TOOR DAL

Toor dal, sometimes called split pigeon pea, pigeon pea, arhar dal, or red gram dal, is a perennial legume in the Fabaceae family. This lentil, which originated at least 3500 years ago in the Indian subcontinent, was the staple diet in Asia, Africa, and Latin America.

PRODUCTS

CHANA DAL

Pulses called "Bengal gram," or chana daal peas, are made from the desi chickpea, a tiny, black legume that is primarily grown in the Middle East. It is distinct from the common garbanzo or chickpea because it is split, hulled, younger, smaller, and sweeter.

URAD DAL

In the Ayurvedic medical system, it serves a variety of therapeutic purposes. It provides a wealth of nutrients and increases vitality. The high fiber content of urad dal aids in better digestion.

Spices

RED DRY CHILLI

Red chilli powder can burn your tongue and occasionally your stomach as well! Essentially, it's a spice mixture made of one or two varieties of dried red chillies that have been finely ground and powdered. Usually, it's used to spice up otherwise boring meals.

PRODUCTS

TURMERIC POWDER

Dried turmeric rhizomes are used to make turmeric powder, a vivid yellow spice powder. In addition to being a fantastic culinary ingredient due to its warm, slightly peppery flavor, vivid color, and preservative qualities, "curcumin" also makes it useful for cosmetic and medicinal uses.

GARAM MASALA

A common spice blend in Indian cooking, garam masala is used in soups, lentil dishes, and curries. After being pan-toasted to release their aromatic flavors, whole spices such as cinnamon, mace, peppercorns, coriander seeds, cumin seeds, and cardamon pods are ground into a powder.

PRODUCTS

TURMERIC FINGER

Turmeric fingers are the dried rhizomes of the Curcuma longa plant. They contain bioactive compounds, primarily curcumin, known for its anti-inflammatory and antioxidant properties. Used widely in cooking and traditional medicine, turmeric fingers are ground into powder for spices, supplements, and natural dyes.

PRODUCTS

Coconuts

COCONUT POWDER

Coconut powder is made from dried, finely grated coconut meat. It retains the natural flavor and nutrients of fresh coconut, offering a convenient, shelf-stable alternative. Used in cooking, baking, and beverages, it adds a rich, tropical taste to dishes. It's also popular in vegan and gluten-free recipes.

PRODUCTS

COCONUT SHELL

Coconut shells are the hard, outer coverings of coconuts, typically discarded after extracting the meat and water. They are utilized in various applications, including as eco-friendly bowls, activated charcoal, biofuel, and crafting materials. Durable and versatile, they support sustainable practices and waste reduction.

COCONUT OIL

Coconut oil is extracted from the meat of mature coconuts. It is widely used in cooking, skincare, and haircare for its moisturizing properties and health benefits. Rich in medium-chain triglycerides (MCTs), it supports weight management and heart health. It's a popular ingredient in both culinary and cosmetic products.

PRODUCTS

COCONUT COPRA

Coconut copra is the dried kernel of the coconut, used primarily to extract coconut oil. It's produced by drying the coconut meat, either under the sun or using a kiln. Rich in oil content, copra is a vital raw material in the food and cosmetic industries, and also for making coconut meal for livestock feed.

PRODUCTS

Dry Fruit

CASHEW NUTS

Cashew nuts are kidney-shaped seeds from the cashew tree (Anacardium occidentale). Rich in healthy fats, protein, vitamins, and minerals, they support heart health and provide energy. Often enjoyed as snacks, in cooking, or as ingredients in dairy alternatives, they are also processed into cashew butter and milk.

CUSTOMS CLEARANCE SERVICES

The formal approval that the government's customs department grants for the transportation of your goods is known as customs clearance. Customs must clear all shipments coming into or going out of the nation, requiring extensive documentation as well as the payment of taxes, duties, and other fees.

FREIGHT FORWARDING SERVICES

Freight forwarding services are intermediary services between companies that deliver and the final destination of goods, with different modes of transportation such as sea transportation, land transportation, and air transportation.

Freight forwarding services include:

- FCL & LCL Sea Freight Service
- Breakbulk Sea Freight Service
- Air Freight
- Trucking Service
- Warehousing service
- Custom Clearance Service.

PRODUCTS

WAREHOUSING SERVICES

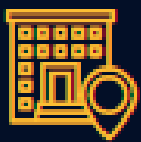

Warehouse services include the loading, packing, sorting, stacking, wrapping, distribution, and delivery of goods. Warehouse services also refer to the storage of goods, wares, or commodities for hire or compensation. Retail establishments, distribution hubs, cold storage facilities, and manufacturing facilities are a few examples of warehouses. Items in retail establishments are arranged and kept in a warehouse before being shipped to clients or other establishments. Goods are stored and distributed to various locations via distribution centers.

TRANSPORTATION SERVICES

Transport services involve moving people, products, and animals from one place to another via pipeline, cable, space, air, rail, or sea. The three categories of transportation services are operations, vehicles, and infrastructure.
