Staingard ECO

Future proofing your home and the environment

For nearly two decades Staingard has evoked trust, with retailers and our care policy holders. Climate Change is affecting us all, from extreme weather to the questions regarding what condition we are leaving the planet for the next generation. At Staingard, we invested in providing an eco-friendly solution to make a positive change in line with our ethical ethos and to establish a deeper trust between ourselves and your customers.

We want to show your customers how much you care

45% of the UK population now actively seek products considered environmentally friendly- and 65% of consumers would be willing to spend up to 20% more on eco-friendly products. The manufacturing process of many velvets, chenille's and dyes restricts the ability for promoting high design with an eco-friendly label. We will provide full support in stores and a further feel-good experience for the new conscientious customer. Eco protection swing tickets adorned on upholstery/ fabrics and carpets promoting the environmentally friendly ethos of our retailers also provides a positive focal point for the sales teams. We will highlight the benefits of using an eco friendly treatment as part of your in store experience.

Together we can make a difference

Staingard have built up a strong reputation renowned for quality of performance, product ranges and customer care with many years of research anticipating customers needs and finding the solution.

Taking the best of traditional compounds and combining with a new cleaner technological process, Staingard have stepped away from Fluorocarbons and created a non-toxic to the environment process, based upon polysiloxane chemistry. With its bio eliminating properties no harmful products seeps back into our rivers and landscapes. When it comes to fabric or carpet protection oil and water are the foundations of permanent damage, Staingard eco has been laboratory tested and provides the shielding that enables total peace of mind for our customers.
