Letter from the Library Director

Big things are happening at the Library this year, and I couldn't be more excited to share updates about our 2025 space improvement projects! Thanks to your input, we're working to ensure the Library space reflects how our community learns, works, and connects.

Here's what's coming in 2025:

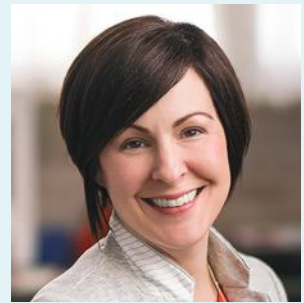

- A refreshed café and lobby: Starting this summer, we're creating a more comfortable, welcoming space where you can grab a coffee, enjoy a snack, meet friends, study, or just take a break. The Library lobby will be a place you'll love to spend time.
- An amazing new play space for kids: This fall, our Youth Services area will be transformed into a vibrant, interactive space where books and play come together to spark creativity and discovery.

While construction is underway, we'll do our best to minimize disruptions, though some services may be temporarily affected. Stay informed through eNews, social media, and a dedicated Library Improvement Projects webpage coming soon.

These updates aren't just about upgrading our building – they're about investing in a space that belongs to everyone. Whether you're here to work, play, explore, connect, or relax, we're creating spaces that reflect our community's needs and aspirations.

Thank you for being part of this journey. I can't wait to see how these changes make the Library an even better place for everyone!

Lindsey Dorfman, Library Director

Art in the Library

Heidi Andersen Watercolors

Thursday, Mar 20–Tuesday, May 13 • Lobby

The love of nature has inspired Heidi Andersen's watercolor paintings for more than 20 years. Embracing the unpredictability of the medium, her fluid and water-saturated technique translates into spontaneous and expressive artwork. The use of bold colors adds vibrancy and energy to her visual expressions of flower and landscape themes.

Thank You to the Friends and Foundation

We extend our heartfelt gratitude to the Friends of Glenview Public Library and the Glenview Public Library Foundation for their generous support in 2024. The Friends' donation, raised through Used Bookstore sales, funded enriching concerts and performances for all ages through the Sunday Music Series and Super Saturday programs. The Foundation's contributions supported two beloved library initiatives: the Summer @ GPL reading program and Glenview Reads Together.

We are immensely grateful to the Friends and Foundation for their unwavering support and dedication to enhancing GPL's programs!

2024 Year-In-Review

2024 was a special year for GPL, marked by significant achievements and unforgettable moments. As we look back, the experiences of community-building truly stand out. From the awe-inspiring solar eclipse to celebrating Glenview's 125th birthday, and hosting our first-ever end-of-summer reading foam party, these events brought us together in fun and meaningful ways. Witnessing our community come together at the Library continues to inspire us every day. Thank you, Glenview, for making 2024 an extraordinary year at the Library!

Reads Together

One Community, Many Stories

Meet the Author

A Conversation with Author Catherine Newman ®

Wednesday, Apr 9, 7-8:30 PM

Glenview Park Center, Lakeview Room

Glenview Reads Together, the Library's annual community wide reading program, returns! Join us for an engaging evening as New York Times bestselling author Catherine Newman is interviewed by journalist Heidi Stevens about her heartfelt book Sandwich.

A book sale and signing, courtesy of The Book Stall, will follow the program.

Thank you to the Glenview Public Library Foundation for the generous support of our program.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Catherine Newman is a New York Times bestselling author of adult fiction, nonfiction, and children's nonfiction books. She writes the Substack newsletter, Crone Sandwich, and has been a regular contributor to the New York Times, Real Simple, O, The Oprah Magazine, Cup of Jo, and many other publications. She has a PhD and lives in Massachusetts where she is the Academic Department Coordinator of Creative Writing at Amherst College.

INTERVIEWED BY

Heidi Stevens is the Director of External Affairs at the University of Chicago's TMW Center for Early Learning + Public Health. Prior to joining University of Chicago, Heidi worked at the Chicago Tribune for 23 years as a writer and editor, writing a daily column called Balancing Act for the past decade.

ABOUT THE BOOK

For two decades, Cape Cod has been Rocky's annual escape. But this year, as her body and life undergo transformation, a series of unexpected events sends her spiraling back in time. Revisiting past summers, both joyful and painful, forces her to confront the complexities of family, love, and the fleeting nature of youth.
