THE ARAB TARZAN GUARDIAN OF WADI LAJAB

The Story Behind the Cover

During our local product team's scouting trip to the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, we ventured south to where green mountains and coffee farms kiss the sky, and monkeys roam freely along winding valleys, proudly parading their homeland.

Our destination: the breathtaking and surreal Wadi Lajab. From the mountaintops, the view plunges into dizzying depths, a breathtaking reminder of how high you stand. Here, the monkeys move with playful pride, parading through their homeland.

Amid towering cliffs and flowing waters, a man appeared — as if he had stepped out of legend. His head was crowned with wildflowers, his robe alive with the colours of nature; a mesmerising blend of Bedouin spirit and Highland charm. Standing tall, he spoke softly: "I am the guardian of this valley." Moments later, barefoot, he scaled the canyon walls with the agility of a panther, disappearing into the wilderness to the calls of the monkeys.

We never knew his name, but we called him The Arab Tarzan — a symbol of mystery, freedom, and the untamed heart of Arabia. Today, his image graces our cover, an invitation to explore a Middle East where legends still walk the earth.
