CERTIFIED QUALITY

Leather is obtained by the butchering for feeding purposes. It's produced in Tuscany, an Italian region well-known for production of some of the finest quality vegetable tanned leathers, and it's protected and promoted by the trademark "Pelle Conciata al Vegetale in Toscana". No bovine has been therefore killed only for furnishings consumerism.

sustainability

METAL-FREE

Full grain leather CPF is a material obtained by first quality bovine hides coming from EU member states.

During the tanning-phase, in which only natural substances are used, the pentachlorophenol is absent according to EU Legislation. The finishing of the leather is carried out with pigments and resins made of caseins, having therefore a very low toxic content.
