HOW TO CARE FOR OPALS

Australian opals are renowned for their stunning beauty, with three main types: Triplet Opals, Doublet Opals, and Solid Opals.

Firegem™ Triplet Opals, sourced from Coober Pedy (SA), are created by layering a thin slice of opal with a backing of black material and a protective dome of glass or resin. This construction enhances their colour and brilliance. Boulder Doublet Opals, sourced from Queensland, are similar but consist of only two layers: the opal and a backing. Both types can be susceptible to water penetration, which may lead to damage. If water seeps in, it can cause a foggy appearance, discolouration or cracking.

To care for Triplet and Doublet Opals, avoid using bleach, harsh chemicals, or ultrasonic cleaners or exposure to water. Instead, gently wipe with a soft cloth.

In contrast, Firegem™ Solid Opals, sourced from Coober Pedy (SA) and Lightning Ridge (NSW), are naturally water-resistant and highly durable, making them less prone to damage.

To care for Solid Opals, avoid using bleach, harsh chemicals or soaking. Instead, clean with mild detergent and warm water.
