H-Stitch™ Beanie

Innovation you can wear.

For years, the beanie market hasn't offered anything truly new. The H-Stitch™ changes that. Designed for people who expect more from their gear, it's made in Cleveland, Ohio and protected under U.S. Patent No. 12,290,131-B2. Its patented design shifts the traditional top seam to the sides, eliminating the usual crown pressure point and creating a fit that actually adapts to you. The result is steady, all-day comfort that performs just as well under helmets and hard hats as it does on its own.

Patented H-Stitch™ Design

Eliminates top-seam pressure points for unmatched comfort, even under helmets.

Built for the trades. Made for your brand.

Our American Story

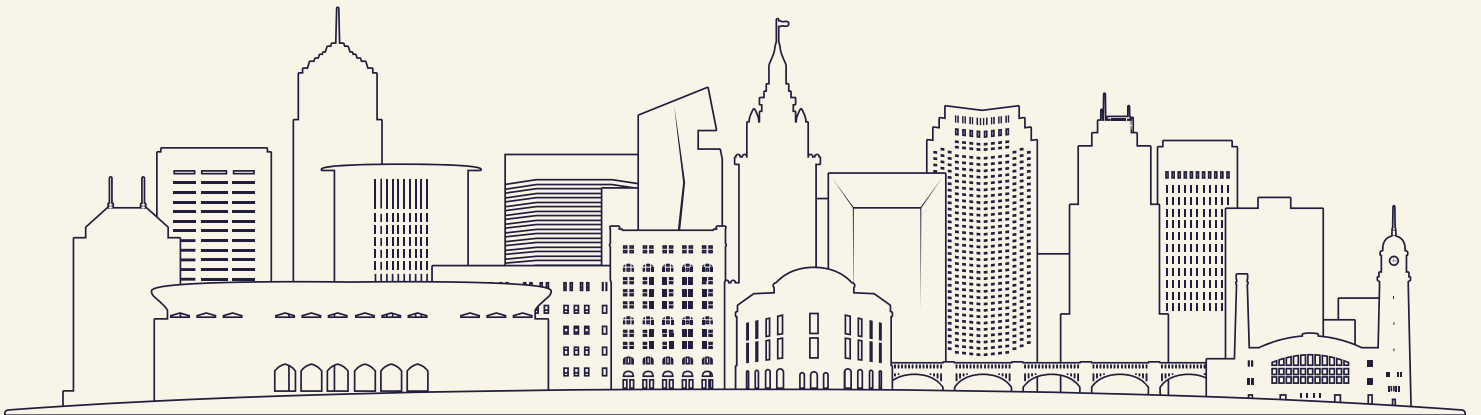

The details matter when you are choosing the right beanie. Ask anyone who works long days in rain or snow, hikes through rough terrain, or wears a helmet every day. From our superior stretch and breathability to our patented lay-flat seams, those small differences are what set The Beanie Factory apart.

U.S. Army veteran H. Hamoud spent long hours in uniform wearing standard issue beanies that rubbed, bunched, trapped heat, and dug into the scalp under a heavy helmet. The discomfort was constant and common, and fellow soldiers felt it too. Beanies bunched, rubbed, trapped heat, and made field work miserable.

After being honorably discharged, he set out to fix what issued gear never solved. He focused on the real problem: seams that caused irritation over long wear. He developed a new configuration that lays flat, reduces friction, and eliminates bunching. That innovation became the patented H stitch and the foundation of The Beanie Factory.

Sustainability

Knit with purpose, crafted for the future.

Our Commitments

Sustainability is built into how we make our beanies. From material selection to production efficiency, we focus on reducing waste, extending product life, and using responsible packaging wherever possible. We prioritize durable construction, efficient yarn usage, and recyclable packaging to support circularity and minimize environmental impact across our custom and blank beanie programs.

Looking Ahead

By 2028, our goals include eliminating plastic packaging, expanding biodegradable and recyclable options, and sharing progress through annual sustainability updates.

Repurposed Materials

We reduce material waste by putting leftover leatherette sheets back into production. These are premium, first-run materials that remain clean, consistent, and fully usable. Instead of discarding them, we sort and convert them into new products such as keychains, tags, promotional pieces, and additional patches. This approach increases output, minimizes waste, and keeps more of our production cycle in the United States.
