

Welcome to our Family Circle
New parents and carers

Dear Parents and Carers Welcome to our Family Circle!

The Circle Trust is an educational charity, that exists to do one thing, to promote education for the public benefit.

We are a community of schools that have shared values and an essential common ethos and vision for education and learning.

At the centre of our work is the improvement of educational outcomes for our pupils. We deliberately use the term “educational outcomes” to highlight that we value education in the widest sense whilst balancing our ambition to seek the highest academic performance.

With a range of schools from nursery to sixth form, we work together to support your child throughout their educational journey.

By sharing our resources, we can become greater than the sum of our parts and achieve more together than any one school alone.

What does it mean to be part of The Circle Trust?

It means lots and little all at the same time!

A core value of our Trust is that we know all schools are unique and their essential ethos and values must remain unique in perpetuity. We believe it is important that schools are led by their Headteacher with the support of local governance.

In other words, The Circle Trust is not a franchise model where all schools look and sound the same. So, in many ways the Trust will be quite invisible to pupils and their families.

Equally, the opportunities afforded to your child's school by being part of The Circle Trust are very significant.

We share talent, resources, best educational research, training and practices. Together we celebrate our individuality, share the same values and support each other to achieve our goals.

By pooling resources, we capitalise on economies of scale and maximise funds available providing the best teachers, learning experience and wellbeing for all.

More information on how we optimise efficiencies to maximise funds delivered directly to support our schools can be found in our Core Offer.

Why are we called The Circle Trust?

Our vision was borne out of a desire that all children and young people have an excellent, well-rounded education and flourish in first-rate schools where the best teaching, the best facilities and the most up-to-date resources are available to them.

Established in 2018, The Circle Trust was created to serve the local area.

We chose the name “The Circle Trust” as it symbolises our ethos.

We believe it is important to treat every school as unique. Our name is therefore deliberately neutral, without association to any single institution.

Our logo of overlapping circles, reflects our commitment to inclusivity encapsulating all sorts of schools, whatever their type or phase and illustrates our desire to collaborate both within our schools and the wider community.

Our Values

Our essential common ethos and vision for education and learning, are encapsulated in our values which drive our behaviour, decision making and ambitions:

The highest educational outcomes for every learner is paramount.

Preserving the unique identity and ethos of all our schools is essential.

To be anything but utterly inclusive is non-negotiable.

Being self-reflective is essential in encouraging innovation, our Trust is always driven to improve further.

What we say is what we do. We recognise talent, foster expertise and believe well-being for all is fundamental.

Our Trust promotes collaborating with others and being outward looking.

How is a Trust led?

The Trust is led by Ginny Rhodes, our CEO and is governed by Members and Trustees.

An easy way to think about this role is setting the conditions for schools to thrive. Ginny is an experienced leader in education, she has been teaching for 30 years and a Headteacher for 10 of those.

In addition, Ginny is currently a Lead Ofsted Inspector and serves on the AQA Examination Board of Trustees. Alongside this work, Ginny is a governor at Wellington College where she plays a pivotal role in developing the state and independent school partnerships.

The Circle Trust is a single legal entity. It was created by Members and is overseen by Trustees. Everyone in these roles commits to act within the Nolan seven principles of public life which are:

1. Selflessness:

Acting solely in terms of the public interest.

2. Integrity:

Avoiding obligations to outside individuals or organizations that might seek to influence them.

3. Objectivity:

Making decisions based on evidence and without bias.

4. Accountability:

Being accountable for decisions and actions.

5. Openness:

Being transparent and providing information.

6. Honesty:

Being truthful and straightforward.

7. Leadership:

Setting an example and promoting these principles

Members

Members are the most senior tier of governance in the Trust. The Circle Trust like all trusts is a charitable company limited by guarantee. In effect, it was the Members who signed to create the company named The Circle Trust and were the first signatories for and agreed the Trust's Articles of Association. The Circle Trust's Articles of Association can be found here. Articles of Association describe how a Trust is governed; for example, it sets out how many Members and Trustees there will be. A Member may not be an employee of the Trust. Members are the "guardians of governance" in the Trust. They have a distinct role and as such, they do not duplicate the functions of the Trustees. Members' responsibilities include:

- signing the Memorandum of Association and agreeing the Articles of Association
- determining the name of a Trust
- appointing Members and Trustees
- appointing and removing

Auditors. Independent Auditors certify whether the accounts present a true and fair view of the Trust's financial position and performance. The contract between the Trust and Auditors must be set out in writing and includes the right for Members to remove the Auditor at any time. The decision to remove an Auditor requires a majority vote from the Members who will also need to give their reason for the removal and present these to the Trustees. Members are entitled to receive a copy of the signed Annual Accounts and Report. Whilst Members receive these Accounts, the Trustees sign-off the accounts.

- meeting once a year which is usually at the AGM
- dissolving the Trust, if appropriate

Crucially, Members do not tell Trustees how to run the Trust, they do not set the Trustees' priorities, attend Trustee meetings or have a voting right at a Trustee meeting neither do they appoint, or performance manage the Chief Executive Officer (CEO). Instead, Members monitor the work of the Trustees by hearing directly from the Trustees at the AGM, receiving the annual accounts and report, which includes review of the work and plans going forward. Arguably, one of the most important responsibilities of Members is the appointment of Trustees. If the Trust is not achieving its purpose, the Members might consider this to be because the Trustees are failing to carry out their duties. If this is the case Members may remove Trustees. So, in essence, Members have an "eyes on but hands off" role and ensure that the vision and values of the Trust are upheld. They are tasked with assessing if the Trustees are performing well by ensuring that the purpose of the Trust is being met, and its charitable objects are being fulfilled.

Trustees

Trustees on the other hand have a very significant “hands-on” legal responsibility for the Trust. Trustees are the Trust’s key decision makers. The role of Trustee comes with specific legal responsibilities, which include:

- ensuring the organisation remains solvent and spends money in accordance with its charitable objectives
- ensuring the schools in the Trust provide a good standard of education

Trustees are responsible for adhering to the Funding Agreement which can be found on our website. The Articles of Association sets out the constitution of the Trust as agreed by Members; the Trustees are accountable for The Circle Trust’s Scheme of Delegation. The Scheme of Delegation details where Trustees delegate their authority to others, including the Chief Executive Officer and Headteachers to whom the Trustees delegate much of their powers and functions with regard to the leadership and performance of each school in the Trust. However, notwithstanding this delegation, the Trustees retain the legal accountability for the operation and performance of all schools in the Trust and for any decisions taken under delegated authority. Trustees are mainly appointed via interview and by reference to a skills matrix with a view to ensuring they have the right level of expertise in key areas such education, finance, business, legal and HR.

Trustees have established our Resolution Circle, which as the name suggests is to hear and determine panels and processes when they are needed under certain Trust policies, as for example to consider a permanent exclusion or complaint. The Resolution Circle is made up of people who are part of the schools’ community and have had considerable experience in governance.

Alongside this the Trust is establishing a range of stakeholder groups, specifically: Staff Circle, Pupil Circle and Community Circle. These groups meet during the year and are a space for the Trust to share its work, to listen to stakeholders’ views and to build strong positive relationships. Following a consultation and review of governance Trustees have determined that the board will have in the future two elected parent Trustees and these elections will take place during the academic year 2025 to 2026.
