In the royal world of manners, young princes and princesses shine bright with their kind greetings. Learn the noble way of looking someone in the eye, giving a friendly smile, and offering a gentle handshake or curtsy. Whether meeting a friend or someone helping in the castle, these acts of kindness make everyone feel respected and happy. Let's make our kingdom at home a place where kindness rules!

Let's have some royal fun with a special activity all about saying hello like royalty! We'll turn our home into a "Greeting Court" where each of us gets to practice our gracious greetings. We can try out bows, curtsies, and handshakes, and even get creative with our hellos! How about making magical crowns or royal sashes to wear during our greeting ceremony? It's like turning manners into a royal adventure!
