Episode 2

The Evil Warlords of Solargon:

FAKEHART AND DEMENTICK

Meanwhile... Back in the castle chambers of Lord Fakehart and Dementick

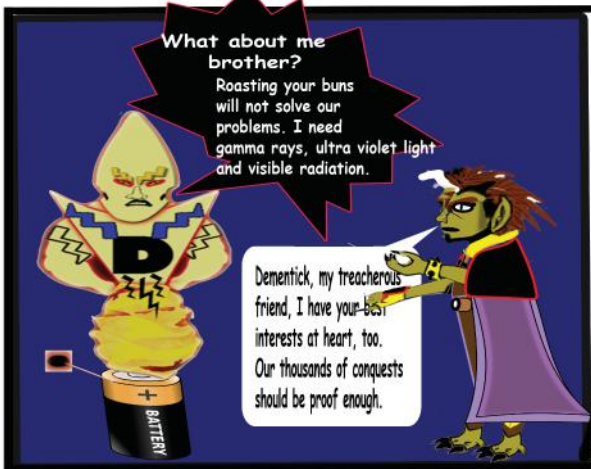

The guards flew through the hot, steamy caves to the prison cells, searching for the three largest prisoners.

The boiling lava pits heated the prison cells. Keeping them in a comfortable place, unlike the freezing cold above in Fakehart's royal chambers. Nobody told the warlords about the warmth, so they continued to freeze.

Lord Fakehart did nothing to save the falling castle from being damaged by freezing days and nights. The lack of starlight left Dementick's powers weak.

The guard saw the large Hippogrows, volcano scientists, working. They told them Lord Fakehart wanted to reward them and they should follow them to his chambers.

Well, my furry friends,
I would consider your jobs
important
if I wasn't freezing
my tail off!
I'm a fair ruler,
so to show my undying
appreciation, please throw their mattresses into the pit first.

You boys have a wonderful and cushiony landing. Ha-ha!

Next time, guard, keep your useless babble to yourself
or you will join them.

Fakehart will destroy the planet sooner with his selfish acts and desire for comfort.
