characters from Fall 2022.

We look forward to expanding our range of videos and online content under these new names in the future. With these changes will come changes in packaging and releases of new versions of some products. We look forward to working with you on this transition and seeing customers enjoy our characters with their new names.
