

A man is seen from behind, sitting on a dark wooden bench in the center of a long, straight path. The path is lined with tall, mature trees that create a canopy overhead. The sun is low on the horizon, casting a warm, golden glow through the trees. The entire scene is overlaid with a radial motion blur effect, making the trees and path appear to be spinning. In the distance, a few other people can be seen walking along the path.

WORLD IS SPINNING AROUND

VILLY KLEPPE

PREFACE

There are moments in life where everything feels like it's moving too fast...

Like the world keeps spinning, whether we're ready or not. World is Spinning Around is a gentle pause within that motion.

A soft reflection on change, on feeling small in a big world, and on learning to simply sit with it.

This song doesn't try to stop the spinning.

It reminds us that even in the middle of it all... we're still here, still breathing, still finding our way.

“The world keeps turning...
but so do I.”
