Tybee Island Beaches

North Beach - If you're looking for the perfect location for shelling, seeing dolphins, and viewing the large container ships as they travel to and from the Port of Savannah, North Beach is the place for you. Located at the mouth of the Savannah River, surrounding Fort Screven, you can also see the Tybee Lighthouse & Museum and the Tybee Island Marine Science Center, as well as plenty of birds at the popular North Beach Birding Trail.

South Beach - The most popular section of Tybee's Beach is South Beach. South beach encompasses 14th Street south to 18th Street, and is where you'll find the area's surfers and the Tybee Pier & Pavilion. South Beach is located next to Tybee's main business district, and is within a block or two of most of the island's hotels and motels, as well as many restaurants, bars, and places to shop. Large public oceanfront parking lots are available at 14th Street and Tybrisa Street. Smoking is prohibited on the pier, crossovers and beaches.

Mid-Island Beach - The mid island beaches are located from 1st Street south to 14th Street, and are much less crowded than South Beach. This section of the beach offers public beach crossovers and a quiet peacefulness with the dunes. Keep in mind there are no public restrooms at this section.

Back River Beach - The smallest section of Tybee Beach is the Back River Beach, located on 18th St., South Jetty west to Back River Fishing Pier. With beautiful views of Little Tybee Island and low waves. Parking is available at the Alley 3 lot off of Chatham Avenue.

Savannah River Beach - The Savannah River Beach encompasses Lazaretto Creek to North Jetty and is the section of beach popular with families. Featuring low waves and dolphin spotting, Savannah River Beach can be reached by walking from the North Beach Lot. Keep in mind there are no public restrooms at this section of Tybee Beach.

Tybee Island Dunes - It is illegal to disturb the dunes. The dunes are an important line of defense against storm surge and coastal flooding, Without a strong dune system, Tybee Island is vulnerable to loss of natural habitats and personal property. Please stay off the dunes so that we can protect this fragile, but critical ecosystem.

These restaurants don't use styrofoam, plastic bags, or plastic straws, all of which are known to harm marine life.

For more info visit www.FightDirtyTybee.org

The Island's beach-cleaning and litter-fighting group Fight Dirty Tybee and the City of Tybee Island launched a program to recognize the sustainability efforts of Tybee's restaurants. So what is a Certified Turtle-Friendly Restaurant? Well, according to Fight Dirty Tybee, it is any eating establishment that has committed to find alternatives to plastic take-out bags, plastic straws, and expanded polystyrene (aka, styrofoam). Why these items? They're among the most commonly found litter removed from the beach and marsh during clean ups and are known to cause significant harm to sea turtles if ingested. Of course, these items harm our beloved bottle-nosed dolphins, brown pelicans, endangered shore birds, and eventually us, too.

The program was born out of frustration - Fight Dirty Tybee volunteers remove hundreds of straws, pieces of styrofoam, and plastic bags (and many other things) at their weekly clean ups. Wanting to encourage more responsible choices by consumers and restaurants, a small group of regular volunteers decided to create a Tybee-specific recognition program for restaurants that were already talking steps to reduce their use of single-use plastics, especially for take-out. After looking at several similar programs at other coastal communities, the group decided not to dictate how a restaurant offers more sustainable products but rather to thank them for not adding to the problem of plastic pollution in the ocean.

An owner's choice to offer sustainable products instead of throw-away plastics results in a significant increase in expenses - often 2 or 3 times as much as single-use plastics. The hope is that recognition from this program will result in more customers and help offset those increased costs. You can do your part to help our sea turtles by visiting these establishments and thanking them for their sustainable choices! And if your favorite Tybee restaurant isn't on the list, ask them to drop the plastic and save some sea turtles!

DANGER DEADLY SANDBAR ALERT!

At Tybee's South Beach, sandbars stretch over a mile out - but they are deadly! Extreme tides, drop offs and fast currents can knock you down and wash you out to sea in minutes. Every year, people are rescued... and some don't make it back. Stay safe. Stay on the beach.
