In Dinoville, who dreams of stars and the sky,
Building a rocket but failing, not knowing why?

Who is the dino with a dream that's so grand,
But each time he builds, it falls where he stands.

Rex's dreams are so big, his ambitions high.
But the other dinos laugh as they pass by.

Who nearly gives up, feeling hope's last wane,
Until a long-necked friend sparks his dreams again.

Rowly comes with excitement, eyes filled with glee,
Suggesting to Rex, "How about you and me?"

With combined efforts and a plan so true,
Who are the dinos making dreams come true?

With tools and plans, who work day and night..

...To make sure their rocket will take to the height.

Finally done, who stands with pride,
Ready to take their rocket for a ride?

Rex and Rowly strap in tight, hearts filled with cheer,
As their rocket lifts off, leaving Dinoville's sphere.

Who are the dinos that soar through the stars,
Watching the universe pass by from their car?

Rex and Rowly see meteors and wonder afar,
As they travel through space, leaving trails like a star.

Which dinos land where the ground is white,
Planting a flag in the lunar light?

Rex and Rowly wave their flag with triumph,
Claiming the moon as their special place.

Who looks at Earth from their lunar land,
Feeling so happy, just as they planned.

Returning home, who tells their grand tale,
Of the adventure in space, where dreams never fail..

-THE END

- SYNOPSIS -

In the lively world of Dinoville, Rex the T-Rex dreams of exploring the stars. Despite numerous failed attempts to build a rocket, Rex never gives up. With the help of his friend Rowly, a cheerful long-necked dinosaur, Rex embarks on an incredible journey. Together, they construct a rocket, blast off into space, and land on the moon, proving that with determination and friendship, even the wildest dreams can come true.
