WFNC Lesley Mathison Award for Best Club Person

by Angie Mawson

Each year WFNC present one junior member with the Lesley Mathison award. This award acknowledges the work by a junior member off the court, to promote, strengthen and support the club in volunteer hours. 2023 winner was Elizabeth Humphries.

Elizabeth plays in the 15&u side and is actively involved with both NetSetGo and training out 11&u side on Thursday nights. She was assistant coach this year to Shae Callahan and stepped up and solo coached the Tuesday night 11&U WFNC side on several occasions this year in Shae's absence. Elizabeth is a wonderful ambassador for this age group and confidently passes on her knowledge of the game to the up and coming club members.

Thank you Elizabeth for all your work with our junior development program at WFNC. We look forward to watching you develop further into this role in 2024.

WFNC junior presentation

Last Sunday WFNC held our junior vote count and presentation day.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor,

Recently, I was asked by a daily newspaper to declare my voting intentions in the upcoming referendum. I declined. All other Shire councillors except Councillor Barker disclosed their support for the 'Yes' vote.

The Universal Declaration of Human Rights protects the right of individuals to keep their vote private. I would never ask a resident to tell me how they intend to vote. I was not elected to provide gratuitous personal leadership on federal constitutional matters. I have no particular skill in those matters or in Indigenous affairs. The scope of my leadership role spans provision of infrastructure, services (including planning) and support for residents trying to interact with the Shire. I don't believe most residents are particularly interested in how I intend to vote because I'm not voting on their behalf. Personally, I don't believe councillors should use their positions to publicise their voting intentions or habits.

I would be happy to discuss the issue if any resident approaches me, but I don't profess to be an expert and I recommend people seek the advice they need from more authoritative sources.

Councillor for Winchelsea Ward

You can write for the Star

We want the Star to inform, engage, inspire, and interest the residents of Winchelsea and surrounds. And we need your writings to get there.

The Star has no actual reporters or designated writers - we publish what you send us. If you have some news, an opinion, an interest or perspective, or a story - we'd love you to send it in for publication.

The Star loves to hear anything of direct interest to the Winchelsea community. The more local content we can put in, the better!

How much can I write?

You can write just one article. You can start a new column about something you're interested in. You can send us a series of articles on a theme. What would you write about?

Your article can spread over 1 or 2 pages (approx 850 words) or you can write longer pieces and split them across multiple editions.

Add a photo or two, an article title and author's name (preferably).

Can you publish my photos?

A picture is worth a thousand words - but context is very interesting too! If you have a photo you'd like in the Star, add a few words describing where, when, who, why and/or what.

Ask permission to use photos

When you send us a photo, you give us implied permission for reproduction.

You have liability when publishing an image, so be sure you own the image or have written approval to use it. It is easy for copyright owners to find stolen images online, where the Star can be found.

Legalities

Our Editors will not approve anything libellous (ie. when a false statement is published in written form and does harm to a victim). The Star is a community newspaper - 'for' and 'against' opinions on contentious topics are welcome, but attacking individuals or groups is not.

We look forward to hearing from you.

New Climate Emergency Action Plan aims to inspire and support community

Surf Coast Shire Council has a new Climate Emergency Action Plan, detailing organisational goals for 2023-2025 and aiming to further inspire and support community Climate Emergency response.

Council resolved at its September meeting to adopt the 2023-2025 plan, while noting the delivery and significant achievements of its 2021-2023 Climate Emergency Action Plan.

The 2023-2025 plan includes enhanced focus on supporting community efforts to reduce greenhouse gas emissions and pursue renewable energy opportunities.

It commits to continue supporting Climate Emergency action through engagement, seed funding and capacity building, as well as promotion and delivery of community leadership programs which emphasise and encourage climate action.

"Delivery of goals in the 2021-2023 Climate Emergency Action Plan demonstrates the importance of having these shorter-term plans providing focus and targets within our overarching 2021-2031 Climate Emergency Response Plan," Cr Kate Gazzard said.

"While there is still so much to do, many significant things have been achieved under the goals within the 2021-2023 plan and among the most important is helping to further inspire and support community climate action.

"Council is committed to demonstrating climate leadership as an organisation but it is so important that our community, and businesses and organisations within our community, are taking meaningful steps as well. We all need to be working together to make a difference."

The 2023-2025 plan details actions to be undertaken within headline goals, that the organisation:

- Is carbon neutral,
- Generates, stores and uses renewable energy.
- Is adapting to the changing climate.
- Is working with local Registered Aboriginal Parties and First Nations on Climate Change.
- Facilitates and empowers community responses to the Climate Emergency, and
- Is a Climate Emergency leader.
- Achievements from the 2021-2023 action plan noted by Council include:
  - Reduction in Council non-landfill greenhouse gas emissions by 41 per cent since 2020-2021.
  - Transition to 100 per cent renewable electricity, which included saving $173,000 in utility costs.
  - Establishment of a Climate Emergency Grants stream to support community-led action.
  - Development of a Climate Adaptation Planning Framework.
  - Securing $1.5 million in external funding to progress climate action; and
  - Achieving Climate Active Carbon Neutral Standard certification.

Winchelsea Street Names

ATKINS ROAD

Named after early family of Atkins living on this road. We are featuring George Atkins (Curly).

George was convicted on 30/12/1843 of 'feloniously stolen, taken and led away one male ass of the value of twenty shillings' and after a spell in Pentonville Prison he was offered a pardon if he accepted exile in Australia - which he did! He sailed on 9/11/1844 in the Sir George Seymour with other exiles arriving in Geelong on 20/3/1845. George was employed by the Austin brothers at Barwon Park.

There are older Atkins buried in the Winchelsea cemetery but we are not sure who Atkins Road was named after.

The October Sunday Market

Strong winds on Sunday made it unpleasant for those who had stalls outside and only a few braved it.

Marlene Drayton and grand-daughter Dakota Vellman were chatting with Perlite of Hothouse Delights with her different indoor plants and welded delights produced by her husband.

Theresa and Colin Wilson from Weering grabbed a spot out of the wind to setup. Winchelsea locals Tilly Kelly and Marlene Campana appreciated Theresa's sewing.

Enjoying their catering duties were Kai Whyte, the choir leader and Jill Evans of Winchelsea Community House. Come along and join Kai and the singing group in the Shire Hall on Wednesdays afternoons 4.45-6pm. I believe the acoustics in the Hall are great!

Jason Noguerra enjoying the market with daughters Aicani, Aurora and Arielle.

Yvonne Davidson chatting with Mish Baker while she waited for her coffee. The catering on Sunday was a fundraiser for the Winchelsea Choir.

Snakes are out and active

Dr Jeff Cave, Senior Veterinary Officer

It's that time of year, the snakes are out and active.

While snake bite can cause death of livestock, it is worth remembering that sudden death of livestock can be due to several different causes.

Often an animal found dead in the paddock is attributed to snake bite when in fact it is due to something else.

All livestock are sensitive to the effects of snake venom, with horses particularly so.

The effects of snake bite depend on the size and species of the snake, the period since it last bit something, plus the size of the bitten animal and the location of the bite.

Signs of snake bite are variable, but in general, snake venom paralyses muscles.

Affected animals develop muscular tremors and a staggy gait. They become unable to swallow and dribble saliva due to paralysis of the tongue.

From there they collapse, have trouble breathing and finally die from respiratory failure.

If an animal receives a small dose of venom it may recover after an illness of 1 to 5 days.

Snake bite can be difficult to diagnose at post-mortem since the small puncture wounds and local swelling are difficult to find in a large animal.

Often a diagnosis is based on the sighting of a snake and the exclusion of other diseases.

The only effective treatment for snake bite is snake antivenom given urgently.

The correct antivenom for the species of snake identified needs to be given. If in doubt a polyvalent antivenom is provided.

For further advice please contact your local veterinarian or Agriculture Victoria veterinary or animal health officer.

Star President's Note:

At this point in time The Star has published very little regarding the coming Referendum. However, after receiving articles advocating a "Yes" and a "No", the issue was referred to me as Star President. I decided it was important to publish both points of view.

Happy reading!

Why is there a need for A Voice to Parliament?

By Judy Cameron

- To recognise Australia's Indigenous peoples in our national origin document, and
- To put in place an advisory body which will work to make sure that, in future, Australian government policy is developed and implemented to ensure that Australian taxpayers' moneys are spent on well-designed policies and programmes to improve outcomes in Indigenous health, education, housing and employment

The Voice to Parliament – a Yes vote in the referendum – will be a gesture of good will and respect from all of us to the original peoples of Australia.

While there are currently Indigenous Members of Parliament, these MPs must of course represent ALL of their constituents. They do not and should not focus their efforts only on the Indigenous people in their electorates. To do so would mean that, for example, Dan Tehan the member for Wannon would represent only those voters in Wannon who share his cultural heritage and opinions on any subject, and ignore all the many others who disagree as well as the migrant and Indigenous Wannon constituents.

Not all Indigenous people agree about the Voice, which is hardly surprising. Why would they ALL agree when we Australians, Victorians, Wannon voters do not? However 80-85% of Indigenous people support the Yes vote. [1]

What is true however is that the Uluru Statement from the Heart evolved from a long and carefully designed and implemented consultation with Indigenous people from all states, territories and walks of life. That consultation was designed and conducted by Indigenous leaders: Professor Megan Davis, Pat Anderson, Noel Pearson and many others. Their work has been - and continues to be – principled, dedicated and exhaustive.

The Uluru Statement asks us to – for the first time – listen to Indigenous Australians and to respect their ideas about policies and practical solutions.

If the Voice is defeated, the Constitution will speak to who we were, without the effective power to stop who we are becoming.

It's time we listened.

Digging Deeper into The Voice

Cathy Cheadle

The main purpose of having a Voice to Parliament is so that Indigenous people can have a say in matters that concern them. What decent person would not think that was a good and fair thing? We are told that all Indigenous people want this and have specifically asked in The Uluru Statement to be included in the Constitution. Why then, are some Indigenous people against the referendum? People such as Jacinta Price, Lidia Thorpe and Grandmother Mulara. I decided to dig a bit deeper and find out.

Jacinta Price says that there are 11 Indigenous members in parliament (4% of the total) which represents 3% of the population. So they already have a voice in parliament. She says that the Indigenous people pushing for this are privileged elites who are not in touch with marginalised rural communities who are being ignored. Grandmother Mulara calls them the Corporate Blaks and says they are selected to be on bodies such as Land Councils because they will do as they are told.

Grandmother Mulara spoke to the elders who had gone to the convention for the Uluru Statement and they told her many of them walked out because they were not being listened to. She also said that all those signatures around the borders were signed on a blank canvas. NITV News reported that many delegates felt it was a flawed process and that the Referendum Council was pushing a set agenda (1).

The sense I get is that Indigenous people don't want others to speak for them, they want to speak for themselves. When you look at an Aboriginal Map, there are maybe hundreds of different nations. It is ridiculous to think that all of them want the same things. Grandmother Mulara says that in their culture they sit in a circle and each person has a say. If a decision hasn't been made when they have gone round the circle, they go around again and they keep talking until everyone agrees. Contrast that with the “debates” we have in Parliament House.

There have been representative bodies in the past and Grandmother Mulara says that none of them have worked. She tells of being a whistleblower in her own community when she discovered that funding was going to just a few families who had kept the money instead of sharing with the community. She says they are being betrayed by their own people.

However, the government is pushing this, corporations are in support of it, and a lot of money is being thrown at it – just look at the Yes23 website. It has been reported that $100 million is being spent on advertising in the last month of the campaign (2). This is clearly not a grassroots movement.

BHP and Rio Tinto have spoken up in support, even though they and other mining, oil and gas companies have been in direct conflict with Indigenous landowners, with some disputes going to court (3). If this Voice gives Indigenous people more power, the mining companies should be worried. Not only are they not worried, but they are actively supporting it. What do they know that we don't?

Let's look at the wording of the proposed amendment.

(i) There shall be a body, to be called the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Voice;

(ii) The Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Voice may make representations to the Parliament and the Executive Government of the Commonwealth on matters relating to Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples;

(iii) The Parliament shall, subject to this Constitution, have power to make laws with respect to matters relating to the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Voice, including its composition, functions, powers and procedures.

The Voice may make representations to Parliament, but there is nothing here to say they have to do anything with that information. The government could just ignore it, like they do with all our petitions and demonstrations on climate change and other matters.

All the power is with the parliament. They get to choose who goes on the committee and what they are allowed to do. And what laws, exactly, will they make? How will more laws make anything better? I would like to believe that all government politicians are honourable and only do what is best for the people, but I haven't seen much evidence of that over the past 50 years.

Is it possible that they may make laws to benefit themselves and their corporate buddies in the name of helping our Indigenous people?

The last referendum was in 1999 to determine if Australia should become a republic. There was no ambiguity in that, and everyone knew what they were voting for. This referendum is so different and it is no wonder that many people are confused.

The Blak Sovereign Movement says that if the government really wanted to help indigenous people they would address the perennial issue of Aboriginal Deaths in Custody and implement the UN Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous People (4). “Don't waste your anguish on the Voice. If you need to shed a tear let them rain for the children locked up and torn away from their mothers, for the Country being destroyed for profit.”

A Winchelsea Winner

Thomas Hastings, 26, is a striking example of what it means to be Winchelsea. Hard working, determined and quietly getting on with it.

Born in 1997, he grew up on his parents farm and attended the local primary school before moving on to Geelong College. It was here that he first learnt to row.

With a few interruptions from lockdown to a stint overseas, it became evident that it was meant to be when Tom first encounter professional rowing.

Balancing farm life and training, a goal was set - win the Penrith Cup at the Australian Rowing Championships.

The Australian Rowing Championships happens annually and determines Australia's national rowing champions. Importantly, it is a major selection event for Aussie teams that compete at both World Championships and the Olympic Games.

The Penrith Cup, first introduced in 1958, is the Interstate Lightweight Men's coxless four. Only the top four lightweight men from every state are picked to don their states colours and take the Australian stage.

For Victoria, our colours are the big white V on a navy blue uniform.

It took Tom, the boy from Winch, three consecutive years before he finally brought the trophy home to Victoria in 2023.

Silver and bronze in 2021 and 2022 respectively, the journey was not without challenge.

In fact it was nearly out of sight for Tom Hastings when he was struck by a car in the inner suburbs of Melbourne - leaving him with a major concussion and two broken wrists. Nobody could have predicted his spectacular return.

A hotly contested race with exactly 1.24 seconds between Victoria and the runners up, Queensland.

He'd done it. The ever-smiling country boy had done it.

Despite what everyone thought, post injury he'd done his state proud and achieved the goal he'd set out three years prior.

All because he worked hard, stayed determined and quietly got on with it.

Well done Tom.

Water Heroes to the rescue

An engaging early childhood education program is turning the region's youngest citizens into water superheroes.

The Water Hero program, facilitated by Barwon Water's education team, provides resource packs to kindergartens and early education centres to help educators speak to children about the value of water. Each pack includes an activity book, a water hero cape, badge and poster.

General Manager, Customers, Community and Strategy Laura Kendall said that the program was a wonderful way for preschool children to learn more about the delicate nature of the water cycle and the role that we all play in caring for this precious resource.

"By encouraging children to be proactive with their Water Hero habits in their learning environments, there's a ripple effect with habits being shared and used at home," Ms Kendall said.

"Drinking water throughout the day, turning off the tap, taking a shorter shower – these are the things that our youngest Water Heroes embrace."

Ms Kendall added that "as we prepare for a long-term shift towards a hotter, drier climate, we rely on all our water heroes, big and small".

Since its inception in 2021, more than 220 Water Hero packs have been sent out to over 100 kindergartens and early learning centres in the Barwon region with more than 2,300 children engaging in the program.

"We know young children like to dress up and that being a superhero is particularly appealing. We have found the capes and other props have been embraced by little ones and helped them take on the character of water crusaders wherever they are," Ms Kendall said.

To learn more about the Water Hero program and to order resources, phone Barwon Water Education Officer Fernando Garcia on 1300 656 007 or email Education@barwonwater.vic.gov.au.
