Neighborhoods in Southwestern Springettsbury

Township residents and the local community are invited to join Stephen Smith of the Historic Preservation Committee at the Springettsbury History Night event on Wednesday April 8, 2026. "Neighborhoods in southwestern Springettsbury" will explore the history and interesting stories about the East York, Fayfield and Green Acres developments. The event will take place in the Community Room within the Springettsbury Township Administrative Complex at 1501 Mount Zion Road, York, PA 17402, at 7:00 P.M., with doors opening at 6:30 P.M.

East York is the oldest planned community in the township. John H. Longstreet had lots laid out per a 1903 plan, and his residence was in the first structure completed in 1904. That building was a duplex, which included homes at 26 and 28 North Findlay Street; i.e. the building surrounded by mature trees in the 1930 photo. Overall only eight houses were built before 1920, followed by fifty houses built between 1920 and 1930; three of which are shown in the lower half of the photo. Though most East York homes were built between 1930 and 1955.

History Nights are held during April, July and October. They feature a presentation on an aspect of Township history including photographs and stories of life in Springettsbury Township. The Historic Preservation Committee invites community members to share their stories.

The Role of CPR in Cardiac Arrest

The goal of CPR is to keep blood and oxygen circulating until professional help arrives. By starting chest compressions – pressing hard and fast in the center of the chest – you’re manually pumping the heart, giving the person a vital chance of survival.

With only 1 in 10 people surviving an out-of-hospital cardiac arrest, early CPR is an important link in the cardiac chain of survival – the series of steps that must happen quickly for the best outcome. These include early recognition and calling for help, CPR, defibrillation, and advanced medical care. Early, high-quality CPR keeps blood flowing to the brain and vital organs, buying crucial time until a defibrillator or advanced treatment can restore a normal heart rhythm.

The Importance of CPR: Why Every Second Counts

Early CPR is Critical for Survival

When someone has a cardiac arrest, their chance of survival drops by about 10% for every minute without CPR or defibrillation. That means if you act immediately, you can make a lifesaving difference before emergency crews even arrive.

Early CPR is important because it bridges the gap between collapse and medical treatment. It keeps oxygen moving, protects the brain, and increases the effectiveness of defibrillation. The sooner you start CPR, the better the outcome.

In Cornwall, cyclist Simon Goddard was thankful for early CPR when he suffered a cardiac arrest while attempting to complete a 100-mile bike ride. Thankfully, staff at the Wheal Martyn museum café knew exactly what to do – they started CPR immediately, keeping blood flowing while they waited for our air ambulance crew to arrive.

5 Key Reasons Highlighting the Importance of CPR

- 1. CPR buys precious time until medical help arrives. Each second without oxygen can damage vital organs. CPR keeps blood pumping until the ambulance gets there.
- 2. CPR keeps oxygen reaching the brain and heart. Continuous compressions maintain a lifeline for vital organs.
- 3. CPR significantly improves survival rates. People who receive immediate CPR are far more likely to survive and recover.
- 4. CPR increases the success of defibrillation. A well-oxygenated heart is more likely to respond to a defibrillator shock.

CPR makes our communities safer. When more people feel confident to act in an emergency, lives are saved.
