Building bridges Rotary District Governor praises local club for its work in community

By Henry E. Green

The Abbeville Rotary Club's Rotary Bowl may be one of the oldest continuously held Rotary events in Rotary District 7750, Rotary District Governor Joyce Morin told Abbeville Rotarians Thursday.

Dating from the mid-1960s, the Rotary Bowl is held every year at Hite Stadium in Abbeville, and presents a day of recreation-league football.

Abbeville Rotary Club members take tickets, serve corn dogs, soft drinks, and other goodies at the concessions area, and serve as announcers in the press box.

This year, the Abbeville Rotary Bowl will be held on Oct. 8.

Oct. 8.
In addition to the Rotary Bowl, the club presents a number of other events, including a corn hole tournament in the spring, and the Reindeer Run at Christmas time.

She praised the club's effort to promote literacy through its planned involvement with the Dolly Parton Imagination Library.

Morin praised them all during her visit to the club, and provided an overview of Rotary and its mission.

After inducting two new members of the club--J.P. Mosley and Mike Mahaffey---Morin talked about the group whose slogan is "Service Above Self."

An organization which takes in 1.4 million members, Rotary has an impact which is truly far-reaching, from helping provide clean water in Honduras to promoting literacy to doing battle with Alzheimer's--to working for world peace.

There are even Rotarians in Ukraine--doing their best to serve people in that wartorn country.

"You do an awful lot of good," she told club members.

The organization as a whole is breaking barriers.

"Jennifer Jones is our first female president of Rotary International," she continued.

The organization wants to welcome people of all backgrounds, something which will make Rotary even stronger, enhancing an organization which has been leaving its mark for more than a century.

"We've been around for 117 years," she said.

Aerofoam set to create 50 new jobs

By Henry E. Green

Aerofoam USA, a brand of the family-owned, international firm Hira Industries, today announced plans to establish its United States headquarters and operations in Abbeville County, and the company's $11.5 million investment will create 50 new jobs, according to the South Carolina Department of Commerce.

"Aerofoam USA produces high-quality, sustainable thermal insulation and Aero-Sound® acoustic solutions for residential, commercial and industrial buildings," according to Commerce. "The company specializes in closed-cell thermal insulation materials for condensation control in air conditioning, refrigeration and chilled water installations, as well as reducing thermal losses in heating and plumbing systems."

Aerofoam USA's new facility is the company's first operation in North America. The company will manufacture nytril buthene rubber (NBR) for thermal acoustic products utilized in HVAC-R systems, mechanical applications, transport, packaging and more - along with products used by original equipment manufacturers. South Carolina's Coordi-

South Carolina's Coordinating Council for Economic Development has approved job development credits related to this project, and the council also approved a $600,000 Rural Infrastructure Fund grant to Abbeville County to assist with costs related to the project.

The facility will be located in the spec building in the Lakelands Commerce Park, said Abbeville County Council Chairman Billy Norris.

This park is on the eastern outskirts of Abbeville.

The company bought the building, along with some adjacent property for future expansion.

The spec building had been built by Abbeville County with state and federal funds as well as funds from Little River Electric.

"I'm so happy to see someone going in and using that building," he said.

Abbeville County Council is still deciding how to use the Rural Infrastructure Fund grant money, but one option might be to put it toward building another spec building, Norris said.

The spec building was originally built to attract industry and create jobs in Abbeville County, Norris said.

Commission marks Revolutionary War era

By Henry E. Green

The South Carolina American Revolution Sestercentennial Commission is inviting Abbeville County to join the celebration of the Revolutionary War era, according to a letter from Commission chairman Charles B. Baxley to County Council chairman Billy Norris.

According to the letter, the Commission is encouraging each county in South Carolina to create a County 250 committee.

The Commission has launched the County 250 Organizing Grants--non-competitive grants of $3,000 per county to help create a County 250 Committee. This kind of grant would be to help create an "official" County 250 Committee and help get their activities off the ground.

The Commission wants to have one official Committee per county, and calls on County Council to pass a resolution and create a committee contact list.

The Commission is also seeing the celebration as an opportunity to expand tourism.

"The national and international publicity of the 250th Anniversaries will drive tourists to South Carolina," Baxley said. "We must be ready to greet them, meet their needs, and, well, tell our stories."

South Carolina had more than 400 documented battles, skirmishes and murders during this era, Baxley said.

"We are encouraging County 250 Committees to look beyond the battlefields and find the stories the traditionally disenfranchised Native Americans, African Americans, women and children," he wrote. "The state was also split between Patriots and Loyalists. All of their stories need to be told."

Abbeville Opera House Alice in Chains tribute band to perform

By Henry E. Green

Angry Chair: the Ultimate Alice in Chains Tribute will be performing at the Abbeville Opera House on August 6 at 7:30 p.m., according to a schedule released by City of Abbeville special events coordinator Emily Bledsoe.

This band from the Pacific Northwest was immensely popularly during the "grunge" era of the 1990s.

Indeed, the month of August is going to be a busy one in terms of entertainment at Abbeville's community theater.

Other acts during the at 7:30 p.m.

month of August will include Ginger Billy, set to perform at the Opera House at 5 p.m. and 9 p.m.

Clay Page will bring a country flavor to the Opera House at Saturday, August 20, at 7:30 p.m.

Page is no stranger to Abbeville County audiences--he performed at the Freedom Blast at the Blue Hole in Calhoun Falls in early July, for example.

On August 27, there will be another tribute band. The Dirty Doors: A Tribute to the Doors on August 27,

The Doors, of course, were one of the iconic bands of the Sixties. Before his death in 1971, lead singer Jim Morrison led the group to prominence with a strain of rock'n'roll that was often dark and moody.

Their break-out hit, "Light My Fire" came in the summer of 1967, but there were other memorable songs in the Doors' collection, including "Break on Through", "Hello, I Love You", "Love Her Madly", "People Are Strange," and "L.A. Wom-

Angel: Robotics will benefit from state funds

By Henry E. Green

Money from the state will help the robotics network of which Due West Robotics is a part.

A "funding earmark" request made through the Abbeville County Legislative Delegation for $150,000 from the state budget for SC FIRST has been approved, according to State Representative Craig Gagnon, a Delegation member.

Due West Robotics is an affiliate of SC FIRST, and Due West Robotics president Charles Angel expressed his happiness at the approval.

The $150,000 will help FIRST South Carolina host robotics events/competitions and increase the number of teams and students involved in youth robotics statewide, he said.

"These opportunities expose young people to potential career paths and give them the experience and confidence to pursue a future in the technology field when they get older." Robotics at the local level that would not exist otherwise in our county, making STEM more accessible to students.

"I have seen firsthand how these opportunities open the eyes of our youth to STEM and technology

"We are extremely grateful to Representative Gagnon for his support of STEM in the state and Abbeville County!"

The scholarship is awarded based on involvement in community and/or school, motivation and goals, academics, references, and a personal interview.

Funding for the scholarships comes from contributions to the Foundation's Annual Giving Campaign, mailed to community members each year. The campaign also supports the purchase of various pieces of equipment for hospital departments.

"We are honored to award scholarships to these nine outstanding students and AAMC employees," stated Roddy Gray, AAMC Foundation Chair. "Each demonstrated through the application and interview process that they were very deserving of the Foundation's support."

For more information about the scholarship or how you can support the AAMC Foundation, contact the Foundation Office at (864) 366-3364.

Gathering set for John de la Howe to celebrate legacy of New Bordeaux

By Henry E. Green

Just south of Abbeville County a tribute to a settlement that is gone, but definitely not forgotten, is being planned.

The Governors School of Agriculture at John de la Howe, according to reports, is hosting an event on August 7, in conjunction with Willington on the Way and Willington Presbyterian Church to commemorate the 258th anniversary of the arrival of the Huguenots at New Bordeaux in 1764.

The gathering will be held at the campus chapel with lunch to follow.

The speaker will be Dr. Margaret Keneman, Assistant Professor at the College of Charleston. An applied linguist and coordinator for the Beginning and Intermediate French program, she will speak on "We Know the Past, A Glimpse Into the Future."

So who were the Hugue-

The Huguenots were French Protestants in the 16th and 17th centuries who followed the teachings of theologian John Calvin.

Since France was an overwhelmingly Catholic country, the Huguenots at times faced persecution.

King Henry IV provided them with a measure of religious toleration, allowing them to worship as they pleased, with the Edict of Nantes.

However, the French king Louis XIV revoked the Edict of Nantes in 1685, and many Huguenots fled from France, and many came to America.

Anumber of them settled in South Carolina. According to www.carolana.com, 212 Huguenots, under the leadership of Rev. Jean Louis Gibert, established New Bordeaux in what is now McCormick County in 1764. According to scpicture-project.org, it was the last of seven Huguenot colonies established in South Carolina.

According to author Tom Poland. New Bordeaux flourished for a time, with the settlers working hard to make it a success.

"They planted fruit trees, olive groves and vineyards and began producing white and red wines," Poland has written.

However, the good times did not last. Gibert died in 1773 after eating poisonous mushrooms, Poland has written.

The colony missed his leadership, and the Revolutionary War damaged the settlement's economy.

Today, New Bordeaux is no longer in existence, although today there is a monument on the site of the Huguenot church built there.

Regret

Mark 14:72 "A second time the rooster crowed. Then Peter called to mind the word that Jesus had said to him, 'Before the rooster crows twice, you will deny Me three times.' And when he thought about it, he wept."

How do you handle regrets?

grets? We all have them, but we all deal with them differently. The literary giant from another generation, Samuel Johnson, had a boyhood regret for 50 years. His father was a book seller—selling books from town to town during Johnson's boyhood. Once when his father was very ill, very tired, and worn down by his constant struggle to support his family, he asked young Samuel to go to the market nearby and take his place. Young Samuel smugly refused to go. His father dressed and made the arduous trip himself—never saying a word of reproach to his son. Fifty years later, the now renowned and prosperous Samuel Johnson, now his name a household word throughout England, stood bareheaded for hours close to the spot in that same small community where once his father's bookstall had stood. People stared at him as he stood there almost motionless in the midst of rain and wind. He was remembering that time long ago when his quickly aging father asked

That is how Samuel Johnson handled his regret. I am sure that Peter handled his quite differently. When Peter heard the rooster crow, he was reminded of the prediction that Jesus made after Peter so boldly promised to

of him a small favor and he had smugly refused.

die with Jesus. Jesus told him that before the rooster crowed twice he would deny Him three timesthat had happened and the rooster had crowed. Peter wept when he remembered what Jesus had told him. I have often wondered if Peter's mind went back to that cowardly act every time he heard a rooster crow. It could be that every time Peter heard a rooster crow from then on it would trigger that shameful night.

Do certain things trigger shameful regrets for you? If so, how do you handle them? If you are a believer, let me suggest three things you can do when certain things trigger regrets from your past.

The first one is, you can remind yourself that God has forgiven you of that indiscretion. 1 John 1:9 gives us this assurance: "If we confess our sins, He is faithful and just to forgive us our sins and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness." If you have confessed to Jesus that you have sinned and asked Him to forgive you, then He did—period. No ifs ands or buts—He forgave you. When certain things trigger grief for your past—pause and thank God that He forgave you. Praise Him for His wonderful forgiveness.

The second thing you can do is repeat God's promise of forgiveness. Psalm 103:12 "As far as the east is from the west. so far has He removed our transgressions from us." I am glad that the Psalmist said as far as the east is from the west rather than from as far as the north from the south. There is a north pole and a south pole—but east never meets west. Hebrews 10:17 says, "...their sins and lawless deeds I will remember no more." What wonderful promises to repeat to one's self.

The third thing you can do is to rely on God to prevent future indiscretions. Let your past indiscretions spur you to rely on God for future help-do not trust your own self-if you do you will fail. In the model prayer, Matthew 6:13 Jesus taught us to pray "and do not lead us into temptation, but deliver us from the evil one. For yours is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory forever. Amen." Basically this is a prayer ahead to time, don't wait for temptation to come in order to pray for strength—then it will be too late. We need to pray ahead of time for God to protect us and deliver us. Notice the last part of verse 13-"...for yours is the kingdom and the power"—He has the power, not us.

If you are not a Christian and something triggers regret, let that regret over your past spur you to make a decision to ask God to forgive you and give your heart to Him. If you ask God to forgive you He most certainly will.

Nashville scene

A man from Calhoun Falls is to be honored for his musical talent

By Henry E. Green

When David Dorn was young, his father Mike taught him the basics of piano.

Fast forward a number of years, and this man from Calhoun Falls is bringing to fulfillment what his father started--he is being honored by the country music industry.

David Dorn, 37, is to be formally recognized at the 15th annual Academy of Country Music honors ceremony taking place on August 24 at the Ryman Auditorium in Nashville, as the Piano/Keys Player of the Year

Dorn attended Calhoun Falls High School and spent his last two years studying music at the Governor's School for the Arts and Humanities, where he graduated.

He attended Erskine College for two years before transferring to Belmont University in Tennessee, where he graduated in music performance in 2007 Today, Dorn is a producer, and does session work.

"He's played with a lot of big names." said his father big names," said his father Mike Dorn. Those "big names" have included such luminaries as Keith Urban, Tim McGraw, and Josh Turner.

All in all, Dorn's success might not be surprising. He started his love affair with music as early as the age of four or five.

"It's been part of my life for as long as i can remember," he said by telephone from Nashville, where he has lived 17 years.

He studied with the famous piano teacher, the late Grace Bowen Utsey, seven years.

After college, he started a studio called the Sound Office, and he got into a band. Things were looking up. "We got signed to a record deal," he said.

The band ultimately did not work out, but he began to be asked to do sessions work as a keyboard player. "That sort of started a career path," he said.

Musicians doing sessions work are hired to perform music during a recording session.

Sessions work is something that benefits from word of mouth, and David began working on bigger and bigger projects.
The pay is good, and David

, who plays the piano, the organ and other keyboards, is definitely not unhappy. "It's a pretty good gig," he said. "It's like being in the NFL of musicians."

It doesn't hurt that he reads music, and he has perfect pitch as well.

Dorn is quick to add that Nashville is a town that is dear to his heart, replete with an energy all its own.

"The musicianship in this town is unbelievable," he said. "Everybody here is talented."

Nashville is a growing city, with its share of growing pains, but Dorn is confident that it can meet the challenges.

"Musically it's as creative as ever," he said.

His family makes the Nashville scene complete. He and his wife Jessica, a song writer, have two childrenfive year old Jameson, and two year old Joetta.

As busy as he is, he also finds time to be a producer-a job which is a bit different from being a sessions player, in that in sessions work, you contribute your own musical segment to a record and walk away, but a producer, having more responsibility, sees the record to its conclusion.

There is much more involvement with the record when you are a producer.
And sessions work, while the pay is good, can be the pay is good, can be demanding--you can work from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Dorn, who also sings keeps balanced by spending time with his family--he tries to devote his weekends to family time.

Meanwhile, he does have dreams. He would like to have his own record label, and he wouldn't mind releasing a solo album.

Whatever his future is, it is a good bet that music will be a part of it.

Extension Agent Adam Gore described it all:

"The overall purpose of this series is to assist those Abbeville County residents, including those that have lived here for a while and those that may have just moved in, that may be interested in being a little more self-reliant," he said.

"Abbeville County only has one grocery store--however, that does not mean that we cannot produce some of our own vegetables, fruits, and proteins. These courses will serve as an introduction for growing vegetables in our soils, food preservation, fruit production in a landscape, and how to raise small animals in a small setting. agents, Gore went onto say. He himself will be teaching the soil and vegetable workshop, while Alex Thompson, a Food Health and Safety agent from Greenville, will teach canning, and Kerrie Roach, Horticulture agent from Oconee County, will teach the fruits class, and Reid Miller, Livestock and Forages agent out of Greenwood, will teach the backyard flock course.

Classes will be held at the Abbeville Extension Office located at 265 Industrial Park Road, Abbeville, South Carolina 29620. Courses can be signed up for individually which allows people who may be less interested in certain topics to skip without having to pay a fee.

The classes including the following:

--Introduction to Vegetable Gardening and Upstate Soils, on August 16, 2022, from 6:00 p.m. – 8:00 p.m. Participants will learn about the soils of Abbeville County and how to use

"Participants will engage in the full canning process from preparation to processing using current USDA recommended techniques," Gore said. "This workshop will highlight pressure canning and participants will take home a jar of their product they produced."

--Fruit Trees and Edible Landscaping, August 30, 2022 6:00 p.m. – 8:00 p.m.

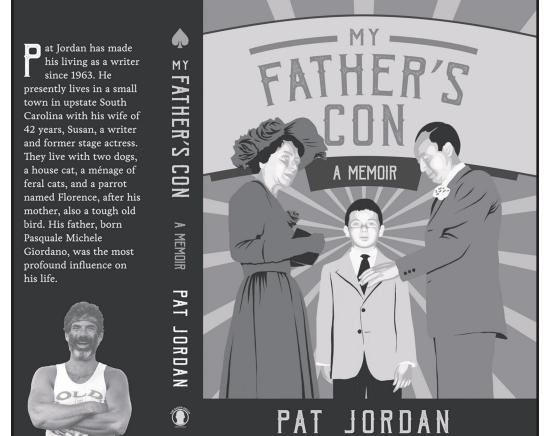

The proper selection and care of fruit trees for this area of the state will provide subjects of study for this class.

--Your Backyard Flock and Small Animals, September 6, 2022 6:00 p.m. – 8:00 p.m.

This class deals with the management of small poultry flocks and other small animals in a homesteading environment.

To sign up, residents can go through either the Extension webpage, www.clemson. edu/extension/abbeville, or through Clemson's events calendar. ""We are always welcome to assist folks in signing up by calling our office at 864-446-2276," Gore said.

Scott, Cruz, and Lummis Introduce Recession Resolution

WASHINGTON - U.S. Senators Tim Scott (R-S.C.), Ted Cruz (R-Texas), and Cynthia Lummis (R-Wyo.) this week introduced a resolution to affirm the historic definition of an economic recession. Historically, an economic recession has been defined as two consecutive negative quarters of GDP growth. "In the midst of a 40-year high in inflation, the Biden administration is now attempting to redefine the term 'recession.' But twisting words does not change the reality: Americans are hurting because of Democrats' harmful economic policies," said Senator Scott. "This administration can continue to push reckless spending proposals and insist the economy is moving in a positive direction, but Americans simply aren't taking the bait. I'm proud to join Senators Cruz and Lummis on this resolution that puts words to the struggle families are facing across this nation."

"The Biden White House is undertaking an Orwellian effort that ignores history in order to try to redefine the actual definition of the term 'recession' in order to avoid bad headlines," said Senator Cruz. "No amount of double-speak can change the fact that President Biden's failed economic policies are fueling inflation, or have driven our country to the brink of a recession. The American people know this, which is why consumer sentiment has plummeted. Definitions matter, and the Biden White House simply cannot rewrite the facts in order to hide from the truth."

"The definition of a recession is crystal clear, but President Biden is trying to rewrite history and change the definition of a recession to try to make it seem like the economy hasn't taken a total nosedive since his presidency began," said Senator Lummis. "I'm proud to join my colleagues in introducing this resolution to send a message, loud and clear, to President Biden, that he cannot change economic rules to defend the fact that there has been too much spending the last two years."

Dr. James A. Thorp, MD, Issues Challenge to US Doctors

By Geoff Hult

The following is a transcript from a short speech/ presentation by Dr. James A. Thorp, MD, in regards to the Covid-19 vaccine. Dr. Thorp is one of the very few US doctors with the integrity and fortitude to publicly speak out on the dangers of this inoculation. The video is on bitchute.com and perhaps other video platforms and can be found at the link bitchute.com/video/ axi0XR20USsn/. Those are two zeroes, not capital Os. Listen for yourself.

"Hello, my name is Dr. James A. Thorp, MD, and I am a board certified obstetrician/gynecologist and a board certified maternal-fetal medicine physician. I'm talking today about banning and placing a worldwide moratorium on the C-19 injections. Ban the poison. Open your eyes and connect the dots. To my physician colleagues, who are continuing to take their paychecks, and continuing to dishonor their Hippocratic Oaths, I would encourage you to wake up and do your own due diligence, and I would come out as soon as possible and do an academic metanoia. In other words, look at the avalanche of data that's coming out every single day for the last two years, and make up your own mind. The academic crown of intellectual and moral integrity is to look at new data. And based upon the new data, admit that you're wrong and make it known. It's extremely important that you do that. You physicians that are pushing the vaccine, I'd be very careful about watching what's going on around the world."

"We now have multiple countries whose governments have looked at the data and have banned the C-19 injections in certain segments of their population. And guess who they're blaming? They're blaming you, the physicians. And the same thing will happen here in the United States of America. The CDC and the FDA and the huge, massive bribe from the federal government, the HHS, and the Covid Correlation Coalition Corp (CCC) has poured tens of billions into pushing their fake, unscientific narrative. You know that there's a fake, unscientific narrative when they threaten collegial discussions like we're having right now."

"When every physician and nurse in the United States of America are put under a gag order, that is the antithesis of science. Sir Carl Popper, the famous philosopher and researcher from the UK last century states the following: science does not progress without academic discussion in a collegial manner which observes those in the minority viewpoints. Sir Carl Popper went on to say that science advances by refutation and by falsification. I, Dr. James Thorp, have refuted, have falsified with clear data, the scientific narrative. It's incumbent upon you, CDC, FDA, the American boards, physicians, to engage in a dialogue with me and try to falsify my data. You won't do that, and you cannot do that because the data is so massive.' "Now, let me pose this simple question: You physicians who are pushing this C-19 injection...where's your safety data? And where is your honest, true informed consent? You have not been given the contents of the vaccine so it's impossible for you to give your patient informed consent... you have breached the Nuremberg Code which demands the most important component and element of the Nuremberg Code: informed consent. You have not given informed consent to anybody...We don't make medical decisions on what ignorant bureaucrats that are corrupt tell us to do. We have our Hippocratic Oath."

"So, physicians, if you don't believe the VAERS data, that's unfortunate. It began in 1990, and the VAERS data has irrefutably documented huge concerns with safety signals. So, you want to throw that out the window? That means you're going to have to throw out 20 other independent, verifiable sources that are totally consistent with the VAERS data, if not worse than the VAERS data." "Are you going to believe Pfizer, internal documents, when they tell you themselves that the alleged vaccine, the C-19 injection, is deadly and harmful? If you aren't aware of that document, that document has been made public. That document was available February 28th, 2021. Go to Pfizer document 5.3.6 post marketing experience. Google that, plug it in, go to page 7 and look at the table. There were 1223 deaths in addition to a large number of major adverse events within the first 90 days or less of the rollout of the vaccine. That, in and of itself is ample data to have never promoted the drug and to have taken it off the market."

"In 1976, I was a second year medical student. There were 50 deaths with the swine flu vaccine. That vaccine was immediately taken off the market. Same thing with the rotavirus at the turn of the century, except the rotavirus had only a dozen or so cases of non-lethal intussusception, yet that was immediately taken off the market. Now, we're breaking all the rules moving forward. We had slander physicians

demean them, and de-platform them because there was an early treatment which we all put forth. It was extremely effective, and yet it was dismissed because it otherwise would have been illegal to push the vaccine."

The pandemic, with our disaster capitalism, healthcare cartel, which includes the CDC, the agents, several corrupt academic institutions and academic journals, the flagship of which is the New England Journal of Medicine, are putting out fraudulent misinformation, pushing this lethal vaccine even in pregnancy.'

"The crown of a true academician is to look at new data and do an about-face, with new data, and to admit you were wrong...If you want to debate this topic, please contact me. I'm at jathorp@ bellsouth.net. I would love to have a public discussion of the data from your point of view and from my point the United States Senate, publicly with Ron Johnson and whoever else you want to bring to debate your position. Thank you very much, God bless you, and let's do the right thing.'

In other words, stop hiding behind the weight of the establishment narrative and parroting the false and ludicrous slogan of "safe and effective."

Ignorance regarding the effects of this injection is inexcusable at this point. Ignorance in an age of information is a choice, and although Pharma may be the hand that feeds you, Pharma is involved in crimes against humanity and high level fraud. There are claims by the establishment that 20 million lives have been saved by this vaccine. This is total, off the chain nonsense and a claim that has no backing whatsoever. It is only being put forth as sick propaganda to cover for the fact that more and more information is coming out all the time regarding the amounts of injury and death resulting from these injections. Just as an individual psychopath may double down on their lies when caught in a lie, the criminal system does the same thing and is doing so with the absurd claim of millions of lives being saved from this biological weapon that is being called a vaccine. I get my information on this subject from listening to doctors, not the usual and convenient scapegoat of social media. Remember the words of Dietrich Bonhoeffer: "Silence in the face of evil is itself evil; God will not hold us guiltless." "For whatever is hidden shall be revealed, and whatever is secret shall be known and come to light." (Luke 8:17)

US House of Representatives

Rep. Duncan Releases Statement on the CHIPS Act

Submitted by Congressman Jeff Duncan

Washington, D.C.— "The Senate's monstrosity of a package, CHIPS-plus, spends hundreds of billions of dollars to fund Democrat pet projects, fan inflation, and worsen the recession, all while failing to achieve its stated purpose of making us more competitive with China," said Congressman Jeff Duncan. "I would have preferred to see some effort to truly work across the aisle, but Democrats would rather cut backroom deals than negotiate in good faith. As a member of the conference committee tasked with improving the legislation, I saw firsthand the Democrats' lack of commitment to combat China."

"CHIPS-plusfailstoachieve its stated goal of making the U.S. more competitive with China," said Congressman Jeff Duncan. "Under this legislation, semiconductor manufacturing will continue taking place overseas because Democrats refuse to address the regulatory impediments to production here in the United States while failing to put guardrails on their subsidies. Inflation is at 9.1%, and the United States has just entered a recession, yet the Democrat-controlled Congress is voting to spend hundreds of billions of dollars we don't have on programs that we know won't work. We must increase chip manufacturing here in the United States and the most effective way to do so is by supporting an environment that strengthens supply chains, provides affordable and reliable baseload power, eliminates overregulation, and encourages innovation and job creation here in the United States.

I voted NO on the CHIPSplus Act because it falls short of actually challenging China while lacking the financial safeguards that the American taxpayers deserve."

US House of Representatives

Rep. Duncan Releases Statement on U.S. Entering a Recession

Submitted by Congressman Jeff Duncan

Washington, D.C.— Conissued the following statement on the U.S. economy shrinking at a 0.9% annual rate last quarter for the second straight quarterly decline in GDP (Gross Domestic Product), meeting the standard for a recession: "Democrats may try to change the definition of 'recession,' but that does gressman Jeff Duncan nothing to change the dire reality Americans are facing financially and the fact that the economy has declined in the past two quarters," said Congressman Jeff Duncan. "GDP has shrunk for the second consecutive quarter, and the American economy now meets the generally accepted standards for a recession.

Americans are struggling with surging inflation and energy costs, and it is imperative we rein in the reckless government spending and America-last policies that cause our economy to recede."

Football season preview

Dixie High Hornets eager to get started

By Henry E. Green

Experience. Experience.

Experience.

The Dixie High School Hornets have plenty of that going into the 2022 football season, and Dixie head football coach Vic Lollis is quite pleased about that.

"Experience will be one of our strengths," he said.

Dixie has 28 individuals returning from last year's team, according to Lollis.

"This year I'll have 12 seniors on the roster," he said. The Hornets have been averaging about 43 kids a day for practice, and Lollis plans to have about 40 young people altogether on the roster.

Lollis expects Dixie's contingent of running backs to be led by senior Hunter Satterfield and junior Austin Wilson, backed up by freshman Brandon Nance and senior Davis Smalley.

Others who Lollis expects to see plenty of action include senior offensive lineman A.J. Johnson and junior offensive lineman James Jeter.

"Our basic offense will be the double wing," he said. The defense, meanwhile, should be as solid as it has

"I've got about the whole defense coming back," he been in years.

It is all good news for a team that was 7-2 last years, and finished second in the Region behind Southside Christian.

While Dixie will have considerable experience, the Hornets will face challenges as well.

"We'll have to really work on our long snaps," he said. The Hornets will be missing long snap specialist Landon Mitchell, who graduated last year.

Davis Smalley is expected to be the snapper, Marshall Dunn will be back as the punter, and Andrew Nickles will be the field goal kicker and will kick extra points as well

The Hornets will take on Calhoun Falls Charter on August 4 in the WCTEL Kickoff Classic, and on Monday, August 8, will scrimmage Whitmire at 6 p.m. in Due West.

Dixie will open its regular season by going on the road to take on Pendleton on August 19, and the following week the Hornets will host Crescent in Dixie's home opener.

The youngsters appear to be enthusiastic about the season so far, according to the coach.

"Their attitude has been great," said Lollis.

Athletic trainers add 'first line of defense'

By Henry E. Green

Henry E. Green)

The high schools in the Abbeville County School District are now in the process of getting athletic trainers, said Abbeville County School District Superintendent Dr. Mason Gary Tuesday.

Trainer Breanna Davis has already started working at AHS, and Dixie is in the process of hiring a trainer, he said.

The trainers will help with varsity sports, and will help meet a need, said the Superintendent, noting that in the past you could find physicians on the sidelines at football games, helping out with injuries.

Having a trainer expands the care offered, since a trainer can be present at practices as well. In addition to assisting players with injuries, trainers will perform tasks such as monitoring weather conditions. The trainers will provide a "first line of defense" for School District athletes, said Dr. Gary, who noted that to his knowledge this is the first time the schools have had athletic trainers. "This is a huge improvement," he said, adding that the trainers are coming to the School District through a special program. "It's a partnership we have with a company called Play-Safe," he said. The District is providing one third of the funding for the program, while PlaySafe is providing one third, and one third is coming from the local health care community, and the final third is coming from the local health care community.

"Everybody has a buy-in," said Dr. Gary, who noted that the trainers will have training rooms at their high schools, with equipment, and are certified as trainers.

Other school districts have athletic trainers for their varsity sports, Dr. Gary said.

Dixie sees new bleacher configuration

By Henry E. Green

Dixie High School is seeing a re-configuration of bleachers to ensure the safety of spectators at the Dixie High School football stadium, in preparation for the 2022 football season.

"The 'old' home bleachers were moved to the visitor side and they are safe," said Abbeville County School District Superintendent Dr. Mason Gary Wednesday. "The new 'home' bleachers arrived today and installation should begin any day."

The Hornets will open their season with a visit to Pendleton on August 19, and the Dixie home opener will be on August 26, when the Hornets host Crescent.

The National Park Nearest You

By Tom Poland

Here in the classic South, we have two choices when it comes to national parks. We have the Great Smoky Mountains National Park in Tennessee and we have Congaree National Park near Columbia, South Carolina. Chances are it's the closest national park to you.

On a hot and humid Sunday I paid it a visit. Right off I saw a brass relief of Harry Hampton on the visitor's center, and with good reason. For many a day Hampton led a lonely campaign to save Congaree Swamp, 15,000acre tract of pristine bottomland hardwood forest along the Congaree River's north bank some 20 miles southeast of Columbia.

As I walked the 2.4-mile boardwalk, I saw a red-bellied watersnake, whitetail deer, brilliantly colored spiders, and evidence of wild hogs. But the show here comes down to trees and at key times synchronized lightning bugs.

I walked through South Carolina's last virgin forest, which stands as tall as any temperate deciduous forest the world over. As civilizations rose and fell, Congaree's trees grew upward and outward, some of them for 800

In the 1890s, loggers felled bald cypress monarchs whose water-soaked logs sunk in revenge rather than float downriver to sawmills. The oft-flooded swamp, too bemired for road building, frustrated the loggers who abandoned their quest. Only nature has touched Congaree since. In 1989, Hurricane Hugo toppled several national champion trees, includingShumard oak. We can thank Harry Hampton for his role in saving Congaree.

In time, others took note of his efforts and a grassroots effort swelled to the point that a new designation arrived in 2003—Congaree National Park, a 26,276-acre national park in central South Carolina, the culmination of the campaign Hampton ignit-

Here, a 22,200-acre biome, the country's largest contiguous tract of old-growth bottomland hardwood forest, delights visitors. Know that it's the twelfth least visited national park. So, it's not swarming with people, and I like that.
