BEEF CATTLE REPLICAS

by Natureworks

THE BREEDING OF BEEF CATTLE HAS BECOME ONE OF THE MOST IMPORTANT COMMERCIAL UNDERTAKING OF ANY ANIMAL SPECIES ON THE PLANET. THE RANGE OF DIFFERENT BREEDS HAS BECOME A FASCINATING EXERCISE IN "SCULPTING" NEW BREEDS OF ANIMALS WITH DIFFERENT CHARACTERISTICS AND LIFESTYLE REQUIREMENTS.

INVARIABLY BREEDERS WORLDWIDE INVEST MILLIONS OF DOLLARS INTO REFINING CHARACTERISTICS IN THE FORM, SHAPE AND TASTE OF THE ANIMALS.

NATUREWORKS BELIEVES IT IS ABOUT TIME THIS RANGE OF BOVINE BEAUTY WAS PRODUCED IN A LIFE SIZE SCULPTED FORM TO A MUSEUM STANDARD OF EXCELLENCE, WHICH COULD BE USED FOR A VAST RANGE OF DISPLAY REQUIREMENTS.

THE NATUREWORKS SCULPTORS ARE NOW WORKING TOWARDS COMPLETING THEIR "NO NEED TO FEED" RANGE OF ALL OF THE WORLD'S CATTLE BREEDS.

THE PRIORITIES FOR SCULPTING THE VARIOUS BREEDS IS CONSTANTLY BEING REVIEWED AS FARMERS, EXPORTERS AND DEALERS MAKE DIRECT ENQUIRIES TO US TO SCULPT THEIR PARTICULAR BREED.

WE ARE LOOKING FOR BREEDERS WITH CHAMPION BULLS WHO WANT THEIR PIECE TO BE THE BLUE-PRINT FOR THE PERFECT BEAST!

GIVE NATUREWORKS A CALL IF YOU WOULD LIKE YOUR CHAMPION IMMORTALISED AS A LIFESIZE ART REPLICA. THE FINISH CAN BE IDENTICALLY PAINTED IN TRUE TO LIVE COLOURING AS YOUR OWN ANIMAL OR FINISHED IN BRONZE SO AS TO PRESENT AS A MORE TRADITIONAL WORK OF ART.

DROUGHTMASTER BULL - STANDING

The Droughtmaster evolved in north Queensland originally by crossing Brahman and Shorthorn cattle in an attempt to combine the desirable qualities of the two breeds to produce a breed suitable for the tropics.

Natureworks Bull

Bull Characteristics

Droughtmasters are medium to large cattle with medium maturity. They have good body length, a sleek coat, and a reputation for reasonable fertility, ease of calving and good mothering ability under harsh conditions. Dressing percentage is high. They have a quiet temperament, are good foragers, have a high resistance to bloat and are tolerant of heat and ticks.

BEEF CATTLE REPLICAS

David in Rockhampton News 2015

Tens of thousands of visitors to Beef Australia 2015 this week have been greeted by a small paddock of brahman bulls, droughtmasters and greys, but these ones don't require any love.

They look just as heavy and as big as the real ones but instead they are made from fibreglass.

Natureworks director David Joffe said the life-like sculptures have received a lot of interest from beef producers at the week-long industry event.

David hopes his company, which creates sculptures of animals and imaginary creatures, can team up with a number of cattle breeders to create more bull casts.

"We're hoping to, within a few years, have all the [Australian beef cattle] breeds greeting people as they walk into Beef Week," he said.

Having spent more than a decade working at the Queensland Museum in Brisbane, David mastered the art of creating realistic looking sculptures.

He said he made his first bull 30 years ago but has spent time perfecting the technique since then.

"[We need] the perfect photos or the perfect artwork and ideally a drawing with all the different details to find the perfect head, the perfect rump," he said of the creative process.

"We also need to work from exact measurements, you know the width of their hips, the height of the hump at the back, so once we have the information accurate, we start sculpting in plasticine with a steel armature.

"We then mould it in silicon rubber, strip it off the original sculpture and then lay fibreglass into the silicon mould."

And from there it is just a matter of joining together the two halves and painting its features.

David said the response from the public at the event has been surprising.

"We've been focused on the bulls for the last six months but I've come to realise the massive amount of interest in these animals is actually worth pursuing because a lot of people make their entire living out of one breed of animal," he said. (article published by abc.net.au/news - Alice Roberts)
