Real skill building, consistency,
and focus

is the bridge between membership and ownership

Too often, campers leave feeling like they had fun...but didn't actually accomplish much.

Specialties give campers the chance to learn real, professional-level skills in a focused, hands-on way.

It's about using time meaningfully so every girl leaves camp not just entertained, but empowered.

In many girls' camps,
sports are optional
or overlooked.

We see daily sports as a powerful opportunity for girls to move their bodies, get fresh air and sun, and build confidence through skill and play.

It's not just about exercise. It's about joy, strength, and growing into your best self.

Research shows that adolescent girls who engage in sports experience better mental health, stronger self-esteem, and lower stress levels.

To support every camper, sports will be offered in multiple tiers, so girls who are already confident can advance, and those who don't yet consider themselves "sporty" can build skills at their own pace.

SWIMMING ISN'T JUST A CAMP PERK; IT'S A LIFE SKILL.

And according to halacha,
a responsibility.

Many girls don't have regular access to a pool, so we're making sure every camper gets swim time and the chance to learn or improve.

We strongly encourage you to discuss with your daughter what she might need to feel comfortable in the pool.*

*Please note that swim dresses are not safe for the pool. T-shirts and shorts are fine.

EX PEC TA TIO NS

Set your daughter (and yourself) up for success by knowing what to expect and preparing accordingly.

A smooth summer starts with clear expectations.

Here are a few key policies and guidelines to help ensure everyone has the best experience possible.

Respect all

Every member of camp is committed to going about her day with respect to all: people, property, and program.

Safety

It's up to everyone to behave safely so nobody misses out on any good times.

Electronic free zone

We all love a good plug-out so we all get a full month of it! Bring only what you need and we'll keep it safe for you.

Dress code

Check it to avoid wardrobe mishaps mid-month. We provide the shirts, you bring the rest.

Packages

This is where we differentiate want and need. We accept packages with the essential items only.

Food

To keep wildlife where it belongs (outside the cabin), each camper receives a bin to fit all her snacks in.

TALKING
POLITICS

TALKING

CAMP IS FULL OF AMAZING MOMENTS, AND NEW RESPONSIBILITIES.

Taking a few minutes to talk through these topics with your daughter can make a big difference in helping her adjust, thrive, and contribute to a positive bunk environment:

- Living with others: Being flexible, sharing space, and resolving small conflicts respectfully
- Respecting privacy: Understanding that every girl has her own boundaries and standards
- Money sense: Being thoughtful about canteen spending and handling money wisely
- Staying organized: Keeping her area neat, labeling items, and being responsible for her belongings

These conversations now can go a long way in helping your daughter feel confident and prepared not only for camp, but for life.
