DIARIES

A note from the founder

Leona Butler

Big changes are coming to 2026! For the first time EVER we've changed our covers. We commissioned artists big and little to help design our new stunning covers... and they blew our expectations out of the park!

We've also got some amazing resources that are a first to Butler Diaries and are just as bright as our new covers... don't stop until you've checked these out.

We wholeheartedly believe in empowering Educators, simplifying compliance, and bringing fun back to Early Childhood Education and Care. We do this by collecting your feedback and refining our Diaries and resources to ensure they remain everything you need - while staying simple and efficient.

Our Diaries this year have seen some significant updates as per Framework changes (QKLG) and your feedback (new open-ended programming) and smaller changes in design or layout to help simplify documentation further... or in some cases, just to bring fun to the page through colour.

Thank you for joining us for another year and trusting us as your partners in your mission to succeed at exceeding. Here's to another year of achieving more with less.

Have a browse through our JAW-DROPPING 2026 range and of course, feel free to reach out any time!

Warm regards,

Exciting New Designs

New Covers & Matching Bundles

We listened to your feedback and made some changes to 2026 Diaries. They have even sturdier hard covers and include 2 bookmarks to make flipping through your documentation even easier. We included even MORE stickers to support your daily practice AND matched the stickers with your EYLF/MTOP Highlighter as requested!

They of course feature stunning covers from artists, so you'll have a new and bright cover for 2026. The Weekly Programming and Reflection Diary for EYLF comes in 4 different covers to choose from so make sure to get in quick to pick your favourite. Oh AND we decided to bring bright colours inside too!

And... we've gone ahead and matched the beautiful artwork with a bundle worth talking about! We've got matching lanyards, notebooks, pencil cases, and pen holders... all at a bargain and all limited stock.

Some layouts have had some changes based on your feedback. Look inside the Diary by clicking on the image and heading to the product page. You can see what's inside the Diary in the product images or by downloading the Compliance eBook from the Compliance Tab.

We've also got a brand new Diary for Family Day Care to trial! You've been asking so we did it! Give it a trial and send us an email with your feedback so you can shape future resources for Family Day Care.

Office and Admin Collection

Tailored specifically for responsible persons, leaders, and office staff, these Diaries are an all-in-one solution for staying on top of your role. With thoughtful layouts and practical features, they help streamline compliance, keeping your office running smoothly.*

Journey of Learning by Anne Leon

This year we are thrilled to introduce our new Leadership Diary covers in collaboration with the wonderful local First Nation's artist Anne Leon -NHURALAMA, a proud Wakkaya/Wombaya/Woonyi woman with connections to the Northern Territory and the Gulf of Carpentaria mobs.

Her beautiful artwork was commissioned to symbolise the Journey of Learning in Early Education with the four quarters representing the interconnected nature of different leadership roles in early childhood education. It illustrates a shared journey for young children incorporating First Nations perspectives and story-telling elements. The whole piece is used to symbolise Family Day Care and the multiple roles they carry out in the children's journey.

This collaboration brings together Anne Leon's First Nations artistry with Butler Diaries' commitment to providing culturally enriched educational resources. For a detailed explanation of the symbols and story meanings in Anne's artwork, and learning projects and resources based on the piece, go to www.butlerdiaries.com/pages/first-nations-collaboration-project

EYLF and MTOP V.2.0 - Daily Compliance Pages, Weekly Program

This Diary captures daily and weekly compliance records for your FDC and now includes a monthly program and reflection to make an all-in-one programming, reflection and compliance tool for FDC.

The monthly program can act as an overview of the learning you'd like to achieve, while any emerging changes, interests, observations, or goals that occur can be captured in the Weekly Programming and Reflection Diary.

Another suggestion from an FDC Educator was using the Family Communication/Notes/Activities section on the daily compliance pages to note focus children.

Educators that prefer to capture weekly programs can do so by pairing this Diary with the Weekly Programming Diary.

Guest Artist Collection by Penny (McGuire) Dodman

We are delighted to be able to showcase some gorgeous art by Penny Dodman, a local artist here on the Sunshine Coast. I have some of her artworks in my home and wanted to share this talented artist's works with you on our best-selling FDC and Weekly Programming and Reflection Diaries. ~
Leona Butler, Founder and CEO, Butler Diaries

Penny has been painting for almost 25 years and has won numerous awards during her career, including the most exciting for her, a finalist in the Fleurieu Biennale. Penny's favourite work is fast and colourful, generally in acrylics on large canvases. She likes to reinvent these works as much as possible by continually layering colour and adding texture with lots of detail under each layer. She also likes to create works of our beautiful Australian landscape in oils, which are sometimes quite traditional and often play on light. Penny also loves Australian Impressionism, so she is currently honing her skills in this style.

Child Artist Collection

We're excited to share the journey behind our incredible collection of children's artwork from across Australia. It began as a simple call out for children's artwork, and we were blown away by the submissions from every state and territory—each piece telling a unique story through a child's eyes.

The selection process was genuinely one of the most challenging tasks our team has ever faced. We looked at three elements:

- The use of colour - How children express themselves through their colour choices and combinations and how these matched our current diaries and the colours you were used to.
- The developmental stage of the artist - We wanted representation across different age groups from 1 to 12 years old.
- Geographical diversity - Ensuring young artists from every state and territory had their voice heard.

What People are Saying Reviews

"Love colour coding. I was always stumped in how to connect the evidence to EYLF outcome even though it was all on the page - when I saw an example of someone who had used the Highlighter to colour code - it was a no brainer - bought it - love it - will always use it now."

"Helping improve our knowledge. We love this book, it has ideas on activities as well as teaching notes to enhance our Educators culturally inclusive practices."

"This is great. This will be a great addition to our rest and relaxation time for our 3-5 room."

"Helpful bookmarks! I ordered the bookmarks to trial with my team. As the Educational Leader, I am always looking for new ways to inspire and assist other educators in their programming. One thing that is a common struggle amongst my team is sometimes coming up with new creative descriptive words for our observations. These bookmarks really helped changed the way we write! They are small and convenient to keep with you in a dairy or just laying around the office. Definitely recommend purchasing these!"

"Great way to Communicate. These 'Yarning' Cards are a fantastic way of getting to know our first nations culture and each other. They have the children completely engaged and actually listening to what each child is sharing. It has become very popular amongst our school aged children and it is their go to every time. We all love them!!"

"Great resource. I love having the symbol cards on the table or wall near our art/craft area. Why? Because the children are spending time writing comic strips, stories or drawing pictures in their individual scrap books. They often use what is in their environment as inspiration and we have incorporated these cards and more images we have for them. We love their artwork when it depicts something, and it holds the story in Indigenous symbol story."

"Butler Bookmark. Great Resource. Helps eliminate overuse of words which can make records sound cliched. All staff enjoying the variety of professional prompts the bookmarks provide."

Compliance Books Collection

Our Compliance Books are designed to simplify essential record-keeping for ECEC. Covering transportation, sleep, illness and injury, and more, this collection helps ensure you're meeting regulatory requirements with ease. They make it simple to track and maintain accurate records for service, families, and children, promoting safety and compliance in your daily operations.

SLEEP AND REST FOR CHILDREN

These guidelines are part of a series intended to assist in the development of your service's policies and procedures required under regulations 168 and 169. They set out the main components to be included in your policies and procedures, and considerations for each component. They should guide how you develop, reflect on and improve your policies and procedures, and are not an exact format to be followed.

POLICY GUIDELINES

Under the Education and Care Services National Regulations, an approved provider must ensure that policies and procedures are in place for managing sleep and rest for children (regulation 168) and take reasonable steps to ensure those policies and procedures are followed (regulation 169).

The approved provider, nominated supervisor and family day care educator must take reasonable steps to ensure children's needs for sleep and rest are met, having regard to each child's age, developmental stages and needs. Having your service's sleep and rest for children policy on recognised and evidence-based principles is an important way of demonstrating that you are taking reasonable steps. Red Nose Australia (formerly SIDS and Kids) is the recognised national authority on safe sleeping practices for infants and children. Red Nose Australia resources should be consulted when reviewing and updating sleep and rest policies and procedures. You will also need to consider safety requirements for relevant equipment, such as cots, mattresses, bedding and evacuation cots. How these work in practice will be in your procedures.

Your policies and procedures should address these requirements, as well as quality practices relating to sleep and rest for children that align with the National Quality Standard. Every service is different, so it is not sufficient to apply generic policies and procedures to multiple services. You will need to contextualise your policies and procedures to your service's operations and its unique context. This will include adapting your policy and procedures to suit the circumstances of all children at your service, for example, older children attending OSCAR.

Roles Responsibilities

Approved provider

- undertake a risk assessment to ensure adequate supervision and monitoring of children during periods of sleep and rest is conducted and documented, including the method and frequency of checking children's safety, health and wellbeing
- ensure that obligations under the Education and Care Services National Law and National Regulations are met
- ensure educators (including casual/relief staff) receive information and induction training to fulfil their roles effectively, including being made aware of the sleep and rest policies, their responsibilities in implementing these, and any changes that are made over time
- take reasonable steps to ensure that nominated supervisors in implementing these, and any changes that are made over time
- ensure the needs for sleep and rest of children being educated, educators, staff and volunteers follow the policy and procedures
- ensure the premises, furniture and equipment are safe, clean and in good repair, including ensuring all equipment used meets any relevant Australian Standards and other product safety standards, such as Australian Competition and Consumer Commission (ACCC) guidelines. In alignment with ACCC guidelines, portacots should only be used for temporary, short-term arrangements.
- ensure the cots, beds, bedding and bedding equipment being used for sleep and rest are safe and appropriate for the ages and developmental stages of children who will use them (considering for example, if the children might roll, climb out of a cot, fall from a high sleep surface, become trapped between a sleep surface and wall, become trapped face down in bedding, are over the recommended weight limit for sleeping surfaces, or if children's breathing might become impeded from weighted sleep products)
- ensure that each child has access to sufficient furniture, materials and developmentally appropriate equipment suitable for the education and care of that child
- ensure that the indoor spaces used by children are well ventilated, have adequate natural light, and are maintained at a temperature that ensures the safety and wellbeing of children
- ensure sleep and rest environments are free from cigarette or tobacco smoke
- ensure that the premises are designed to facilitate supervision
- ensure children are supervised during periods of sleep and rest. This should include ensuring clear procedures and processes are in place for regular physical bed-side checks of children and recording all checks at the time they occur
- ensure copies of the policy and procedures are readily accessible to nominated supervisors, educators, staff and volunteers, and available for inspection
- [for FDC services] considers best practice guidelines for safe sleeping environments and equipment when undertaking assessments and reassessments of FDC residences and approved FDC venues
