GUNDLACH BUNDSCHU

Join us for a premier dining experience with four courses prepared by Chef Jay paired with wine and education from Gundlach Bundschu.

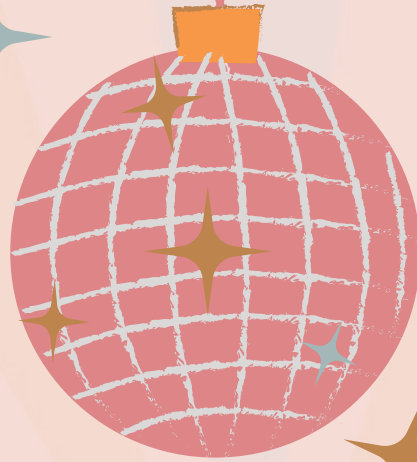

A fun and outgoing industry veteran with 21 years of fine wine and spirits management. Privileged to have worked with the top industry distributors and suppliers. Starting my career at Southern Glazers Wine and Spirits managing Diageo and LVMH Portfolios in South Florida and then moving to Brown Forman where I managed the wine and spirits portfolio in the state of Florida On-Premise Division. I was then lucky to be part of launching a new Sake Brand called Hiro Sake where I took the brand to 7 states, Puerto Rico and Mexico with extensive training and Sake Sommelier Certified. I have had the privilege to be part of the Gundlach Bundschu Family and winery for the past 3 years managing 23 states in the Eastern Region of the US. Excited to be able to manage a rich and beautiful winery with over 165 years in the making by the same family that started it all in beautiful Sonoma, CA. I am a lover of this wine and spirits industry as it has such rich and beautiful history, brings smiles to everyone and it is so much fun. I am a Miami Native with Cuban and Colombian parents who gave me a great path in life for my career and immerse in culture, now a Father of 2 and reside in Charlotte, NC.

Whacky Weather and The Winter Ahead!

Most golf course superintendents would likely agree that the past nine months of weather have been nothing short of unusual. We are persistently tracking weather models and forecasts (often more than one) to best determine our scheduling of work and timing of essential pesticide/fertilizer applications. We use the best available information and will often devise our own forecast based on the collaboration of several available weather models. The reality is that we oftentimes make the right decision and sometimes we flat-out get them wrong! The ever-changing weather particulars are what teaches versatility and adaptability in so many ways in our business. Forecasting and planning ahead best equip our team's ability to complete the necessary work each and every week. Let's recap our weather and the outlook ahead!

Looking back to the winter of 2022-2023, we experienced an extremely mild pattern with average temperatures well above normal from January- April. Combining these temperatures with very dry conditions through mid-June led to brown and stressed turf early in the season. Precipitation finally returned June/July and was followed by another dry August! Thankfully, we have acquired substantial precipitation over the past three weeks which has helped turfgrass plants tremendously. Even with the "rebound rains," the southeast counties of Pennsylvania still currently remain in a Drought Watch. Year-to-date, our region is still approximately 6+ inches below normal.

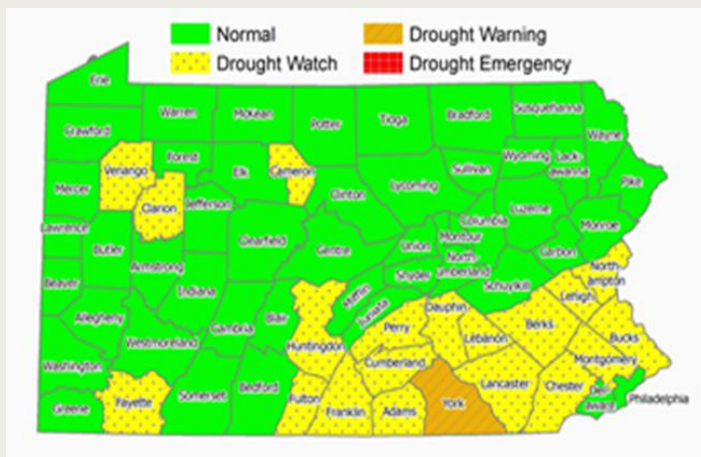

We know Fall has just begun, but it's not too soon to discuss the winter ahead! The past two winters have certainly been a bust for snow lovers (possibly due to La Nina) but what lies ahead may just be what skiers have been looking for! As of June 2023, we have shifted towards an El Nino weather pattern, and it is expected to be strong this coming winter. Without getting into too much detail, El Nino occurs when ocean temperatures are warmer than normal around the equatorial Pacific Ocean and the jet stream shifts southward. Every El Nino is different, however, most of them have consistent precipitation and temperature trends. Our region does not have a clear outlook from El Nino, although, we are more likely to experience coastal storms off the Atlantic. The current El Nino has the same strength as the one from 2009-2010 which resulted in a very wet and snowy Northeast.

Let's not forget the good Old Farmer's Almanac which states, "above-normal snowfall and average to below-average temperatures will be the overall norm for most of the country. Eastern Pennsylvania and New Jersey fall in the "mild, snowy" zone. Time will tell whether our models align with the return of Winter!

Thanks for reading!

IMPORTANT SHOT TO HAVE IN THE FALL: "THE KNOCKDOWN"

After aggressively studying the wind over the last three years, I have found that the reason why we think we club correctly and still come up short is something called "wind gusts." Wind gusts can happen unpredictably, in both speed and when it actually happens. If you check your weather app for wind, it'll usually show wind gust. In the fall and spring, we can usually have 10mph wind and 25 mph gust, for example.

HIT A SHOT THE WIND CAN'T TOUCH

What I have learned is to just simply not flirt with the wind. Learn to hit a shot the wind doesn't touch:

1. For example, start with the rule of 1/2's... instead of clubbing up from 8iron to 7iron, simply club up to a 6 iron and swing a 1/2 or 3/4 6iron. Reducing the speed and clubbing out like this takes away chances to create too much spin. Furthermore, clubbing up and hitting a shot like this keeps the flight low and out of the wind.

2. Tip #2 is simple. When you hit the shot, finish your swing in the half position, trying to keep the club head below your waist line. If you finish low, the ball will come out low. If you finish high, you guessed it, the ball will come out high! Flip this tip if you want to it a ball over the trees or another obstacle, just finish high to have the ball launch high.

Hopefully this will become a yearly event. Sept 13 A great day was planned for today, 18-Hole Member-Guest; however, Mother Nature always likes to intervene at the most inconvenient time. Because of Her, the member guest had to be postponed. Well, Mother Nature "it's not nice to fool with the BCC Ladies 18-hole golfers."

"I'd like to see the fairways narrower. Then everybody would have to play from the rough, not just me. "

NINERS NEWS

By: Bev Gibson

As the Nine Hole season comes to a close, Pam has wrestled this anonymous writer to the ground to take the last column as she prepares to head south to the land of fun and sun. Pam is packed and putting away her Nine Hole column quill. Thanks for a job well done Pam!

To commemorate the season, you are welcomed to take this True False quiz. Sorry no prize! No pro shop credit! Not even bragging rights! We know Pam Emich is running for a pen and certain over-forty ladies for their glasses so here we go:

1. Chip Kappasser's first name really IS Chip.
2. The member who has consistently played in the 9 group the longest is Nancy Randall.
3. Jake (not from State Farm) was the Easter Bunny at BC this year.
4. The majority of 9 hole members have shot their shoe size on hole Number 2. (hint: sad but true)
 5. The youngest member of the 9 group is Patty Ford.
 6. Carole R. refreshes her lipstick every other hole.
 7. Next year a tie will not be allowed for the Club Championship.
8. Mr. January is never going to retire. (New members please refer to old Currents for identifier)
9. Our club leader, Jim Haus wears a size 14 shoe!!
10. Pam McD is not going to do this column next year. (Hurry and contact her to take over so you don't fight the crowds)

Please submit your responses toummmm....Rachel! She knows everything! and Good Luck! See you next spring!

Racquets

2023

LETTER FROM THE DIRECTOR

Wow...how the weather has changed. Though I'm always sad to see summer end, the excitement grows as we approach the grand opening of our year-round Racquets facility! I want to say a big thank you to our Racquets Committee and Jim Haus for their input and feedback as we navigate these uncharted waters. We have officially prepared, voted on and passed what the future of Bent Creek Racquets will look like. Stay tuned as we will be sending out all information to the membership soon!

Quick update, we will stay outside on the har-tru courts as long as the weather permits. I hope to keep the lag time between our har-tru courts closing and the bubble going up as short as possible.

We are still awaiting one final permit from the township, to install the grade beam or concrete footer which anchors the bubble. Storm water management is almost complete, and the courts have been graded, leveled and ready to pour. The grade beam is estimated to take a month to install and 1 month for the concrete to fully cure. Then the bubble can be installed, I am still relatively optimistic it is up before the end of the year...keep your fingers crossed!
